A decisive 2,693 vote majority in Monday's provincial bye-election in Leeds sent Hugh Reynolds, Progressive Conservative, to the Legislature to occupy the seat formerly held by his second cousin, the late W. B. Reynolds.

In a straight two-party fight, Hugh Reynolds, 45-year-old Brockville coal merchant, received 10,756 votes. Liberal Ernest Miller, farmer from Mallorytown, received 8,063 votes.

A steady rain falling across the constituency beside the St. Lawrence River ended in late afternoon. The clear weather after that brought a rush of late voters. 1Atogether 79 per cent of the 23,802 persons eligible to vote cast their ballots.

Mr. Reynold's success in holding the seat for the government forces gave them their third bye-election victory since last year's Ontario election. The government retained Parry Sound last September against Liberal and C.C.F. candidates and retained Cochrane North last June against a C.C.F. candidate.

In Toronto, Premier Frost called the result "a dandy victory" and added: "It is a mandate for us to go ahead and redouble our efforts in the interests of good government."

Chief issue in the hotly-waged campaign was the Charitable Gifts Act passed at the last Legislature session. It requires charitable foundations such as the Atkinson Foundation which owns the Toronto Daily Star and the Star Weekly — to dispose of all but ten per cent of their interest in any business within seven years.

In the campaign, Liberal speakers, including provincial leader Farquhar Oliver and several members of parliament, accused the government of trying to legislate the Star out of existence. Premier Frost, who also took part in the campaign, replied that the act was designed "to make sure the taxpayers' money really goes to charity."

The Progressive Conservatives now hold 53 seats in the 90-seat Legislature. There are 21 C.C.F. members, 13 Liberals, two Labor-Progressives and one Liberal-Labor.

Report From Parliament

— By Earl Catherwood, M.P. —

Practically every member of all parties in the House of Commons were in their seats along with the members of the Senate, and every seat in the galleries was filled long before the time set for the welcome accorded to the Prime Minister of India. Mr. Nehru, along with his sister, Mrs. Pandit, and his daughter, Mrs. Ghandi, who is the wife of Mahatma Chandi's son. Mr. Ghandi is a very cultured and a charming person, and well educated.

Mr. Nehru in his address to Parliament indicated a wide knowledge of foreign affairs, a human interest in people, throughout the world, and one would gather he was well qualified to lead the Government of almost the largest country in the world, in population.

On October 27th, an occasion of unusual interest took place in the house, in which there were three recorded votes on division, an event that has not happened in parliament for some time. There has been two very important matters of legislation enacted in this session of parliament 1st, the abolition of appeals to the Privy Council; secondly, the approval of Parliament to have the authorization of the Government of the United Kingdom to amend the constitution of Canada.

A rather interesting occurrence last week was a speech by the Honourable Mr. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce, in which, while outlining the features of atomic power, and the reasons for setting up an Atomic Committee comprising all parties in the House, he held in his hand a small cylinder shaped cube containing natural metallic uranium, stating that if all this metal were turned into energy we would have the same quantity of power that could be developed by 500,000 tons of coal, or equal to all the power developed in the large Shipshaw power plant in one whole year. It is difficult to visualize the potentialities of this dangerous atomic power. We all realize the definite need for control of this energy by the leaders of the nations.

This session of the 21st parliament while most interesting to the 90 odd new members of the House, is according to the older members, a session in reverse, in fireworks, in comparison to previous sessions. The only real action so far has been in situations hurled back and forth between Social Credit and Liberal members from the Province of Alberta, sweepers on Montreal streets, Liberals and the Leader of the C.C.F. but this was also on purely personal matters.

There are some great characters in the House of Commons, and perhaps one of the most persistent and in my opinion, pleasing to our ear with the British Empire is Mr. Thomas L. Church, who was Mayor of Toronto for many years before being elected as M.P. for Toronto Broadview about twenty years ago. Everyone calls him "Tommy". He fights for everything Britain, and coming into the House, usually a) about five minutes late, he will ask what is the topic under discussion, and on the first opportunity he is on his feet. has the floor and then try to stop him! Tommy is close to Eighty years old, a Mad rugby fan and liked by everyone in the House.

