Pen, Scissors and Pastepot

"Haldimand Federal Riding Wiped Out" is the heading on a news story in a recent edition of a nearby newspaper in Norfolk County. In view of the recent editorial monotonies emanating from one particular Norfolk County Journal and especially the objective has been reached. But this is not only misleading but an absolute untruth. Haldimand is still on the map. The only difference is that in the Federal Parliament we are now united with Brant County. And, in this respect, we have nothing unkind to say about our new affiliation. We are sure the people of Brant County are kind, intelligent folk and we will get along with them very well. It may even be that they will look to Haldimand County for a Parliamentary representative when another election is held. If they do, we feel confident that we can supply a candidate that will represent the new union with distinction and credit. After all, we have done just that in the alliance with Norfolk County in the Legislative Assembly of Ontario.

Boy, do we like to get letters! We think. We have one to hand that had us admiring ourselves before the mirror until we got down to the last paragraph and then we began to wonder if we might have to depend ourselves in a case of alienation of affection. Believe us, we are greatly disturbed by the knowledge that Alexander did not come home. Where is he? Is he like his wife, ready to commit mayhem with us as the object of his attentions? These things can be mighty disturbing to a valiant soldier.

On the other hand our ego is bolstered no end by certain sentences in this letter which, as anyone can see, have been written by a charming lady of unusual intellect. Concerning ourselves at the moment, with the nice things she has said about us we have no hesitation in saying that she should take precedence over Agnes McPhail as a nominee for the Senate. That you could surely do with someone with such sagacious judgement of human character.

We must keep you in suspense no longer. Here is the letter:

After reading last week's Record where you stated you liked to get letters from readers, I thought I'd take pen in hand, the right hand, and drop you a line. Now I was going to write and say sometimes I think Jarvis takes you too much for granted. Whenever an organization wants a competent and charming chairman, you're the boy they're called on. In any public spirited activity you're in there plugging for all your worth. I was going to say that Jarvis owns you a lot but I won't say a darned nice thing about you.

However, in answer to queries from solicitous friends, Alexander DID NOT come home. I dunno, some gals can't win.

Regretfully,

Alexander's Wife.

How to Protect YOUR Savings?

As a good family man, or as a good citizen, you save some part of what you earn. You save it either through putting money in the bank, or through the purchase of insurance or securities.

There is little chance of those savings being lost. But there is grave danger that their value will be destroyed. The value of savings is progressively destroyed every time the buying power of the dollar is reduced. Buying power of the dollar inevitably goes down as prices go up.

Prices go up every time there is a wage increase without a corresponding increase in man-hour production. It is just as simple as that.

So to protect your savings, wages and production must be kept in balance.
