HELPING A FARM ALLY

THIS IS THE TIME OF YEAR when people in rural areas can return a favor to some of the birds which assist the farmer in his fight against insect pests.

The feeding arrangement can be a simple placing of bread crumbs or suet in a sheltered spot in town or countryside or it can take the form of a more elaborate feeding station, a box-type shelter with vases to keep a 4-oz tray turned away from the wind.

Persons feeding the birds for the first time usually are surprised at the number which spend the winter in the woods and fields.

Giving some thought to the welfare of winter birds will more than repay the farmer for the weather returns.

Only a few years ago, some farmers looked upon all birds as nuisances because several kinds occasionally stole grain or nipped the cherries or raspberries.

On a flock's crop has been found to contain 1,000 chinchbugs at a time. A night hawk may catch 500 mosquitoes for a single meal.

WARREN FROM AUSTRALIA
THE PEOPLE OF AUSTRALIA have tossed out the Socialist government of J. B. Chifley and placed in power a coalition of Liberals and Country Party members who made anti-socialism the main plank in their campaign.

There is a moral for Canadians in the down fall of the Australian socialist. First elected in 1941, they proceeded on orthodox socialist lines, with the support of the majority of the Australian people.

From 1945, then, on the main purpose of the government was to gain control of the commercial banking system, finally by nationalization legislation that was used by the courts.

There is a moral for Canadians in the down fall of the Australian socialist. First elected in 1941, they proceeded on orthodox socialist lines, with the support of the majority of the Australian people.

The moral for Canadians is direct and simple: Beware a party that would get too close to your private bank account or expose it to political scrutiny.

There is a salutary lesson for governments too: In action and in policy governments do well to keep even so much as the faintest shadow of the tax-gatherer from falling across a voter's bank book, or the faintest suspicion that his prying eye is there.

EVERY CANADIAN HAS A PART TO PLAY IN EXPORT TRADE
EVERY CANADIAN is directly affected by our export trade, or in other words the business our employers of industry do with other countries.

But Main Street in a young and vigorous country such as Canada is a changing thing. The march of progress can transform the character of settlements within a few years, bringing new classes of citizens.

Many a prosperous business in Canada's newer districts was founded on the kind of trade which now has gone elsewhere.

The lumberjack, the prospector, the old-time teamster, river driver, railroad builder and pioneer workers of every description have gone deeper into Canada's little-known treasure chest of minerals, forests and rivers, all across the country from Labrador to Yellowknife.

They are missed. But they are building a new Canada where they are. And Canada will be a lot bigger because of them.

Pen, Scissors and Pastepot

Mr. Bryce said excessive taxation, bureaucracy and governmental control "all tend to stifle freedom and consequently must be avoided."

He said that new immigrants should be welcomed since an increasing population is a contributing factor to the "fullest possible development of our great natural resources and our high standard of living."

NO ONE WONDERS at the absolute power of dictators since they have over the Russian people, because such power is essential under a totalitarian system of government.

Where the people have no individual freedom of thought and action, someone must be free to think and act for them, and this prerogative is invested in one man, Stalin is the only free man in Russia.

But it is a sight to wonder at when in "The land of the free and the home of the brave" one man should possess absolute power of dictation over some hundreds of thousands of free citizens.

On this point a non-partisan newspaper, The Record (Kingsville, Texas) says: "John L. Lewis is still daring Harry Truman to pick up the Taft-Hartley stick and swat him, but Harry remembers how he told the labor boys the stick was nasty at both ends."

The Journal (Flat River, Mo.) comments: "The coal miners should take John out and give him a good talking to..... John Lewis has been a powerful figure in American labor circles, but there comes a time, and now is, when he is certainly not working for the benefit of the coal miners. It is misplaced power, in our estimation."

The Register (Santa Ana, Calif.) says: "To hold that John L. Lewis is thinking of the welfare of the workers, even his own slave coal miners, is to ignore the facts. Lewis cares for nothing but his own power. He ignores the needs of his own workers just as blithely as he ignores the rest of the American people."

Oshawa—The new Chevrolet for 1950, announced by General Motors, carries the highest new car-buretion, increased horsepower, stronger and safer body construction, new colors and new two-tone interior in the deluxe models.

Available in 11 models, each mounted on 115-hp wheelbase, the new Chevrolet has been stepped up to 127-hp and feature a new four-door sedan in standard or deluxe model.

In body construction, box section roof rails have been introduced to replace channel sections. This results in increased body rigidity, adjustment of body panels, and a more basic color theme.

Body interiors feature two complementary shades of gray used as a basic color theme. Simulated carpet rubber floor mats have been introduced into the rear compartment.

Long-wearing and easy to clean, the new material closely resembles pile carpet. Simulated pile inserts are also in the front compartment.

The new "carburetor" produces a more concentrated fuel mixture as well as an "starvation" of the fuel metering jet regardless of sudden starts or level of the road.

A direct drain has been added to prevent spilling on rear fenders from fuel spilled during filling. Mrs. R. O. Beard (nee Jane) and Mrs. M. A. Russell (nee Vera) were married at the home of Mrs. H. H. Jones (Edna) Mary H. C. Miller (Christina) Winifred sixteen grandchildren, and two great children. Also surviving two brothers, William Trinkenard and John Trinkenard of Carleton Place, Ontario.

While some will shed few tears for the passing of the men who made pay night and "trips to town" evenings of high real regard, these men are leaving a pang of real regret for the advancing civilization are brushing aside these pioneers, pushing them into new frontiers.