The members are beginning to think of the possible date on which the present session will end. There still remains the discussion on the Estimates of the majority of the Departments. This is usually a difficult position for the Minister of the Crown, because not only the Opposition members, but members of the Government party as well query them very closely on particular expenditures, and the Minister, whose Departmental Estimates are before the House, must, of necessity, have a very thorough knowledge of every branch under his jurisdiction, and although their salary of $16,000.00 plus $2,000.00 expenses, does seem to be high, when we consider the great responsibility that of the supervision of the ever increasing duty which is theirs, it does appear that their salaries are justified.

In conclusion, I would like to make this observation, and that is, I have found that the various departments of government with which I have had to deal very fair indeed, and if at any time I can be of service to the people of Haldimand, I will only be too happy to do so, and do not forget in addressing mail to me, no postage is required - just House of Commons, Ottawa.

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture told a group of Ontario Legislature members this week that food prices have a definite bearing on soil fertility and suggested that consumers are "fitting a noose about their own necks" with cheap food.

In a 2,000-word brief to the Legislature's select committee on conservation, the Federation asked the provincial government to set a price level for farm products that will make it unnecessary for farmers to depete their soil reserves by high production.

Such soil, may in the future produce only enough food to support the farmer and his family, not enough to send surplus products for the urban consumer market, the Federation said

Walpole Township Organizes Centennial Committee Group

A well attended meeting of Walpole citizens was held at the Orange Hall, at Erie, on Tuesday night when plans were made for advancing Centennial plans for next year.

Elvin S. Pond, Ex-Reeve of the Township, was named chairman for the Township and Mrs. Albert Pond was elected Secretary. The meeting also appointed representatives for each of the eight polling subdivisions in the Township as follows: No 1, Rodg-r Dennis No. 2, Chas. Sheppard; No. 3, Kenneth Parkinson and Albert Pond; No. 4, Murray Biggar; No. 5, Earl Stallwood; No. 6, Clarence Winger; No. 7, Willis Harrop; No. 8, Courtland Evans.

Mr. Lea Marshall, a member of the County Executive attended the meeting and explained the progress of the County committee to date. He stressed the importance of securing the names of former residents of the community at the earliest possible date in order that advertising material can be mailed.

The polling Division representatives are charged with the responsibility of getting printed cards into the hands of all residents immediately in order that they can be completed and in the hands of the county committee before the end of the month. These cards are to register the name and address of former residents. It would facilitate the work of the committee greatly if each person would have the names ready so that the cards can be completed on the first call.

Citizens are urged to submit the names of every person they can think of that can be counted as a Haldimand Old boy or girl. There are bound to be many duplications, but these will be sorted out by the committee. It would be better to have a name submitted by a hundred different people than to miss a single person.

Many Intercounty Entries At Royal

Intercounty judging competitions at the Royal Winter Fair, which opens on November 15th, are expected to attract over 100 young men from thirty Ontario counties. Competitions are on November 24th.

Main prize in inter-county contests is the Jeffrey Bull Memorial Trophy donated by E. H. Bull & Son, in memory of Major Jeffrey Bull, D.S.O., of Brampton, who was killed in the first World War in 1914.

The trophy is awarded to the county whose team of three contestants makes the highest aggregate score in judging heavy horses, beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep and swine. The county having the winning team gets temporary possession of the cup but must return it for competition the following year. Each member of the winning team gets a replica of the trophy.

Last year's winner was Middlesex County. This trophy has been up for competition since 1922. In 1939 there was no fair due to the war and the competition was deferred until 1946. Winner in 1938 was also Middlesex County. In 1946 when competition was resumed, it was taken by South Simcoe and in 1947 Durham team was declared winner.

