Billy Graham

(By Lewis Milligan)

Curiously is a powerful incentive in attracting a crowd, and I confess it was my curiosity that attracted me to one of Billy Graham's mass meetings in Toronto. A crowd always attracts a crowd, but it was not the crowd that I went out to see, for I dislike crowds and would go a long way around to avoid one. When I am jammed in a mass of people I seem to lose my personal identity and am seized with a feeling of panic to escape and recover my individuality. That may be a form of egotism, but I can't help it.

Billy Graham is a man in John the Baptist and he has all the earmarks of that first of evangelists, except that he is "clothed in sackcloth and not in goat-skins and does not make his abode in the desert. His habitat is great cities and he courts and delights in big crowds; but he is not of the crowd. He stands apart and aways the multitude with the message of John the Baptist. "Repent ye, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." To him, great cities are moral and spiritual wildernesses and his is a voice crying, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight."

Referring to John the Baptist, Jesus said to the crowd, "What went ye out to see? A reed shaken by the wind?" Graham is as straight as a reed, but he stands unshaken by any blast of criticism or cyclone of popularity. As I listened to him preach, I was struck by the way in which his power over that vast audience lay. The majority of those people were regular churchgoers who were familiar with the old gospel that was being preached. But familiarity had bred indifference, and the fiery earnestness and urgency of this young and typical American shook them out of their spiritual lethargy and the old message became so startlingly new to many that they hit the trail to repentance and surrender.

It is easy to dismiss these mass evangelized revivals as "nothing but a revival of the old gospel." They began with the Day of Pentecost when it was said the early Christians were all with one accord in one place and a mighty rushing wind filled the house where they were sitting, and that tongues like fire sat on each of them. They began to speak with other tongues. Whether that should be taken literally or not, it was symbolically true. The mighty wind swept away all the doubts and fears of those first Christians and they went forth in the Roman Empire with tongues of fire and spoke in a language the people could understand.

Periodic revivals have occurred down through the years, and each of them originated with one man who was suddenly stricken, like Saul of Tarsus, and illumined with a heavenly vision. John Wesley, an Anglican parish priest, suddenly felt his heart "strangely warmed" at a Moravian meeting in Holland, and his warmth burst into a flame which spread through the hearts of the common people of Britain. He took the parish and preached to the miners at the pitheads, to the factory workers, to the stevedores at the dock gates, to the farmers in their fields, and rode on horse-back through the British Isles preaching and organizing his converts into a band of lay evangelists. Many of them were rough characters and vile sinners by reputation; they spoke in the crude dialects of their fellow workers. Wesley told them they were not undesirables, but immortal souls that needed to be saved.

The world today is vastly different from that of Wesley's or even of Moody's, but humanity is, fundamentally the same, and there is no other gospel whereby man can be saved spiritually and socially than that of Jesus the Christ. Billy Graham is a typical man of today. Unlike Wesley, he does not have to go on horse-back, but flies by plane and applies modern methods of publicity and organization to the promotion of religion. He is thus a modern Methodist, and if he can be by modern methods stir up and awaken the souls of men today as his great predecessor did in his day we should be thankful.

The October meeting of the Fireside Club was held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Gowans with a record attendance. The meeting was opened with the worship service, conducted by Joan Imson. The theme of the service was "Thanksgiving." The first hymn was "Thank We All Our God" was sung. Mrs. Pond gave a reading on "Practical Ways of Making Our Thanksgiving Thanksgiving." The worship service was closed with the hymn "Come Ye Thankful People."

The big event of the evening was Miss Marie Saunders' talk on her trip to the British Isles. Miss Saunders showed her pictures also, which were indeed wonderful. Following the business refreshments were served by the committee. Nora Pond Evelyn Doughty and Gertrude Belbeck. Mrs. Clark, but as the numbers increased, there was not accommodation for all. It was to be hoped that this place for worship will serve the people of this community many years to come.

Walpole Native Dies In B. C.

(By Lewis Milligan)

A well-known resident of Erie district, Walter Willis, died away on Saturday, Oct. 15th, 1955 at Beckcliff Hospital, after an illness of four weeks.

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Mark Willis, he was born in Worcester, England, July 21st, 1892. He came to Canada with his parents in 1913, and apart from a few years spent near Hamilton, he has lived in the Erie community ever since.

In 1935 he was united in marriage with the former Mabel Brex of Fisherville. He is survived by his wife, and two daughters. One brother, Carol, and a son, Bruce, who is a member of the Erie community ever since.

He was of a bright and cheerful disposition, and his main pleasure was in his work and his family. He was a devoted husband, a loving father and a good neighbour. He was a faithful member of the Pentecostal church in Hagersville.

