Commonwealth Chiefs Meeting In London

Leaders of 10 Commonwealth countries meeting in London heard a call from Canada's new prime minister, John Diefenbaker, for a conference on trade matters.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced he hopes Commonwealth finance ministers will visit Canada late in September to decide "when, where and whether" a full-scale Commonwealth trade meeting can be held. The finance ministers are to meet in Washington Sept. 24-27 in connection with International Monetary Fund discussions, and the Canadian prime minister suggested they then go to Ottawa.

Meanwhile Commonwealth statesmen representing Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, the new independent state of Ghana, and the federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland—made a forward-looking study of Russian policies, disarmament, the spread of Communism in the Middle East.The Baghdad pact and the Far East.

Retirement Problem

If the nation's farmers adopted the idea of compulsory retirement at 65, "we would all probably starve to death," says William A. Mercer.

The industrialist, writing in the current issue of Health Magazine, organ of the Health League of Canada, writes further that society would eventually rebel at the prospect of supporting financially the steadily growing pool of idle people that would result from universal compulsory retirement at 65.

The article is an aftermath of the first Ontario conference of medical and industrial authorities on the problems of gain. At that conference in Toronto recently the issue of compulsory retirement at 65 came under strong attacks.

THE BLACK BASS

"Inch for inch and pound for pound the gamest fish that swims." Back in 1881 Dr. Henshall, writing in his book of the Black Bass made this statement and in all the intervening years, I am doubtful if anyone has been able to successfully challenge that statement.

Black Bass (Micropterus dolomicu) is a pugnacious looking customer and his looks are a definite clue to his character. His actions are unpredictable, which in great measure accounts for his reputation as the most sought after fish in the angler's book.

His distribution is widespread, almost any habitable stream or lake in North America has a fair population of either of the two species, Smallmouth or Largemouth Bass, and don't take any heed of that old chestnut that the Largemouth are the females.

His choice of waters are the warmer ones but being so unpredictable one is liable to find him in the colder waters normally considered Trout waters.

His diet, likewise is varied but when available consists of almost 50 per cent crayfish although minnows, bugs, grasshoppers, birds, mice, young squirrels, frogs, worms, leeches or anything that looks at all edible he does not despise.

In all probability this varied diet coupled with his pugnacious disposition is mainly responsible for the angling success of the myriads of lures offered to the fisherman. At times anything you may throw at him will get a rise; but at other times, no matter what you may tempt him with, all you get for your pains is a disdainful Bass sneer, as temperamental as any Prima Donna in this respect. But it is quite a different story when he is on the feed. OhBoy! Action then a swift and hard. I have often experienced this trait, he will strike like mad at first in no time one could take a limit catch, then, as though someone in Bass command pulled the whistle cord for quitting time, he quits, and nothing you can do will get a rise out of him.

Poppa Bass is the head of the family, baby sitter included. When the biological urge and water temperatures are right, he starts to construct his redd or nest, which may consist of a hollowed-out space on the bottom in sand, pebbles or even silt. Here he waits cruising about and overlording his domain until Mrs. Bass shows up as she undoubtedly will. Not only one but perhaps several Mrs. Bass will be attracted to his home.

With a display like a strutting peacock the nuptials are confirmed and the business of laying eggs and fertilization begins. Then, true to his role of overlord, he drives the female away and begins his vigil or guarding the eggs and fanning them to give them oxygen to complete the cycle.

This goes on until about a week elapses from the time the eggs are hatched and the youngsters are able to feed themselves. Then he may decide that a few mouthfuls of young Bass are just what he needs to assuage his own hunger. Let anything come near his nest at this time and a fury of wrath will be upon it, be it an predator or an angler's lure. It is the period when he is most vulnerable to attack and any angler who experiences this fury will be certain to agree with Dr. Henshall's statement that "Inch for inch and pound for pound the gamest fish that swims."

June was not a very good month in which to harvest the hay crop and no wonder. According to the precipitation figures for the weather station at the Rural Youth Centre the rainfall for the month was almost five times as much as in the same month last year. Of course, more than half of this fell during the one storm on Thursday and Friday, June 27th and 28th. The total rainfall for the six months ending with June of this year is just about an inch more than for the same period of last year.

Orange Lodge Held Parade At Simcoe

Simcoe was packed full last Saturday for the 267th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. Orange Lodges from many parts of Ontario and the United States joined together for a parade that was said to be two miles long.

Heading the parade was County Marshal Roy Wintemute of the Norfolk Orange Lodge, riding a white charger. The parade moved off from Wellington Park, south on Norfolk Street through the business section of the town and returned on Colborne Street. Several thousand people joined the route.

A wreath was laid at the carillon tower by Rt. Wor. Bro. W. H. Dawson, Grand Treasurer of Ontario West.

Guest speakers were Mr. Dawson, Mrs. Eva Hunter, Deputy Grand Mistress of L.C.B.A., Hamilton, Past Grand Master of British America Brooks, and Evans Knowles, M.P., for Norfolk.

