Just in case there may be some local hockey enthusiasts who have been wondering where Roy Edwards is this season, we hasten to tell you he is down in Fort Wayne, on the International League, throwing pucks out of his cage in a fashion that has the local fans in an uproar. Of Course, this is good news to us. We'll admit we lost track of Roy temporarily but the sport pages of the daily papers are now singing out his praises and it would appear his ambition of making the National League, in the not too distant future, are exceptionally bright.

On the subject of hockey, we loyal "Red" Kelly fans are not unhappy in the knowledge that his return to the Detroit Red Wings after being out with an injury, put new spirit into that club. Red, too, has been adding to his points in recent games, all of which adds emphasis to the fact he is one of the great hockey players of all time.

We hear disturbing reports that Port Dover is eyeing the Jarvis Hockey Club with envious eyes and would like nothing better than to bolster their team with some of the classy performers from Jarvis that brought a championship here last year. We're not too well informed concerning this situation and, in fact, do no want to be. Suffice it to say here is another illustration of Norfolk looking to Haldimand when they need a prop.

Maybe you wondered what happened the wailing siren a week ago last Saturday at 12 o'clock noon. We did. Finally the truth is out. Pete Banks it seems, snared a pair of pigeons in the belfry and must have figured he would de-feather the birds with the fire siren. It seems more than the feathers left the pigeons. In fact there was nothing left but blood, sweat and tears. And, in addition, the siren, after getting mixed up in that conglomeration refused to let out a sound. Pete was hesitant to reveal who had happened and the result was the siren was out of order for a week. Fortunately only one fire developed in the interval. Ex-Chief Elliott sensed something was wrong and with the help of his crew disengaged the pigeon bones so once again the siren is in business. We'll bet Pete will pick his birds by hand from now on.

Just one week from Saturday the Lions Club Turkey Jamboree and Car Draw takes place. The Turkey Jamboree and Car Draw, if nothing else, reminds us that Christmas is just around the corner and the end of the year is just beyond that. It strikes us that for some reason the years are going faster than they used to. In the meantime we'll try and get everybody a turkey next Saturday night (Dec. 14th) and hope somebody will be happier when they win a brand new automobile.

WINTER EQUIPMENT FOR THE MOTORIST

Experienced drivers usually carry a few items of special winter equipment. Although rarely used, it is worth its weight in gold when needed. They carry chains, windshield scraper, shovel, a bag of sand or salt, and a stout rope.

The equipment on their cars will be in good order—windshield wipers, defroster and ignition systems. In their cars you'll always find a couple of rags and some newspaper of paper towels to clean up windshields and headlights.

Safe Driving Week December 1st to 7th

The vast bulk of accidents involve our neighbours and friends—not criminally inclined, not deficient mentally—but normal, law abiding people who have let their attention wander, who forgot to keep an eye on the speedometer, who took a chance just once, either on the mechanical condition of their vehicles, the weather, the road or the traffic. Here are a few suggestions for all:

Safety Suggestions

1. Good traffic habits prevent accidents. Courtesy is a good traffic habit. Make courtesy your code of the road.

2. Know and obey all traffic regulations, signs and signals.

3. Drive and walk as though you have others drive and walk.

4. Drive and walk as though your life depended upon it—it does!

For Motorists

1. Courteous driving is safe driving. It costs nothing and is contagious.

2. Traffic signs, signals and rules of the road protect all traffic. Know them and obey them.

3. Even when it is rightfully yours be prepared to concede the Right of Way to avoid an accident.

4. Watch out for pedestrians. Be especially on the lookout for care-free children during the day and elderly pedestrians after dark.

5. Speed is fast for accidents is the number one killed. In good weather, consult your speedometer regularly—especially when approaching a curve. In anything less, slow down. Give yourself a chance to stop or turn.

6. Be Sure you can before you try to pass another vehicle. If there's the slightest doubt—leave it! A safer opportunity will come along.

7. Leave a safety margin between you and the car ahead—and if another driver is following you closely leave even more. You may have to stop for both of you! Under good conditions one car length for every ten miles an hour of speed has been found to be a minimum safe following distance.

8. Park only where it is safe and convenient to do so. Never impede other traffic.

9. A passenger bus stopped at the side of the road may be unloading passengers. Someone may step in your path. Slow down. Be alert.

For Pedestrians

1. Traffic signs and signals are for pedestrians as well as motorists. Be sure to heed them. If you are facing a red light, wait. It will only be a few seconds before the light changes.

