

TABLE TALKS

by Jane Andrews

Are your folks fond of pudding? Most families are — so here are recipes for some really delicious ones which I hope you'll try — and enjoy.

SPICY APPLE PUDDING

1½ cups water
1 cup uncooked rice
½ cup of sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
3 cups firmly packed, coarsely chopped, peeled, cooking apples
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups sugar
Put water, salt, and rice in 2 quart saucepan and bring to vigorous boil. Turn heat as low as possible. Cover. Simmer, leave over low heat 15 minutes. Add sugar and cinnamon. Pour the lemon juice over apples and mix into rice mixture. Pour into a 1½-quart baking dish. Place marshmallows over pudding, completely covering top. Bake at 350° F. for 30 minutes, or until marshmallows are browned.

NUT BROWN PUDDING

½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon each nutmeg and cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
½ cup milk
2 cups dry bread crumbs
½ cup each, seedless raisins and chopped nuts
1 teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons warm water
Cream butter with sugar, salt and spices. Add eggs. Beat until smooth. Pour milk over bread crumbs, raisins, and nuts. Combine with creamed mixture. Dissolve soda in warm water and add to pudding. Pour into deep 1½-quart casserole which has been greased with butter. Bake at 350° F. for 1-1½ hours, or until a deep dark brown. Serve with cream.

IMPORTED YOGI — Yankee version of the Orient's man of mysticism — the yogi — strolls down the Ginza in Tokyo, Japan. Yogi Berra, wizard catcher of the New York Yankees, is playing with the Bombers on their exhibition tour of Japan.

HORSE OPERA — Only in Vienna, heartland of make-believe-come-true, could a horse show be held in such sumptuous surroundings. Members of the Hapsburg-founded Spanish Riding School parade their mounts in chandelied hall of the Hofburg, onetime Imperial Castle of the Hapsburgs. Known the world around in equestrian circles, the renowned riding organization only recently returned to Vienna from its exile during the occupation.

LEMON NUTMEG SAUCE

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons butter
½ tablespoons lemon juice
Combine dry ingredients; add water and cook until clear and slightly thickened. Add butter and stir until melted. Add lemon juice. Serve hot on pudding.

QUICK FUDGE DESERT

1½ cups sifted flour
2 cups baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk
3 tbsp. melted shortening
Fudge filling.
Sift together dry ingredients. Combine eggs, milk, and shortening. Add to flour mixture, stirring until smooth. Spread ½ of batter in bottom of greased 8-inch square baking pan. Pour fudge filling over batter. Drop remaining batter by spoonfuls over fudge filling. Bake at 400° F. 25 minutes.

FUDGE FILLING

1 egg, beaten
½ cup sugar
1 ounce square unsweetened chocolate, melted
½ cup chopped nuts
1 tablespoon melted butter
Combine egg, sugar and melted chocolate, mixing well. Add nuts and butter. Beat well.

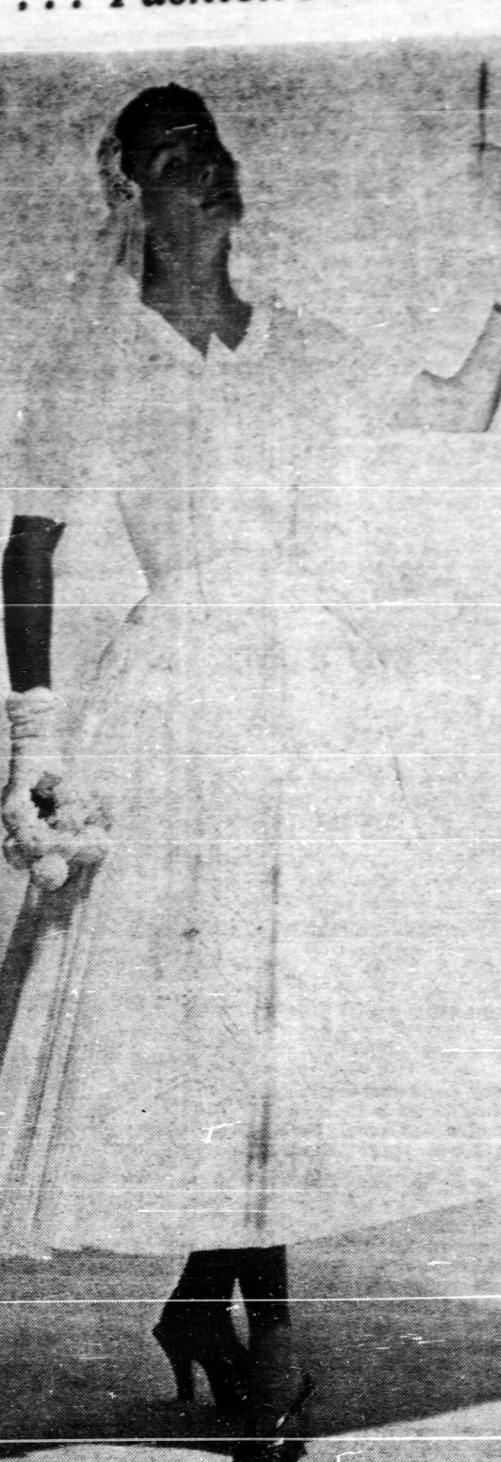

PEACH ROLL-UPS

½ cup butter
½ cup orange juice
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup milk
1 can (No. 2½) cling peach slices
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup brown sugar (packed)
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Simmer first 4 ingredients together for about 5 minutes to make a syrup. Pour half this syrup in bottom of a 9-inch square pan (or shallow oblong pan). Sift flour, baking powder, and salt into bowl. Cut in shortening and add milk, mixing to a moderately stiff dough. Drain peaches thoroughly. Roll dough to an oblong about 10x14 inches (dough should be about ¼-inch thick). Brush with melted butter; sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon. Arrange drained peach slices over surface and roll carefully, starting from the short side, as for jelly rolls. With a sharp knife cut into 9-10 slices about 1 inch thick. Arrange peach roll-ups over syrup in pan, pressing them lightly until they barely touch each other. Bake at 425° F. for 15 minutes. Pour remaining warm syrup evenly over roll-ups and continue baking 10 minutes longer, or until a rich brown. Serve or until a rich brown. Serve warm. Top with whipped cream or ice cream if you wish.

