It's pretty hard to keep up with Agricultural Minister Kennedy some times. We were always of the opinion that he felt cow's rollk in it's natural state, aside from pasteurization, was one of nature's most perfect foods. Now he comes up with a suggestion that part of the butterfat be taken out and the adulterated product be made available to conproduct be made available to consumers at a slightly lower price. Mr. Kennedy supports his arguments on the grounds that Doctors prescribe skimmlik for babies in some cases and maintain that the anaemic sub-skimmilk for babies in some cases and maintain that the anaemic substance is equally as good for them as whole milk.

We can't approach this subject with a background of technical knowledge which is the prerogative of medical science and Agricultural Ministers, but we suggest butterfat percentages, of various animals gives the lie to their argument. The average fat content of human milk is 3.78; the cow 3.73. In other amima s the range is higher. The only animals with a lower fat content in their milk is the Horse and the Ass.

We know some off springs that have done remarkably well in the early stages of their development on a diet of human (unadulterated 3.78) percent milk). We know of none where the milk has been separated in order to standardize the fat content at 2.0 per cent. If Mr Kennedy, or the Doctors would undertake, by actual expriment to prove that a human life can develop on skimmilk probably the argument would carry of the same information from 1931 to the present time. We are always intrigued by forms devised by the bureaucrats. Since those who will fill out the forms will be aventy years of age it is apparently assumed by the Department of

Your Sow

Yes, in many ways your sow is like a cow Both must have the right amount and the right kind of balanced ration during gestation—to assure big, thrifty offspring and plenty of milk to feed them—besides keeping emselves healthy and up in condition. And when it comes to brood sows, you can depend on Purina Sow and Pig Chow to do the right nutritional job-helping build big, healthy litters and getting them off to a fast startkeeping the sow in top condition. Place your confidence in Purina Sow and Pig Chow for conditioning your sows. Order a supply from us today at the Store with the Checkerboard market, there's nothing like Purina Hog Chow (concentrate) or Purina Finisher (complete) to hustle those hogs along to market one-half month earlier than before. Both feeds are real meat builders, well-fortified with proteins, Vitamin B 12, and Antibiotics for more rapid, uniform growth and greater feeding efficiency.

PURINA Hog Chows

Pullets that are big, welldeveloped at the time of the first egg can mean extra profit two ways-no feed wasted in completing growth after first egg is laid - a longer and hardier laying life (more eggs over a longer period).