2. Cross only at intersections.

3. Defying a ton or more of moving, metal, controlled only by about a square foot of contact with the pavement, is foolhardy.

Remember, a driver must see you, react, brake the vehicle and bring it to a stop.

He needs a chance to miss you.

4. Never step out from around a parker vehicle.

5. Before entering the travelled portion of the roadway—look left, look right, then look left again to be sure all is clear.

6. Before you step into the road, be sure you have time to cross in safety.

7. Where no sidewalks exist, walk facing traffic, on the left. Step off the road when vehicles approach.

8. Carrying parcels or umbrellas, always be sure you can see where you are going—and to right and left.

9. Drivers see you by reflected light at night. Dark clothing is practically invisible under these conditions. Remember, a driver cannot miss what he cannot see.

For Children

1. Always obey traffic officers, school crossing guards and all signs and signals.

2. Stop at the curb. Look left, then right, then left again to be sure you can cross in safety.

3. Cross only at intersections and only when the way is clear.

4. Play in safe places away from traffic.

5. Know the safe way to school, to church, to the store, etc., and use it.

6. Never roller skate or ride your wagon, scooter or sleigh in the street.

7. Where there are no sidewalks walk on the left facing oncoming traffic.

8. Never hitch a ride on the back of a truck or car.

9. Traffic regulations are for bicycles too. Learn the rules and obey them.

10. Never run into the street.

For Parents

1. Support the safety lessons your child learns in school.

2. Always set a good example for your children. They will imitate you.

3. Don't leave your children's safety to chance. Be sure they know and follow sensible safety rules.

4. Before you permit your children to use bicycles or wagons, be sure they are in safe condition and be sure the children know how to use them safely.

Grey Cup Final Eastern Victory

The greatest spectacle in Canadian sport, the Grey Cup Final, splashed color all over staid Toronto last Saturday. The final score — Hamilton Tiger Cats 32, Winnipeg Blue Bombers 7—was engraved on the hearts of thousands of celebrants from all over the land.

The Crowds began whooping it up on Friday night but the city was really taken by storm when the Grey Cup parade Saturday morning thrilled an estimated 500,000 curb-side spectators—and uncounted thousands on nation-wide TV—with its bands and pretty girls, floats and more pretty girls. British Columbia alone had a score of floats featuring the B.C. Centennial in 1958—and also had Miss Grey Cup, 18-year-old Carole Lucas of Burnaby, B.C., chosen from 13 beauties as the 1957 title-holder.

The game brought the Grey Cup back to the east after three straight victories by Edmonton.

Haldimand County farmers are soon to be under the direction of the Ontario Hog Producers Co-operative. An order was passed by the Co-operative on Nov. 15th stating that effective on December 9th, 1957, all producers' hogs shall be transported to and assembled at one of the assembly yards operated by the marketing agency. The assembly yards most readily accessible to Haldimand farmers are the Ancaster Livestock Sales Barn at Ancaster and the Ontario Stock Yards at Toronto.

The application of these orders will assure free access to a competitive market for hog producers and the abolition of chaotic rate conditions for shippers.

Although for some producers these yards may not be as conveniently situated as previous markets, they are open markets. Processors will now be competitively bidding for hogs, a situation which will ensure the producer getting the highest possible price for his hogs.

—o—

Haldimand Wheat producers will go to the polls on January 17, to decide whether they want a wheat marketing plan put into effect or not.

The Ontario Wheat Producers Association feel that a marketing plan should put the price of wheat nearer to its actual value. We all know how low the price of wheat was this summer and with the rising cost of production few farmers will be able to produce wheat at a profit.

—o—

The annual meeting of the Haldimand Federation of Agriculture was held at the Rural Youth Centre, Kohler, on Thursday, Nov. 28th.

Many reports were received from committees which have been active during the past year.

Resolutions were passed concerning the number of non-resident hunting licenses sold in the county, the violators of hunting regulations, trespassers on private property and the percentage vote required to establish marketing agencies under marketing legislation.

The speakers after the turkey dinner were Mr. Cecil Belyea, farm economist of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture and Mr. Ray Hergott, Director of Field Services of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. These two men gave a joint presentation based on making a committee or an organization more effective. The speakers pointed out in detail the many different steps which a person or a committee must take to ensure that an idea or a project is first, the right idea and secondly, that it is put into effect successfully.

Other who spoke briefly were the chairman, Mrs. Geo. Ridley, President of the Haldimand Federation of Agriculture, Her Honour Judge Kinnear, Mrs. John Charlton, who spoke for Dr. John Charlton, Assistant to the Federal Minister of Agriculture, and Rev. R. D. Trask who opened the annual meeting.

