Then, scarcities began to arducts. Then, scarcities began to arise and the government was forced into the position of paying subsidies to induce greater production on farm commodities. The Prime Minister arcommodities. The Prime Minister arcommodities. sured the farmers across this country that if they would not expect high prices then they would not suffer after the war. The farmers of Canada accepted the challenge in good faith and produced more than they ever produced in history. They made a handsome contribution to the war effort by working long hours. However, the Government could not con-trol costs, and what happened? The price-cost position became poorer and poorer, and the net income of the farmer diminished. What did the farmer do? He did what he always does when he arrived at that position; he tried to produce more on the does when he arrived at that position: he tried to produce more on the land he was using in order to make up the decreases in income. Then we found we had surpluses. And this situation developed, said Mr. Charlton at a time when we were losing, or,
in fact, had lost our British market for farm products. At the time the Minister of Agr culture, Mr. Gardiner was assuring Canadians "that we

Mr. Charlton said it has been conamounts to 1 cent in 1954. The Stabilized price created by the floor price established could easily save more than this amount for the consumer by the likely upward fluctuation that would likely occur during the winter season on butter prices. In concluding his speech Mr. Charlton warned the Government has bogged down in many departments. Time is running out and the truth is catching up to them. The farmers of Canada want a definite reliey, not a pieces-meal, day-by-day scheme. CHRIST CHURCH At The Churches

The program for the 11th annual Haldimand Farmers' Week is rapidly being completed and it would appear to be one of the best yet. The theme for the week is "Make Farm Management Your Business in '56" and most of the addresses will have some bearing on this subject. For instance on Monday, March 5th, Howard Kellam will speak on the subject, "Making the Most of Your Grass and Pasture." You will not want to miss any of these important talks.

Canada's old-age pension fund, intended to be self-sustaining from three-way two per cent tax, was in the red for the first six months of 1954 by $29 400,000.

A wirtten legal agreement is necessary to ensure a settifactory Fathers-Son Partnership according to reports received from the Farm Forums here in the County. Also stressed were the facts that there must be sufficient income for two families, separate living quarters, and each party should operate fully.

Clambrassil Farm Forum covered the subject of transfer by stating "The agreement should provide for the son to gain equity year by year in the farm. Some members contended the farm should be sold to the son, the father holding the mortgage and receiving a vessely income for life.