Other prizes in the inter-county competitions include the Robert Graham Memorial Trophy. This event is open to any young man resident of Canada who has not reached his 26th birthday by November 1 in the year of competition. Competitors are required to judge two classes of heavy and two of light horses. It was won by E. A. Star, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, in 1948.

Then there is the E. H. Stonehouse Memorial Trophy of the National Dairy Council of Canada. It commemorates the memory of the late E. H. Stonehouse president of the National Dairy Council, and his lifelong interest in dairying.

Competition for this prize is open only to those entered in the intercollege and inter-county judging competitions. It is awarded to the individual having the highest score in dairy cattle. Winner in 1948 was Howard Porter, Blackstock, and in 1947 Dalton Dorrell, Nestleton, Ontario.

A meeting of the Citizens of the Village will be held tonight in the Town Hall for the purpose of advancing arrangements for the Haldimand County Centennial in 1950.

Chairman, A. B. Blight is anxious to have a large attendance at this meeting. He will bring the public up-to-date on the tentative plans of the County Committee and ask for suggestions from those present as to the best means of contributing to the over-all program so far as Jarvis is concerned. Mr. Blight is anxious, above all, to have a general committee set-up to deal with urgent matters of the moment.

The Centennial is a very important date in the history of Haldimand and it is up to Jarvis to make the best possible contribution to the great occasion. Every organization in the community should be represented at this meeting as well as citizens generally.

Erie View Forum Discuss Federal Aid For Education

For their second meeting of the new forum season, the Erie View folks gathered at the home of Tobe and Helen Snowden, to discuss the controversial subject "Should There Be Federal Aid for Education ?"

Education in its various aspects concerns each citizen directly, and certainly none present seemed to feel any inhibitions about expressing his opinions, which added zest to the discussions. The course of the talk meandered many times to "When I Was a Boy" or "Now. When we went to school" but the problem of the subject was given due regard.

BENJAMIN BRITTEN

Music "is difficult, but when grasped, makes eminent good sense."

—Richard Johnston.

At present, the provinces have the financing and control of education, although the Federal Government has made available several aids such as family allowances, grants for vocational and technical training, educational assistance to veterans and programmes through the CBC and the National Film Board.

The meeting was generally agreed that it would be beneficial to the nation as a whole, to have minimum standards for elementary and secondary education in all the provinces, and to have Federal financial aid in reaching those goals. However, it was feared that with financial aid would come control measures and all were reluctant to relinquish the provincial control.

To give full education, large sums must be spent for research, specialized teacher training, and up to the minute equipment and supplies, and without Federal aid, the provinces are unable to meet the situation adequately.

In considering the most serious educational problem in our own community, it was felt that the lack of authorized texts for the sciences and social studies presented the main difficulty.

Following the group discussions the Forum chose Mr. Carroll Lindsay to be secretary for the season and appointed Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Field to be in charge of occasional, planned recreation.

Then, after the refreshments did the disappearing act, the moon moved over toward the western heavens and beckoned the forum folks home.

JAMES N. ALLEN

Of Dunnville, who lost out yesterday, by a narrow margin, to Alex. McKenzie in a contest for the presidency of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association. Mr. Allen had wide support from the rural ridings of the Province.

Varency Farm Forum Views

The Varency Farm Forum met at Saunders School on Monday evening with an attendance of twenty. The topic for the evening was "Education Divided by Ten". Following the program the discussion period followed and the Forum agreed that perhaps Federal Government could lend financial aid to the provinces and set a standard for all provinces to go by. Figures available, show that in 1947 the average salary for teachers ran from an average of $816.00 per year in P.E.I. to a high of $2,042.00 in B.C. Ontario and Alberta were next high with an average of a little over $1500.00. During the discussion the conversation naturally came around to the subject of school areas and many different opinions were voiced. Some wondered just where money was saved by having good buildings sitting around practically idle and hiring buses for transportation. The case of one pupil who rides nearly twenty miles night and morning to go about three or four and still attend the same school was mentioned. Others thought that perhaps the better standard of education the pupils received offset these difficulties. Regardless of public opinion, a good many of the country's outstanding citizens received their education in rural areas and small town high schools and on top of that, they walked several miles daily to school.

