By Keith Richardson

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture held in Toronto on November 13th at the Royal York Hotel, reports of the meeting to the President, Lloyd Jasper, stated that there will be an appreciable rise in farm income in 1957. He developed and strengthened our marketing agencies, co-operatives, medical insurance services, our Federation units at all levels and all other affiliate organizations. He called upon "Year" and endeavoured to improve the positions of the various marketing groups.

Those who attended this annual meeting from Haldimand were the County Director, Russell Haire, Mr. Geo. Ridley, Mrs. John Farrell, Mr. A. E. Laidman and Mrs. Allan Murray.

The Cream Producers Annual Meeting in Toronto on November 13th at the Royal York Hotel, reports of the meeting to the President, Lloyd Jasper, stated that there will be an appreciable rise in farm income in 1957.

Prof. Campbell of Economics Department of O.A.C. spoke on Farm Accounting. He stated that an efficient farm accounting system will show the farmer the weak spots in his farm set-up. Good farm management is necessary with prices as they are today. Farm management associations and farm management schools can be set up at the request of farmers to help them with their farm management problems.

The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow spoke at the noon luncheon. He emphasized that high quality milk should be produced regardless of the price that is to be made.

Through a grant from the Ontario Cream Producers Marketing Board, the United Co-operatives of Ontario have placed on the market a new butter package—a wax carton which contains four individually wrapped quarter pounds of butter. These are said to prove most popular with the housewife.

Thursday, November 29th is the Annual Meeting of the Haldimand County Federation of Agriculture at the Youth Centre, Kohler. Dr. E. G. Weed Seeds Are Terrific Travellers

Nature, in her unceasing effort to create new life, has many ways of spreading seeds—weed seeds as well as those of wheat and vegetables, says the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Many seeds, such as those of the common dandelion and those of the tiny parashute which enables them to be carried long distances by the wind. Some of the weeds whose seeds are scattered by the wind are mustard or tumble and roll across the countryside at the whim of every wind, releasing their seeds as they go. Then there is the maple key which is equipped with two aeroplane wings on which it travels long distances on a windy day.

Many plants use water as a means of travel and the seeds of such weeds as the dock, chicory and ragwort are carried far afield by streams and spring freshets.

Some plants are hitchhikers, attaching themselves by hooks to the fur and hairs of animals, the clothing of humans and to moving vehicles. This type of weed includes burdock, hound's tongue and the stickyweed and ragwort. Rinds also aid nature in her work of distributing seeds.

Most of our common weeds are of European origin. In the early days of settlement in Canada they were brought here as impurities in seed, in straw used for packing in some cases, as ornamental or garden plants. Now they are scattered across the country in shipments of mill and wheat and feed grains. Roots and seeds escape operations, and most serious are the alfalfa root, the soil as impurities in poorly cleaned or uncleaned seed grain and grass seeds.

AID TO HUNGARIANS

The Red Cross so far has successfully handled more than 25,000 Hungarian Refugees who have straggled by wagon and on foot to camps in Austria, Dick Gluns, public relations director of the Canadian Red Cross Society, said at Toronto, on Monday, November 12th. He flew to Vienna with the first shipment of Canadian relief supplies at the end of October.

Mrs. Jones introduced the speaker, Mrs. K. W. C. Dean of Caledonia, who gave a very interesting and informative talk on Venezuela, illustrated with beautiful coloured pictures. We were first introduced to beauty spots in Trinidad which lies just north of Venezuela.
