 Last Monday's Farm Forum discussion was exceptionally well received as to how the average farmer thinks his urban neighbours are informed about farming.

One of the speakers stated "City and Townspeople are not aware that the Farmer is well informed on many subjects. They have little or no realization of how much the Consumer Dollar really goes to the farmer, only looking for lower food prices, not considering the value of the farmer's purchasing power to the urbanite."

Farm Forum opinion as to how to remedy this was quite broad. Indications by National Organizations down to the smallest, should be made of net income to the farmer as well as the gross income. To often the gross income on a product is all that the general public will ever hear or read about.

One member suggested an aid to remedy keeping the town friends and relatives informed on farm news by giving subscriptions to farm magazines as Christmas gifts.

Last Monday being very stormy, found several delegates from the County, many including the London where the scheduled Federation of Agriculture Zone Meeting was held.

The main items discussed were: (a) the setting up of a National Marketing Institution, (b) water-legislation in connection with the problem of many farmers who are now using irrigation, (c) prevention of tractor liability, (d) Stamp Act which is now under revision, (e) local illumination, (f) Improvement Administration of the Junior Farmer Loan.

The subject for Farm Forum Discussion last week was a very interesting one called "The Struggle for Mens Minds." Most Forums felt that Canada had been an aggressor since the program initiated, but should help other countries establish themselves in world affairs. Not only do we need to lend them financial aid but we must send missionaries, both agricultural and apiritual.

Finance Forum put it this way, "I will solve down to the fact that the world to practice Christianity individually and nationally."

A Zone Meeting taking in the Counties of Essex, Kent, Kign, Norfolk, Haldimand, Lambton, Middlesex, West and Lincoln will be held in London on Monday, December 14th. Delegates have been chosen by the Districts to represent Haldimand.

The Gate Sign Project is not moving fast enough and help is needed who participate in Farm Forum or Township Federation get busy and do a little more missionary work along that line.

I wish you all a very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

SOIL SENSE — By R.W.S. —
 Before sowing the subject of farm manure, it might be of interest to discuss the handling of this valuable farm by-product. The question is often asked, "What is the best way to handle manure in the winter time?" An answer cannot be given that will apply to every farm. However, the following facts should help the reader to work out a program that would suit his own farm.

The facts or conclusions stated here result from a five year experiment conducted by Migley and Dunlop at the Dominion Agricultural Experimental Station in Vermont. The study has to do with the loss of nutrients from cattle manure spread during the winter.

Due to the preferable nature of piled manure and because of the extra labour and time required to spread it in the spring, it still seems advisable to spread manure daily, to minimize these losses:

1. Spread as much manure as possible in November and December, or before the first heavy snowfall.
2. To reduce phosphate and potassium loss from reinforced manure, add up to 100 pounds limestone to each load.
3. To reduce nitrogen losses, make generous use of straw and superphosphate. It should be piled and packed to exclude air. When spreading

BRIEF NOTES FOR THE BUSY FARMER

By Haldimand Harry —
 Now that we are well started in the New Year, many farmers are taking rather serious questions regarding the future. With business generally seemingly to be levelling off a bit and many rumours, often unwarranted, going the round, it is somewhat surprising that the future may hold for agriculture in any case farmers are justified in assessing the future. Every successful business man will do the same.

According to the best authorities everyone would seem to be in for a little bit tightening but these same authorities apparently are agreed that the long range view is fairly bright. It is true there may be certain times when the going will be rough and right now will be good time to prepare for those times but there is reason to believe that we should plan well for the years that are to come.

One question asked during the past week had to do with the future of the hog industry. According to the best authorities it is expected that hog prices should strengthen and remain fairly high until about October. By that time the results of the rather heavy fall slaughter will be felt and prices might be a little higher than they are at present. The hog industry has been hit hard by heavy breedings. That is, the number of hogs born in the spring six months later, marketings will likely go up.

With the general easing of farm livestock prices, may it be repeated in this column that this is an excellent time to call out the low or regular producer and to raise the standard of his herd and flock. This is one of the best times to do this. It is a good time for new breeders to start with some good stock. Prices are low enough now for many who are looking for a few good ones and others who are anxious to improve their herds and flocks to do something about it.

Prof. Waddell has some rather interesting figures for Haldimand farm in the "Crops" Night School class last week. On the basis of the figures as presented by the hay. The figures are as follows: Average yield per acre of timothy hay, 3,720 lbs., Fall wheat 4,400 lbs., Hay 2,800 lbs., and Oats 850 lbs.

Carrying these comparisons a bit further it is found that average yields in pounds per acre and the value of the crop are as follows: Timothy hay, 3,720 lbs., Fall wheat 4,400 lbs., Hay 2,800 lbs., and Oats 850 lbs.

The regular meeting of King Solomon Lodge, A.P. & M., of Woodstock, Ontario, was held on Friday evening, January 8th, at the home of Mrs. E. J. Leacock, 2100 Main Street, Woodstock. The meeting was well attended and welcomed several new members. The program was presented by Mrs. E. J. Leacock, who presented a paper on "The Future of the Farm." The meeting was a success and the members were very pleased with the program.
