Your Liberal Candidate

GARFIELD DISHER

This article is intended to present to you, the voters of this riding, a part of the record of the Liberal Government, particularly of this present period.

The difficulties of this post-war era have been tremendous in themselves. But they have been enormously aggravated by the continuing threat of new world conflicts. On top of the heavy burden of reconstruction and reconversion, we have had the much heavier burden of defence.

It is not long ago that we heard constantly the gloomy predictions of depression. It is not long ago either that thoughtful Canadians looked doubtfully at the problem of absorbing the nearly two million Canadians who came out of the armed forces and war factories - or, as young people looking for work. Civilian employment was available to all and the task of reconversion to peace was taken by Canada in her stride. Many wondered, too, how we could go on without the markets which all these crises seemed certain to destroy. Yet Canada has managed not only to maintain, but to increase her external trade. We emerged from the rocky period in a state which has earned the admiration of the world. Within the past few months we have been spotlighted in special issues of such American magazines as Fortune, the Saturday Review of Literature, and Colliers, and such British publications as the Statist, The Financial Times, and The Economist. This great English journal, considered by many as the finest economic magazine in the English language, said: "No boom was ever painless, but the Canadian boom perhaps comes nearest to earning that distinction. Canada is not merely favoured with abundant material resources. It has had the good sense - or the good luck - to provide itself with good government. Its economic affairs have been handled with a skill unexampled throughout the world. It has found in the short space of two or three years, a degree of self-confidence that is the proper mark of a country entering upon the early stages of economic maturity. It is true that the defence program has yet to make its full impact on the Canadian economy. But the rise in both industrial and agricultural productivity since the war has been so astonishing that Canada may well be able to provide guns, factories and butter all at the same time."

Such comments are a tribute to the Canadian people and it is true that they are only opinions, but let us examine the facts which support these opinions. During the war, Canada spent approximately six billion dollars in enlarging her productive capacity for war purposes. We converted all of this six billion of productive capacity to civilian uses without a hitch - to quote the Hon. Stuart Garson.

Then since the beginning of the war the population has increased by more than twenty per cent. But foreign trade in volume has increased by 75 per cent and our volume of production by 100 per cent. After all allowances are made for price changes, the statistics show that the real income and standard of living of the average Canadian has risen by more than fifty per cent. Incidentally, not even the United States has done so well.

There has been a tremendous development of natural resources throughout our country - iron in Labrador, aluminum in Quebec and B.C., oil in Alberta, nickel in Manitoba - to name just a few significant items, but no less important are the accomplishments of these developments, the new oil refineries, pipelines, smelters, factories, chemical industries and plants, the enlarged transportation facilities - all of them emerging all the way across our nation. And then there is the development of new municipalities, the construction of new houses - which incidentally is the largest number of new houses completed in the world in proportion to population.

It is also important to remember that this expansion began and is continuing in the midst of a disorder ed world, yet in Canada our activity is not false nor inflated.

Up to 1952 no less than 20 per cent of the national debt has been written off, some 2.2 billion dollars, which effects a reduction of the interest charges of $60 million per annum.

That is the background - it is the current position of Canada in the world to-day. The vision is unlimited at this moment and most people are willing to recognize that a major portion of the credit for this expansion and development is due to the Liberal Government through the foresight and the sound policies of Liberalism. Your Liberal Government is anticipating not only a continuation but a further expansion. It needs the full measure of your confidence and of your authority on August 10th to continue the tremendous progress of this nation. You can give that authority to the Liberal candidate on August 10th - for the best years of your life.

Easter Seal Goes Over the Top

Bryce Linklater, Chairman of the Easter Seal Committee of the Jarvis Lions Club, has been advised by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children that the 1953 objective for $475,000.00 has been met and it is anticipated that when the final returns are in the objective will be exceeded by nearly 12 per cent.

The annual appeal for funds for the Crippled Children of Ontario always meets with a generous response and the work of the Society in bringing this sunshine into the lives of these less fortunate children is one of the bright spots in our civilization.

The Jarvis Lions Club for the past number of years, has handled the campaign locally and regard this effort as one of the most important in their activities. The chairman has asked the Record to express appreciation to all contributors for making the campaign a success locally.

The Record has been reliably informed that a start will be made on a New Community Hall this week. This culminates many months of planning and discussion which found the matter thoroughly aired by all interested citizens of the community.

The type of building to be erected was the cause of much discussion and many opinions were offered and considered before the committee was able to reach a final decision. The original plans called for a building 120 feet long and fifty feet wide, with a full basement and rather elaborate interior. This was later deemed to be too extravagant an undertaking and these plans were eventually discarded. The next plans called for a building 100 feet long and 40 feet wide but again were discarded in favor of a building 110 feet long and 45 feet wide. The plans now call for a building this size, without a basement. It will be of cement block construction, with a brick front.

The location of the building was another stumbling block. The opinions were many as to where the building should be located. Whil locations were decided upon in open meetings, objections would arise as after-thoughts. The committee apparently was anxious to please every one and as a result the whole matter has been held up in an effort to get unanimity of opinion in this respect.

On Tuesday night, however, the Village Council passed a by-law for the purchase of sufficient land on the north side of James Street (the north side of the present park) from Lundy & Henderson, for the building. The Village in turn will sell some of the land it owns to Lundy & Henderson directly south of their present property which faces on Talbot Street. The Council further authorized, by resolution, the Community Hall Committee, composed of Les Marshall, Arthur Bilgit, Edward Montague, Albert Pond, Dorothy Bilgit and George Walker, to erect a building on this site. The Council, at the same time, excluded themselves from any financial obligations with respect to the undertaking.

