The pretty lady who serves the customers at T. A. Ivey & Sons greenhouses in Port Dover aimed a vase at us when we entered to make a purchase the other day. Imagine our surprise. So you think we haven't any brains up here in Port Dover? she said. As we peered out from behind a fuchsia wreath that was picked up for protection, she apparently gathered from the surprised look on our face that we did deserve an opportunity of presenting our defence. It seems the attractive Port Doverite is a reader of a paper published in this town called "The Maple Leaf". And further "The Maple Leaf" had published an editorial which said we had suggested that Haldimand County had a monopoly on brains. Nothing could be further from the truth. We referred to above. As usual, the Editor is telling his readers that Norfolk County is the Eden of the Norvers. He is suggesting that Norfolk rates its glorified status because of the fact (1) a couple of holes are being drilled in the ground in search of iron ore; (2) the seaway development might result in a big harbour being built near Port Dover; (3) someone remembered that oil was discovered in minute quantities in Norfolk in 1863. It is difficult to understand how the "Maple Leaf" editor can become so confused. Now if he talked about whitening (a real delicacy) or flowers or corn, or fruit, or even tobacco, for which Norfolk county justifies its existence, someone might regard him as a sane individual. He is suggesting that Norfolk is the Eden of the Norvers in the pursuit referred to, and we suggest that he should be more specific.
