When It Was Really Cold In Britain

Moustaches froze stiff, three-inch icicles hung from horses' noses, trees were split by the frost... On the night of December 18th, 1813, the Thames began to freeze so solidly that a fair was held on it with all sorts of amusement booths...

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I lighten clothes? A. One method is to soak them over night in a solution of one quart water to one teaspoonful of cream of tartar.

They Use Snow Instead of Ice

By Anne Ashley

We raced down the juniper slopes on the north side of the Marble Mountain... They used snow instead of ice for the race.

ANNE HIRST Your Family Counselor

"Dear Anne Hirst: If more wives would keep on practicing half the charm and wit they used to land their men, I probably the divorce courts would be only half as popular.

"Where is the vow 'for better or for worse' today? Women seem to see marriage as a trial affair, something to send back if it doesn't suit them. It is often a shock for a bride to learn how little she knows the man she married; after the honeymoon he sheds his cloak of self-righteousness and destroys the very dreams he created.

"My husband was an only son and as spoiled as usual. I started catering to him, too, and I've never stopped. If I hadn't loved him so, I couldn't have done it; but he proved worth the trouble.

"I am an outgoing person, he is not. I played on his vanity and his ego, and soon he began getting a kick out of his success with friends. Today he's a used tact.

"When our children came along, he was violently jealous until I built him up so fast in his own estimation that jealousy died a natural death; he has never doubted since that he is monarch in his own home. I set the example of the example of respecting him, and it worked.

"My husband is really grandest person I ever knew. When we married I was a widow of 24 and had a wayward youngster of five who was a handful. The man came to love us both, and the straightened out my boy through understanding and discipline I've always loved. How grateful I would be!

"What a pity a girl doesn't know the power she holds over the man who loves her! It involves forgetting herself, devoting energy and wit to keep...

"There is no wisdom like that born of experience. If you have solved a difficult situation, tell Anne Hirst how you did, and help other troubled folk who face the same situation. Address her at Box 1, 123 Eighteenth St., New Toronto, Ont.

"I say, old man, what happened to that parrot of yours?" asked one neighbor of another.

"Oh, I married, you know, and after a few weeks it just died," was the reply.

"Jealousy, I suppose?" "Not really, it couldn't stand the competition."

Hand Laundry

Yep, the drought's caused a lot of headaches out in Kansas. Lino Constantinos, above, of Nicosia, Cyprus, is just one of 72 coed victims of the College of Emporia. Since mid-October, the girls have had to resort to old-fashioned washbubs and scrubbing boards. The dormitory's two modern automatic washers are shut down on duration of the water shortage.