On the Farm Front

By Haldimand Harry

With few exceptions the army worm outbreak in Haldimand has been a rather mild one. There have been a few fields where the population was sufficiently high to warrant immediate spraying with aldrin but in the larger majority of cases the worms were not present in sufficient numbers to make it worth while. The end of the danger from the first brood for this year is now about past. There can still be found some broods later this season and it could be possible for one or them to cause some trouble, but for this reason farmers are being asked to keep a close watch on their fields and if any damage is found it should be reported to the Department of Agriculture office at Cayuga.

—o—

Tomato growers in Haldimand would also be on the watch for blight on their crop. The presence of this disease has been confirmed on tomato plants in Waterford, Simcoe and Woodstock area and it is making its appearance on both the foliage and the fruit. Full information on the sprays to use is given in the 1957 Protection Calendar for Vegetables which is available free of charge from your agricultural representative.

—o—

The control of late blight is not easy to obtain and requires rather close attention over quite a long period of time. However, it may mean the difference between having a crop or having no crop. Late blight is a disease capable of wiping out the whole week overnight unless the necessary precautions are taken. Be sure to get one of the spray calendars and follow the directions carefully.

—o—

The month of May was the first in this year when the production of greenery butter in Haldimand was greater than for the corresponding month of last year. Even then the increase was a very small one, the month this year the production was 246,725 pounds as compared with 236,347 pounds a year ago. The total production so far this year in Haldimand is, of course, well below last year. So far for the five months ending with May, Haldimand butter has turned out 679,906 lbs. as compared with 1,040,895 lbs. in the same period a year ago. On a provincial basis the output for May was up 2.5 per cent over the five months it is down by 16.7 per cent.

—o—

The heavy production of poultry meat it seems to continue. During the month in June over 2½ million broilers and roasters passed through the registered stations in Canada. Then, in the same week there was ¼ million more pounds of chicken over four months in weight. Almost a million pounds of fowl and slightly less than a million pounds of turkey sold through the plants. For the first half of 1957 there was well over 50 pounds of poultry meat marketed for each man, woman and child in Canada.

—o—

Farm credit is something like weather and fire. It is a very good servant but a terrible master. For the farmer in farm folk should learn how to use credit, learn not to be afraid of it but always to keep it under control. It should be looked upon as a tool in much the same manner as a new power equipment or fertilizer of some variety or newer feeding methods. Properly used they can make for better living.

Canada Bluegrass seed and Timothy seed is still a valuable crop, a crop well worth looking after. Evidently the word has gone out that the bottom has dropped out of the market for these seeds and that they are not worth looking after. According to the latest information available the carryover of both of these crops is not as high as it was anticipated and the crop is far from being a "give-away" proposition.

Haldimand Match To Be Held Near Dunnville

At a recently held meeting of the Officers and Directors of the Haldimand Plowmen's Association plans for the 1957 Plowing Match were advanced considerably. It was decided among other things to retain the regular date for the Match, namely the fourth Thursday in October which this year falls on October 25 and will be during the week immediately following the International Plowing Match in the neighbouring county of Norfolk.

Because of the proximity of the International Plowing Match to the western side of the county the directors are planning to hold the match this year as near the Eastern end of the county as possible, and an excellent site at the Northern limits of the town of Dunnville has been selected. This will be on the property of Mr. Lorne Dickhout on the corner of Cedar Street and the Logan Road.

The Directors also decided to accept the terms of the Eatons of Canada special for juniors. This will be in the form of a trophy for the best plowed land by a junior competitor between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years. The winner of this class providing he is within the age limit will be entitled to compete in the Eatons of Canada Junior Championship Class at the International Plowing Match in 1958.

The Directors also unanimously decided to again support the Junior Farmers with their Junior Match and also to sponsor a Home Plowing Competition similar to last year. It has been decided that the Junior Plowing Match will be held on the farm of Walter Awde in Walpole Township on Friday, September 13th, to represent the county in the International Plowing Match which will be selected at this match.

There is every likelihood of an upward surge in Plowing Match work as a result of the International being held so close to Haldimand County.

Haldimand Juniors Play Host To 4-H Club Members

On the evening of July 11, 1957, the Haldimand Junior Farmers' Association played host to the Haldimand County 4-H Club Members by inviting 4-H'ers to their annual twilight meeting which was held on the farm of George Lint, R.R. No. 3, Cayuga. Mr. Lint is a prominent breeder of Ayrshire cattle.

There were 120 people present to judge the two classes of Ayrshire cows. Mr. L. W. Roger, Secretary-Treasurer, Ayrshire Cattle Club of Ontario was the official judge for the evening. Winners of the judging competition were:

4-H Club Girls—1st, Ilene Walton; 2nd, Grace Lint; 3rd, Sandra Weaver.

4-H Club Boys—1st, Byron Young; 2nd, Allan Winger; 3rd, Robert Fulsom.

Junior Farmer, Girls—Tied for first were: Ruth Hewitt, Lois Lint, Pearl Oster.

Junior Farmer, Boys—1st, Howard Hewitt; tied for second were Allan Murray, Grant Richardson, Jack Biggar.