C. W. Buck & Sons, of Siaucoe, have been authorized to proceed with construction immediately on the project. The figure mentioned as the likely cost is $30,000.00.

—o—

We're Growing --Or Something

The Village Treasurer reported to the Council in session on Tuesday night, that a total of $12,578.93 had been paid on 1953 taxes to date. That figure might not mean very much but the fact is it is twenty-five per cent more than the total taxes paid by the citizens of Jarvis ten years ago.

In 1942 the total amount collected in taxes was $9,187.80.

In 1953 the total amount collected in taxes will be $20,291.91

According to our calculations that is an increase of about 121 per cent.

To offset this bad news it must be remembered that there has been a certain amount of new building taking place so it cannot be taken for granted that the taxpayers of 1942 have had their taxes raised by 121 per cent over this period. However anyone who may have taken time to compare their tax slips with 1942 will, no doubt, discover that the cost of taxes is a factor in the increased cost of living these days.

Incidentaly the total Village assessment in 1942 was $223,502.00.

The total assessment in 1953 is $386,510.00.

We're growing, or something.

On July 2nd an evening meeting of the Varency Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Will McNelly with an attendance of eighteen. Miss Miller opened the meeting with the Opening Ode, The Lords Prayer and the Creed. The roll call was well answered "Name one of the A.C.W.W. Countries" there being 25 in all. Our Secretary read the minutes and correspondence. It was decided to have a Card Shower for Mrs. Ed. It was voted to have a course in Needlecraft in November the committee to see after this to be Mrs. Ivan McKenzie and Mrs. Belbeck. Instead of the usual picnic at Port Dover in August, Mrs. McKenzie invited the members and their children to her home. Atherton, followed by a Quizz on the Coronation written by Mrs. Ken Parkinson and conducted by Mrs. Ken. Saunders. The winner was Mrs. Gutcher. The mystery prize was won by Mrs. Craddock. Miss Miller thanked all who helped to make this meeting so worthwhile and enjoyable.

The Jarvis Lions Club has arranged a series of Sunday evening concerts in the Jarvis Park and the first one will be presented next Sunday evening, July 12th. The Hagersville Citizens Band, under the leadership of Mr. Andy Saboia, will present this concert.

Two weeks later, July 26th, the Blind Organist who appeared here last year will be back again.

On August 9th the Hagersville Citizens Band will make a return engagement and on August 23rd, the famous Hindoo Koosh Band, of Hamilton, will supply the program.

These concerts are arranged by the Lions Club as a goodwill gesture to the citizens of the community for their splendid support of the various projects undertaken by the Club throughout the year. There will be a voluntary collection each night and the funds received on the first three occasions will be turned over to the Community Hall Fund, while the collection taken on the visit of the Hindoo Koosh Band will be devoted to Health and Welfare projects.

These concerts will be exceptionally worthwhile and it is hoped the public will take advantage of the opportunity of hearing them. Remember the first concert is next Sunday night, 8.30 P.M., at the Jarvis Park.

Mrs. Lea Porter Reports On Trip

Thirty-one years after my last visit to England, I have just returned from spending two months in the town where I was born, spent my childhood and left behind to go to Canada and establish my home.

I have just returned from Skipton in Yorkshire, green in the freshness of Spring and blue, gold and crimson with gay Coronation decorations. On my last day there we stood in the High Street to watch the Sunday Schools of the town parade through the streets, led by the Parish Church choir in red cassocks and white surplices and with children in pastel coloured print dresses, to the top of the street to hold up the traffic for a united open air service. In the background is the archway of Skipton Castle, which has been there for almost a thousand years.

I stayed at the home of my sister, Mrs. Jim Freeman, and have visited the homes of people I went to school with, worked with and played with. In the oldest part of the town, in the shadow of the Parish Church, alongside the Castle moat, I visited the house in which I was born, and have also seen other homes in which I lived.

One day we made the pilgrimage to Ripon in North Yorkshire to visit the Churchyard in which is buried a Jarvis boy who was killed in Britain during the war. On that day, too, we went to Harrogate, the famed health resort there people go to recuperate from illnesses.

Another day was spent at Ilkley whose moor is sung about by Yorkshire people throughout the world in "On Ilkla Moor Baat 'At", and on another occasion we visited Blackpool the most popular holiday resort in Britain, with miles of beach, and the biggest amusement fair in Britain.

In the small village of Bradley I called on the relations of my sister who lives in Jarvis, while my own family are still for the most part scattered in nearby villages — at Cross Hills, a village at the centre of the weaving industry, Keighley, big manufacturing and engineering town, and Embsay, a sort of dormitory village for Skipton.

We spent an afternoon wandering round the village of Gargrave which has hardly changed in the thirty years I have been away, and for 300 years before that.

On several occasions I have worshipped in the Church I attended every Sunday as a girl and on my last visit to Church the minister prayed for me.

One of the boys I knew thirty years ago was the town's chief citizen, the Chairman of the Skipton Urban District Council.

Also visiting the town was another old Skiptonian who now lives at Battle Creek, U.S.A. She was born in the house my nephew now occupies.

On my last day there was a family party at my sister's house, and on Tuesday, the day I sailed, two of my sisters came with me to Liverpool to see me off on the Empress of Scotland. They came on board and had lunch with me till the bell rung, telling visitors to get off.

The second day at sea we called at Scotland to pick up more passengers. Nearing Canada we saw about ten icebergs as big as houses. We got to Quebec Tuesday noon, but did not leave till 2. o'clock Wednesday morning, and returned to Jarvis at noon.