He rested at his late home until the day of the funeral, which was held on Tuesday afternoon from the Seim & McKelzie Funeral Home in Hagersville with services being conducted by the Rev. G. Mallory of Hagersville and Rev. R. F. Buschert of Niagara Falls.

Interment was in Hagersville cemetery. Full bearers were Lawrence King, Bert House, Oswald Warner, Bill Henderson, Ed. Gibbons and Wallace Pepper.

Flower bearers were Walter and Sherman Aude, Wesley McKen, Harold Wren and his nephews, Jack and Donald Willis.

The numerous and beautiful floral tributes showed the high esteem in which he was held.

There were twenty Gideon Memorial Bibles.

The United States highest award for voluntary work in standardization is given to a Canadian this year for the first time. James G. Morrow, standardizer with the National Bureau of Standards, Inc., Hamilton, Ont., has been named to receive the Stannard Award for outstanding service and leadership in the development and application of standards.

Mr. Morrow is a metallurgical engineer in charge of standardization in chemical methods, metallurgical processes and products for Stelco. He has been with the Company since 1907.

Lions Hear Address On St. Lawrence Power Plan

EDWARD WALTER WILLIS

Members of the Jarvis Lions Club left the meeting on Monday night with a far better appreciation of the magnitude of the St. Lawrence Seaway power project.

Mr. Leo Mullen, representing the Municipality Information Office of the Ontario Hydro, by word and picture gave a very broad outline of the plans currently being fulfilled on the seaway to provide additional power for Ontario homes and industry. It was clearly illustrated that the project required the joint action of the power authorities on both sides of the St. Lawrence, as well as the Federal Governments in order to provide power and transportation facilities to the maximum degree.

Despite the magnitude of the project, the speaker pointed out that it could not compare with the development of Niagara, and reminded his audience that Ontario Hydro is proceeding with many other smaller developments in the north-western part of the province.

The pictures showing the heavy equipment moving houses at Ingersoll to the new location of the village were of particular interest. The houses are moved intact by broad fast and are fully installed on their new foundations in time to prepare for the winter. Every effort is being made to fairly compensate the people who will be forced to move to new locations as a result of the flooding that will take place in some sections when the project is completed.

The pictures introduced by Lion Dave Banks and a vote of thanks was moved on behalf of the club by Lion Fred Fish.

Bishop Conducts Ceremony Of Confirmation

ON WEDNESDAY last, October 19th, the Bishop of Niagara (the Rt. Rev. W. E. Bagnall, D.D.) visited Jarvis.

He was accompanied by Archdeacon Wase of Dunnville, who is his Domestic Chaplain and by the Rev. F. F. Maunell of Hagersville, and E. C. Maunell of Byng. The Rev. the Rev. K. N. Brunton, presented nine candidates and one was presented for the Rev. F. F. Maunell.

Those confirmed were: Bonnie L. Hinks, Janet Butts, Helen Anne Holmes, Glenda Reichel, Margaret Winkler, Kenneth Gifford, James Miller, Russell Morn and Murray Holgren. Mrs. Wm. Bassindale from Chesapeake, was also confirmed.

The Bishop gave an inspiring address to the young people on the adventure of Christian living and the duty of kindness. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. H. Clarke, sang as an anthem "Just as I am, thine own to be" and the "Vani Cetera" was sung also.

After the service a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Clarke. The Bishop spoke a few words informally and presented those newly confirmed with their certificates.

The Jarvis W.I. are very busy practicing for their Variety Night to be held in the community hall on November 10th. Part of the program will include a musical—Music in the Attic—It is housecleaning time in Jarvis. The housewives revel in it, the menfolk dread it. Bala, a college girl comes forth with the suggestion that perhaps the menfolk could help clean the attic and she has a plan by which she persuades them to do it. In the attic, Robert, her grandfather, finds many relics that make him live over his past. The next house cleaning season rolls around. Also on the same program there will be a one-act play, Scramble Eggs. Watch this publication for the synopsis of this play next week and keep November 10th free to attend the Variety Night. Tickets will be sold next week.

The Children's Party will be followed by a dance for the damage to the Mainstreets provided by the music. Again prizes will be given for the best costumes and those attending are urged to get in the spirit of things by coming dressed to suit the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnston of York spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Belbeck.

With such a feast as they have not brewed or eaten before. The housewives are now attired in their Sunday best. A surprise guest arrives later than noon on Tuesday night. The house cleaning is over, the indications are they will all live happily until the next house cleaning season rolls around. Also on the same program there will be a one-act play, Scramble Eggs.