The secretary mentioned two dates which are important to Haldimand farmers. First on December 9th, all hogs shipped from producers in Haldimand must be assembled at Ontario Hog Producers Co-operative assembly yards. Second, January 17 is the date that wheat producers in Ontario go to the polls to decide whether they want a marketing plan or not.

GARNET W. I.

With an excellent attendance, Garnet W.I. enjoyed their annual Family Night in the Sunday School room on Nov. 22nd, with our ministers, their wives and our school teachers as guests.

After a delicious pot-luck dinner, an interesting program was featured.

The W.I. Ode was sung and the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. The president, Mrs. M. Phillips welcomed the guests and led in a sing-song. Several members presented a skit to the accompaniment of Mrs. S. Graham. Rev. A. G. Macpherson, as the guest speaker, shared with the group the experience of the trip taken by he and his family to Newfoundland earlier this year. Mr. R. Doughty rendered two solos. A vote of thanks was tendered to all who assisted with the program by Mrs. W. Harrop. All joined in singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," and the Institute Anthem. The meeting closed by singing "The Queen."

The next meeting will be held on Dec. 12th. A gift exchange will be a feature of the program. Mrs. G. Cherry will convene the Christmas program.

There's Real Fun For Everyone in Ontario

When nature blankets the rolling hills whitely, turning much of the Province into a natural winter sports arena, Ontario goes outdoors to play.

Near most urban centres are snowy ski slopes, and ski clubs whose members extend friendly welcome. Roads to good ski hills are kept open for motorists; bus lines and railways run week-end "skiers specials." Kindred sports will be skating, snowshoeing, tobogganing, ice-boating and ice-fishing. Winter carnivals, the crowning of Snow Queens, Santa Claus parades, snowshoeing and skating races, dog sled and ice-fishing derbies will be feature events. Communities with skating and curling rinks will stage skating carnivals, hockey schedules and bonspiels.

The Farmer's Corner . . . .

BY BRUCY

From all over Ontario is coming a cry of hard times in the agricultural field. However, the fantastic fact which must be faced is that most of these farmers do not know where they are losing money. In most cases these farmers do not keep records. Farmers who follow a no-record practice say that books are only a waste of time. They still admit that they are short of cash. What business corporation would be a success if it did not keep accurate records of all its operations? Absolutely none. Then how can a farmer operate his business on the profit-making side of the ledger without records? I'm sure that he cannot.

—o—

Records themselves will not make the farmer any money, but from the facts which are exposed to him by these records, the farmer is able to rearrange his business operations and eliminate the losing enterprises. This is a basis for planning the following year's organizations.

—o—

Since the first of the year is drawing near, I can see no better time to start keeping records. The Economics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture supplies free of charge, record books set up especially for farm records. These can be obtained on request through your local Agricultural Office by mail or in person. Maybe you feel that keeping records is a laborious task, but it is not. One very simple method that I have personally carried out required approximately five minutes per week of my time and one half an hour per month of my mother's time. There was a separate drawer in the kitchen cupboards for this use. Most of the farm purchases, in this era, are recorded on bills. A few are not. We keep a small ten-cent note pad in this drawer and when I came from town I could soon jot down all these expenses for which I lacked bills. Then about once a month, mother recorded all the expenses in the farm account book. At the end of the year we always knew which enterprise was strong and made the profit.

—o—

It is very interesting to note from a report of farm business analysis on a large group of dairy general farms that the highest average income of the ten highest farms was $4,822.00, while the average of the lowest ten farms was only $739.00—a difference of $4,184.00 This was mainly because the lower bracket farmer had not culled out and re-arranged his enterprises to get the higher income. With the account book figures as a guide, each one of the farmers in the low category would be able to boost his income. Thus, the time used in keeping records can return extremely high dividends. Now the question is, do you know which group of these farmers you belong to? It would certainly pay to find out, wouldn't it? This is the time to start. Get your Farm Account Book from your local Agricultural Representative today.

An almost identical copy of these regulations, known as General Interprovincial and Export Regulations, are authorized under the Agricultural Products Marketing Act of Canada. Order No. 16, passed by the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board, directs that no person shall buy or sell any hogs which have not been transported to or assembled at one of the assembly yards operated by the marketing agency. Shippers are invited to get in touch with the local association of the county in which they are situated on any problem relative to the marketing of hogs.