Following the discussion period, the forum played crokinole and lunch was served by Mrs. Wm. Doughty, Mrs. Andrew Doughty and Mrs. Wray Craddock.

Next week the topic is "All Work and deals with the question of how much recreation a farmer should indulge in, along with his work This should provide many different opinions for discussion, so everyone come on out to Saunders School on Monday evening, November 14th.

The regular meeting of Silver Star Rebekah Lodge was held on Tuesday evening with the newly elected officers in charge with N.G. P Marr presiding and V.G. L. Braund assisting. Plans were made to charter a bus for installation ceremonies in Port Rowan on Monday, November 14th. Plans were also made to have a birthday party for our next regular meeting. All members are urged to attend this meeting and enjoy a social time together.

The annual Remembrance Day Service will be held in Jarvis on Friday, November 11th, with a service in Knox Presbyterian Church at 1.30 o'clock. The congregation will then proceed to the Cenotaph for the laying of wreaths in tribute to the men of this community who gave their lives in the First and Second Great Wars.

The service is being arranged by The Jarvis Ministerial Association in co-operation with a committee of Veterans. The Veterans will meet at the Jarvis Arena at 1. o'clock where they will form up and march to the Church. They will be led by the Ontario Provincial Police and music will be provided by the Erie Pipe Band. Other organizations, including the Scouts and Cubs, will meet in a body at the Church.

Speaking editorially on the subject of Remembrance Day the Caledonia Grand River Sachem has this to say this week: "In recent years Remembrance Day, to many, has become little more than a name without a meaning. This is not as it should be. On the contrary it should continue on down through the years to remind Canadians of the two great world conflicts in which they took part to preserve their great heritage of freedom. It should be an occasion to recall with reverence and with pride those who gave their lives to this high purpose."

Knox Church should be full on Friday afternoon in tribute to the men of this community who died to preserve our heritage.

Junior Farmers In This Area High In County Competitions

Junior Farmers residing in this section of Haldimand County carried home a big share of the Silverware from the Annual Junior Farmers Banquet held at the Youth Center, at Kohler, on Friday night.

The event, one of the largest in the history of the organization, filled to capacity the large banquet hall and the turkey dinner served by the ladies of Canfield United Church, left nothing to be desired. The speaker of the evening, Dr. G. E. Raymond, head of the English Department, O.A.C., Guelph, chose as his subject "Why Don't We Grow Up ?" and proceeded to frankly state his reasons why. The feature however, was the presentation of prizes covering the many projects and contests conducted under the supervision of Gordon Skinner, Agricultural Representative, and his assistant Ron Crozier. In all a total of 178 awards were made. Allan Awde, of Nanticoke, had the high aggregate in judging and was awarded The Senn Trophy, by Charles Martin, M.L.A. Norman Hartwick, President of the Hoystein Club of Haldimand County presented the Hamilton Cup Trophy to Bill Saunders for the highest score in Dairy Cattle Judging. The Fowler Cup for high score in swine judging went to Tom Saunders, also of Nanticoke. Douglas Mitchell, of Jarvis won the C.N.E. Novice award in judging. The Amos Porter Trophy for the high boy in horsepiowing went to Robt. Nixon.

We have something different in the oven for November 12th.

A group of young people from Tonoto will be in Jarvis that week end and we have arranged with them to visit Teen Town and give us some variety in our program that night.

These visitors are from the Y.M. C.A., the United Farmers' Co-op. headquarters, Western Hospital and Toronto University. They all belong to the Canadian Fellowship of Reconciliation which is trying to show ways of making peace in the world today. Two of the visitors will be a young Chinese doctor and his wife.

The group will introduce some folk dances, some new records and a sound moving picture entitled "A More Excellent Way." There will be refreshment supplied by the Busy Bee Restaurant.
