

We haven't found time this season to watch the local softball clubs in action. It is evident, however, from the scores and the evident enthusiasm that it will be a great season on the sandlot. Johnny Edwards is still the big hope to bring a championship to Jarvis. After getting close the past two seasons this may be the third time that will really count. After a great season with the St. Catharines Teepees hockey club it is nice to see brother Roy Edwards back wearing a Jarvis sweater.

The Jarvis rural entry is also headed for a good season under the management of Gord Hazlett. The old maestro has quite a reputation for developing the best possible team spirit and that seems to be a characteristic necessary for a winning team in any sport. The Jarvis Midgits haven't made a start yet but there is hope this team will go places this year. They have been together as a group for the past two or three seasons and this will be the last opportunity for several members of the team to participate in the midget category.

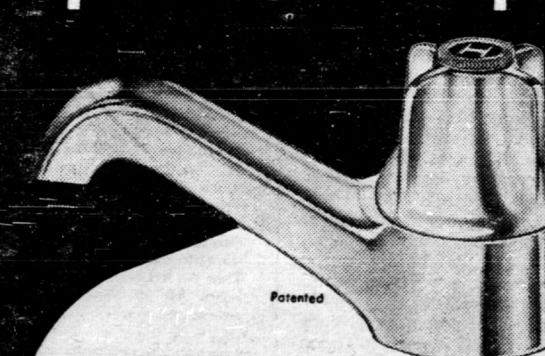

A big game is scheduled for Saturday night when Rosenfelds of the Hamilton Big Four League play at the local park. Don't miss this one.

It is extremely gratifying to note the splendid results of the Jarvis Community Fund Campaign again this year. Rev. S. B. East, former minister at Wesley United Church, was responsible for starting the fund, will also be happy in the knowledge that more than $32,000.00 has been raised by this agency since its inception for charitable work. Rev. W. H. Fuller acted as campaign manager for several years and did a wonderful job. Since he left Jarvis three years ago, Mrs. R. A. Miller has carried on his work. Mrs. Miller is to be congratulated on a job well done. Forty eight canvassers cover the district and their assignments are arranged by Mrs. Miller. Everyone associated with the fund can be happy in the knowledge they are performing a useful task.

Residents of Main Street, North, should be forewarned that any strange noises that may be heard in the immediate future in that vicinity is not necessarily the world coming to an end. We have heard it said that a certain newly wedded couple will be a rousing welcome one of These fine nights in recognition of past performances of one of the principles under similar circumstances, any noises resembling the bursting of an atomic bomb will not necessarily be a weapon that vicious.

Now that the debate on the pipe line project is over we can anticipate a review of the situation by the official mouthpiece to the south. It is hard to understand how he has retained from jumping into the fray before this. Could be he is afraid of getting his feet wet.

Peach blossoms in Ontario are just now making their appearance. Although two weeks later than usual, it is not expected that this will affect Ontario's anticipated 100,000,000 pounds of peaches. To mark the occasion of peach blossom time in Ontario, a blossom festival involving a big parade was recently held in Niagara-on-the-Lake. Representing the Ontario Peach Growers Association in the blossom festival was pretty, eighteen-year-old Jean Myers, U.S.A. National Peach Queen from Kell, Illinois.

"OUR PIONEER PAST"

On the Farm Front

By Haldimand Harry

The main problem now facing the farmers is to utilize the ground intended for spring seeding and not yet sown to the best possible advantage and to provide by whatever means available as much grain and forage as possible. In Haldimand County there is perhaps almost as much already sown as there is in any county with the possible exception of some of the south-western counties. In some counties not a wheel has been turned as yet.

Every farmer will have to assess his own particular needs and adjust his cropping practice as economically as possible to meet his needs. The seed situation has to be noted as some of the crops may not be available. Fortunately there is a plentiful supply of corn especially the early hybrids. Further, the Plant Products officials have issued temporary permits to allow the importation of 100-day earlier maturing hybrids not now licensed for sale in Canada.

As for oats, most of the newest resistant varieties will not be scarce but there are still plentiful supplies of other such varieties available. Be sure to use a variety that is rust resistant as late sown oats are often severely attacked by this plant disease and the crop ruined.

Tests at Guelph have shown that two bushels per acre is the proper rate of seeding for short seasons like this year. Early soybean seed is rapidly disappearing and this may be some still around. Capital is one of these early maturing ones that might be used.

Flax seed is very scarce. Rumor has it that one car of seed has been brought in from western Canada. Sudan grass on the other hand is plentiful and there should be ample for who might be using this crop for the emergency. The millet seed situation seems to be uncertain and it is likely that we may have whatever variety that may be available. Buckwheat seed is limited but this crop should in most cases be used only as a last resort. It is recommended that farmers who have not been accustomed to growing sorghums and who don't have the equipment necessary should not attempt this for the emergency.

Most of the emergency measures have been suggested by the extension people. A few are being repeated here along with some others. Corn seems to be the most important crop to meet the situation. It can be used for silage and this would help to conserve some of the meadow land for pasture. It might even be used to replace hay and this crop might be rather short with all the frosts that have come along. Corn can be used as a grain crop and will go a long way in helping to fill up those empty bins in the granary.

There is still plenty of time to sow Sudan grass and this will be one of the best substitutes where summer pasture is needed. As a matter of fact Sudan grass can be sown any time during June. Even at this late date, farmers should not lose sight of the possibilities of this crop. It is quite possible with this crop, provide three choices. The final decision as to the best use can be made about the time the oats are heading or, if pasture is needed, it can be used in this way to advantage. If hay or silage is needed they can be cut for hay or put in the silo. Lastly, if the growing season proves to be favorable, they can be matured for grain.

The May meeting of Sandusk W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. May with thirteen members present. The president, Mrs. Elvin Pond, opened the meeting with the opening prayer and the Creed. The final decision as to the best use can be made about the time the oats are heading or, if pasture is needed, it can be used in this way to advantage. If hay or silage is needed they can be cut for hay or put in the silo. Lastly, if the growing season proves to be favorable, they can be matured for grain.

A card of thanks was read from Mrs. Lorne Parter and a note of appreciation was read from Ken and May Mulkins. The financial report was read. Further plans were made for the Summer Ten Competition. It was decided that the group hold a cup and pie sale on May 21. Six members are planning to go on the bus trip to Niagara Falls. Mrs. Merrill Nie was appointed as delegate to the District Annual, held at Caledonia.

Mrs. Merrill Nie presided for the program. Mrs. Hartley Mattice gave an interesting report on Ceylon, consisting of "A Glimpse of Ceylon, Social Life and Customs." Mrs. Merrill Nie gave some interesting current events. Mrs. Elvin May gave the motto, "Deeds of today greet you." Exchange of plants, bulbs, slips and seeds then took place. A game was enjoyed by all. The meeting closed with the Queen and the Institute minutes were read. Cordell Pond, of Grace, Mrs. Elvin Pond, made a vote of thanks to the hostess and the lunch committee.