Following the judging, the group moved to the front lawn where Mr. Roger gave an address on cattle breeding and some of the problems encountered. Mr. Jack Biggar, the vice-president of the Haldimand Juniors presided for this part of the program. Ivan Lofthouse led in community singing and assisted Wm. Oster and Pearl Oster with a program of games. Cake and ice cream were served at the close of the meeting.

OBITUARY

MRS. HERBERT FITCH

A former resident of Jarvis, Mrs. Herbert (Mary) Fitch, passed away at Tillsonburg, on Monday, in her 59th year. Her passing came as a result of two strokes within recent weeks.

The late Mrs. Fitch was a native of Otley, County of Yorkshire, England. She resided with her husband in Jarvis for a period of twelve years prior to moving to Courtland where she completed a new home south of Tillsonburg.

Besides her husband she leaves one son, Robert, of Goderich.

The funeral is being held from the Ostrander Funeral Home, Tillsonburg, at 2 p.m. today.

IN MEMORIAM

FIELD—In loving memory of my husband Charles Kenneth, who passed away July 20th, 1956.

And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking;
Thoughts of him are always near,
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

Remembered by his wife Evelyn, son Leonard and daughter Margaret. 27p

Drowning Tragedy Strikes Two Families In Woodhouse Twp.

Two teenage girls were victims of drowning in Lake Erie, near Selkirk, on Sunday afternoon.

They were Rosemary Agnes Mayo, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton F. Mayo, and Lois Jean Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mason, both of R.R. 1 Port Dover.

The girls were with an uncle, Ray Williams, who almost lost his life in an attempt to rescue the victims. The girls, apparently, stepped off a rock ledge in the lake into a deep hole, and being unable to swim sank out of sight. Noticing their plight Williams called for help and went after the girls. He was unconscious when pulled from the water by John Horne, of Hamilton and Howard Daniels, of St. Catharines. Artificial respiration was applied to Williams for almost fifteen minutes before he revived.

Dr. W. Walker of Dunnville, was Coroner and Dr. Ralph Wentz of Cayuga attended at the scene. Provincial Police were summoned from the Cayuga Detachment.

The Mason girl is survived by two sisters, Barbara and Wanda, and one brother, James.

The Mayo girl leaves two sisters, Julia and Eleanor and one brother, James.

Funeral services for both of the victims will be held at the Thomson Funeral Home, Port Dover, at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Main Street Re-Surfaced

Contractors for the Ontario Department of Highways re-surfaced main street from the C.N.R. Station to the south end of town last week-end. The job was completed in little more than one day to give evidence of the mechanical advances in road building in recent years. The smooth surface has already been an inducement for some motorists to try it out as a speedway which actually adds to the hazards of the narrow pavement in the face of ever increasing traffic.

Highlights of The Scout Jamboree

Approximately 25 per cent of the Canadian Contingent are visiting friends and relatives in England and will not require hospitality in Surrey.

At the conclusion of the pre-Jamboree hospitality period, Canadian Scouts in Surrey will be moved by special train to the J-I-M site.

Some Strictly Canadian Features

The headquarters area of the Canadian Contingent to J-I-M will have some distinctively Canadian features in that it will include a large styrofoam igloo loaned by the Canadian Government's Department of Northern Affairs and fully equipped with furs, eskimo utensils and other items loaned by friends of Scouting, two 16-foot teepees and eight totem poles made by London, Ontario, Scouts; two 6-foot grizzly bear totem poles loaned by the British Columbia Provincial Museum and a large sign of carved wood bearing the word "Canada," with maple leaves at either end.

Two Special Items

Rover Scouts of the Fifth Tillsonburg (Ontario) Crew have shipped a special gateway to England for erection at the Moot site. It consists of sections of rail fence flanking a gateway topped by a triangular structure enclosing pictures of a Conestoga wagon, hydro towers and tobacco fields representing the Waterloo, Niagara and Tillsonburg areas.

Many Earning Their Passage

Financing their expenses to the Jamboree has posed a problem for many Jamboree participants. Many Scouts have worked long and hard to earn money for the trip. Among the jobs undertaken have been baby sitting, snow shovelling, lawn mowing, paper routes, and other after-school jobs. Inventing some quite novel methods of earning money. One Jamboree Scout Leader, a college student, worked nights as a telegraph operator.

Already on Their Way

Some Scouts have been on their way to the Jamboree for several weeks—74 Australian Scouts sailed from their homeland on May 14th and arrived in England on June 19, even then they were not the first overseas Scouts to arrive for the Jamboree—the Trinidad Scouts, 36 of them reached England on June 17th, two days before the Australians; 42 Scouts from British Guiana arrived June 28th, eight from Gambia on July 1st, 21 from Bermuda on July 10th and on that same day 144 New Zealanders arrived.

From now on the contingents will be arriving thick and fast. Ten ports will be used by the contingents arriving by sea, Dover, Tilbury, Southampton, Plymouth, Folkstone, Leith, Holyhead, Newhaven, Harwich and Liverpool. Altogether some 22 planes are sending contingents by air and the Canadians will be the first of the air-borne Scouts to arrive in England and, in the words of Jamboree officials, will be "the largest Scout air-lift ever."

By Bus

The 120 Scouts from Iran are driving their own buses overland to arrive in England by the end of July.
