"SILVER" TEA

CHRONICLES OF GINGER FARM

After hearing what the two-day winter storm did to other parts of Ontario I don't think we have much to complain about in this district. We had little more to put up with than a certain amount of inconvenience and unpleasantness. Friday night power was off in our town but ours was still on. But you can be quite sure we had candles ready—just in case.

Saturday morning... all that was a different story! The power went off, telephone went dead—and the kitchen stove smoked. Partner made one attempt to light the fire but the wind blew smoke back into the room than it carried away. So we did without a fire. At that time the power was still on but we had a feeling it might give up the ghost at any time. With that possibility in mind I made coffee well ahead of time on the electric stove. Half an hour before breakfast—the power! Of course electric burners stay hot for a long time even so the coffee would naturally be getting a little cooler all the time. "Well, what a thermo for!" I said to myself. So I got out the thermos. Result—but coffee got too hot. I managed that by dropping the eggs into the cooling water and leaving until needed. On the whole it is rather fun, don't you think? It is rather fun, don't you think? It is rather fun, don't you think? It is rather fun, don't you think? It is rather fun, don't you think?

During the forenoon the wind became stronger than ever—and colder—shifting a little towards the north. But that was better for the children as we were lighting the fire again—and this time we were not smoked out. That gave me a chance to get dinner. The hydro was still off and did not come on until 3:30—eight hours without it.

Tip the importance of feedings. If another depression should come our way don't take it for granted that it will—but if it does we are at least better equipped to meet it than we were in the '30's. The higher standard of living which we have attained in the interim might well be regarded as an addition to our working capital.

Cheating By High School Students

Presents A Real Modern Problem

A high school graduate recently gave only 12 correct answers to 50 simple arithmetic problems when he made application for a job in a downtown department store.

The personnel manager was puzzled. High school records showed that the girl's grades were above average and she was regarded as a good student.

Further questioning of the girl by the personnel manager brought out the answer. The girl admitted that she had "cheated" her way through high school.

Pol Reveals

Cheating in the classroom has long been a touchy problem in high schools. A poll of 10,000 high school students revealed that more than 50 per cent of the youths had cheated in one way or another in the classroom.

There have been many attempts to curb this problem and one of the most successful has been the project carried on by students and faculty at Fordson High School in suburban Dearborn.

Students in each of Fordson's 36 social science classes selected a delegate to represent them at a congress, which the school sponsors. The delegates met to determine what could be done about cheating. The congress was split into smaller groups of six students. A general discussion of the cheating problem was carried on in each group.

That more emphasis be placed on cheating was stressed. The delegates agreed that cheating was a real problem and that more emphasis be placed on cheating was stressed. The delegates agreed that cheating was a real problem and that more emphasis be placed on cheating was stressed.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By The Rev. R. Barclay Warren

The First Gentile Church Acts 11: 19-26; 13: 1-3

Golden Text: And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch. Acts 11: 26

Persecution is often a blessing. The believers in Antioch, who were compelled to scatter, but they took with them the Good News of Jesus Christ. Some of them were natives of Cyprus and Cilicia, and when they reached Antioch, they "spoke unto the Greeks, preaching the Lord Jesus." And the hand of the Lord was with them; and a great number believed, and turned unto the Lord.

Barnabas, who had presented Saul to the Apostles, was despatched to Antioch. He is described as "a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost." He secured the help of Saul and together they ministered to the first Gentile Church. Here the name "Christian" was first used. It was applied to those who had become Christians, and the name "Christian" is used in the Bible to denote a person showing character consistently.

ANNE HIRST

Your Family Counselor

"Dear Anne Hirst: Am I a deserter because I have left my husband and my children?"

"My husband allowed me to go when I wanted to. On the way, I met a man I fell deeply in love with. He loves me, but he won't let me go. He has always been deeply in love with me; he is good to the children, and they love him. He has been married, but otherwise I don't know too much about him. I have not seen nor heard from him since."

"I wrote him a letter, which my husband found. My husband was very much upset."

"I have been married 13 years, and am 33. My husband is nearly 10 years older. I find I do not love him, and I'm sorry I married him. He has always been deeply in love with me; he is good to the children, and they love him. He has been married, but otherwise I don't know too much about him. I have not seen nor heard from him since."

AN IMPULSIVE WOMAN

What can you be thinking of? But of course you are not thinking of yielding to a sudden infatuation (which must be purely physical) and desert your husband and children to be with another man or not.

Slip-Covers For Children's Books

Modern Etiquette

By Roberts Lee

Q. How should the invitation to act as a godparent be extended?

A. Either verbally or by formal note. The request can hardly be refused, and one should consider it an honor to be asked to stand sponsor for a child.

Q. May a bride wear a white dress and a veil when being married in a magistrate's office?

A. No. The traditional white is reserved for the church and home weddings. She should wear her going-away suit.

Q. When a host or hostess is taking six or eight other persons to a restaurant, should the dinner be ordered in advance, or would it be better to let each person choose his own course?

A. It is much simpler to order in advance. To have the waiter serve six or eight separate dinners is very inconvenient.

Q. If a bride wishes to wear her engagement ring during the wedding ceremony, on which finger should she wear it?

A. On the third finger of her right hand.

Q. Is it proper to thank a waitress every time she serves one a dish?

A. No; but one should acknowledge any special service, such as bringing an extra soup or fork.

Q. Why is it necessary for the parents of the bridegroom-elect to call at the home of the bride?

A. Because the girl is not welcomed by the family until they do so. This should be made just as soon as the news of the engagement has been received.

Q. Is "I know Miss Brown" the proper thing to say when being introduced to her for a second time?

A. No. This sounds as if it were trouble to make a second acquaintance. Say, "I have already had the pleasure of meeting Miss Brown."

Q. When a man is making a business call, isn't it all right for him to place his hat and briefcase on the desk of the man with whom he is talking?

A. No; he should keep these articles in his lap.