MY DAREDEVIL PLUNGE

Six people have shot the Falls at Niagara and three have come through alive. One of these died later of alcoholic poisoning and another was killed when he slipped on a banana-skin during a music-hall tour of Australia. Of those who made the trip, Jean Lusier, a French Canadian, is the only living survivor (and possibly the only one who was in a fit condition to be aware of what happened). This is how he described his experiences to Gibson Cowan.

I found some difficulty in getting into the rubber ball. Finally I worked my legs into the holes made for them and slid down side into a sitting position. I inflated my rubber suit until it filled the remainder of the space, leaving only my head and hands free. It wasn't as hot as I expected, but the July sun shone in on top of my head and sweat began to run down my neck. There didn't seem any point in delaying things. It was five minutes past three exactly. "O.K.," I said.

I switched on the electric light. If they answered, I didn't hear them, but the manhole closed and the turnbuckle twisted. I waited for a long time, and began to think that something had gone wrong.

I could just feel the lift of the waves and an occasional nudge when they took to be bumping against the side of the boat until one heavier than the rest told me that they were rocks and I knew that all I could do had been done when I had finished the design of the ball.

The weight at the bottom kept me upright, and when the movement started it was no worse than that of a small boat in a fairly choppy sea. After the first few jolts I knew that I should come to no harm on the rounded rocks even if I caught one full on, but everything seemed very slow.

I was wearing five wrist watches of different makes, for advertising purposes, but I didn't even think of looking at them. We had estimated that I should be twenty-eight minutes coming

At the same time the ball began to press on me heavily, so that I had to hold my breath to relieve the pressure on my chest. I became aware that at some time the lights had gone out.

At the trial the ball bobbed up within three seconds; but the falls are mysterious. Water coming down from all sides of the horseshoe will sometimes hold a log right under the fall for an hour. The pressure wasn't too bad, but it was eerie.

I felt that the electricity had escaped from the batteries and was crawling over my body. Nobody has been able to explain it to me, but it was some sort of electricity.

I sat in the darkness gently rocking from side to side. Then the ball began to spin slowly upward.

I averted a moment and then cautiously opened an air valve again. A little water came in, but I decided that it was only spray and that I was back on the surface.

Now that I was over the worst, I could allow myself to think of Charlie Stephen. He was also from Bristol. He was the third man who had tried it, but he had asked for trouble from the start. He hadn't even soaked his barrel, and he was committing suicide.

Two of the watches had luminous disks, but I couldn't make out either of them. Finally I concluded that somehow or other the boats had missed me and I had drifted into the whirlpool a couple of miles lower down.

I told myself that even that wouldn't be too bad for I had examined it carefully and decided that it had very little suck. A kid of eighteen swam through it a little while ago.

What puzzled me was that the roar of the falls kept rising and falling, with an almost regular beat. I pulled both plugs out of my ears and became completely confused by the noise.

I didn't know then that I was drifting backwards and forwards in the surge between Canada and America.

I pushed the light switch again, but it still would not work, and for quit a time I fumbled about on a loose wire.

Unexpectedly the noise died away, and almost immediately I heard a scraping on the outside. It was as if someone were using a rope on the ball.

I unfastened the manhole from the inside, but kept my hand on the bolts. For a few minutes I was jerked about all over the place, and then the sunlight streamed in, dazzling after the darkness which had gone before.

Before anyone asked me I shouted that I was O.K. I looked at my wrist. All five watches had stopped. Everybody was shouting "O.K. O.K." to the shore.

I stood up and put my head out. The boats were just where they said they would be. I asked the time, they couldn't tell me. Nobody had a watch.

When we landed it was five. I stood up and put my head out. The boats were just where they said they would be. I asked the time, they couldn't tell me. Nobody had a watch.

She had just one more thought, for her barrel was empty. She had no more to say, but she was not a quitter. She was a daredevil.

AFTER ALL BILLS ARE PAID

IN BUSINESS when all bills are paid at the end of the year, what is left (after taxes) is profit. Profit provides the money from which dividends to shareholders or owners are paid.

Any enterprise that year after year disburses all of its profits in dividends is headed for financial trouble. Prudence dictates that a portion of each year's profits be retained and used in business.

These retained earnings enable a business to pay at least a part of the cost of the constant need for better equipment and additional capacity.

Profits are necessary for business growth. And business growth creates more jobs. Thus profits retained in a growing business benefit employees, shareholders and customers.

Far away fields may look greener

"Far away fields may look greener to those who cannot see. Here in Ontario we have the 'green fields' that are the envy of the world. In these green fields are everything that the vacationer could possibly desire: mighty waters and quiet-ones, rugged hills and peaceful valleys, history and progress, romance and rest, fish and fowl, far and flower. To know Ontario Better is to find that it is best—and it's just outside your garden gate."

On Tuesday afternoon, June 19th, the W.M.S. is invited to be guests of the Nanticoke W.M.S., when Rev. Gerald Elliott of The Six Nations Reserve will be the speaker.
