Justice Minister Carson has asked parliament to pass a $25,000.00 fine on any manufacturer who tries to dictate the price at which his product is to be sold to the public. The government figures the step will help prevent further inflation. Other competent authorities figure it might make it plenty tough for the little business man in the event price wars might start to mind their own business instead of trying to regulate everybody else crazy.

Nazi General Kurt Meyer is paying the penalty for being in the Brass section in a fighting war. Although we can't expect anyone to appreciate the role Germany has played in the world wars, at the same time we don't expect anyone will go on hating the Germans forever. Certainly those near and dear to the boys who were killed by the enemy can hardly be expected to lose entirely the bitterness they developed on hearing the news that their sons had been killed.

Jarvis has had a real sports boom in recent years in the person of Allan Auld. We know of no one who had more enthusiastically worked to promote organized sports in the community. There is no way that such an admirable service can be adequately recognized. It was, however, gratifying to know that the Lions Club saw fit to present to him their "Achievement Award". While it can hardly compensate him for his fine work, it will, nevertheless, indicate that his efforts have not gone unrecognized.

MORE FARMS OPTIONED IN BIG MYSTERY DEAL

Three more farms in the mystery project area south of Simcoe have been optioned in the past fortnight. The John Culmore farm on the west side of No. 24 Highway, just north of the Halfway House, comprising 46 acres is one of the properties involved. A second farm is the 75 acre tobacco farm of Alex. Bodo, located in Charlotteville. Simon Schuman's 10 acre parcel on the east side of No. 24 Highway, north of historic St. John's Anglican Church also figures in the recent optionings.

There still not the slightest indication as to the identity of the purchaser.
