

Gord Miller made his debut on television on Tuesday night. Gord wasn't exactly in the picture, but he was providing the background sound effects for Foster Hewitt's game summary of the Red Wings game. Bob Miller took him up, but the bet was never settled for the lack of a soft ball.

Foster Hewitt wasn't the only person summarizing the game that put the Maple Leaf team in storage until next season. "Clancy" Haelet, ex-coach of the Garnet terrors, condensed his summary by saying that the Fisherville Combines would have provided more opposition to the sick clicking Detroiters.

There was an even dozen Jarvis fans peering from the gods at the play in Maple Leaf Gardens on Tuesday night. The majority were Maple Leaf supporters although one or two secretly were pulling for the Red Wings to win. It can be said, however, there was absolute unity on Foster Hewitt's choice for the first star of the game, namely "Red" Kelly. Coach Jimmy Skinner hardly gives "Red" time to blow his nose on the player's chances. They say that "Red" has never had to have a patch put on the seat of his pants since he joined the Red Wings, but he has worn out an even dozen pairs of skates.

Judging by the daily poetry that appeared in a recent issue of the Port Dover Maple Leaf, one would be led to suspect that the Editor of that Journal is seeking a nomination from the Liberal Party for the expected Provincial Election this year.

The Lions Club Minstrels seem to have done it again. All the reports we hear seem to be complimentary to the show. Regardless of the results of the show itself, we are quite content with the very commendable spirit of co-operation exemplified in making the production possible. Jarvis can be right proud of the current spirit of unanimity that prevails among the people of the community. So long as that lasts we can do anything.

Congratulations to Marie Saunders on being awarded a trip to the Old Country the latter part of May. She merits the highest commendation for following these pursuits of good citizenship that qualified her for this recognition by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.
