That there is something to the Advanced Registry of Swine in a practical sort of way has been brought out again by a report of those litters which completed their tests during the there months of May, June and July. Actually across Canada there were 197 litter tests completed during this period. The litters averaged 10 pigs each. They went on test at 81 days of age and were marketed at 189 days. The average feed consumed per pound of gain was 4.49 lbs. and the average across score was 79. In Ontario there were 80 litters on test and while it required on the average two days longer to get these pigs to market their feed.

This method of testing swine. Is comparable to R.O.P. in cattle except that it takes into account not only the amount of feed required but also the time it takes to turn the pigs off and the quality of the carcas that is produced. There is certainly plenting in produced. There is certainly plenting in the produced. There is certainly plenting in the set in this country. This is one of the best methods to use in maintaining and improving quality.

Some rather conclusive information. Soil sample boxes are altered in the report recently issued by the Ontario Beef Pasture Improvement Committee. These show that the average amount of beef produced per acre on the fertilized plot was in the prevince. Five years results are included in the report recently issued the average amount of beef produced per acre on the fertilized plot was in the except of the cost per pound of gain.

Farmwise Fire Tips On Living in Country

Eternal vigilance, as every smart and prudent farmer in Canada knows, is the price of fire prevention. Otherwise, the fruits of months of toil and the profits of years may vanish.

For every Canadian, and particularly for the thousands now enjoying suburban or country living, without the "round-the-corner" protection of a civic or full-time fire department, what the fire-wise farmer does to avoid giving fire a place to start is worth a good hard look:

1. LIGHTNING—See that the rods are well and truly grounded. If their use has an insurance benefit, it is imperative that the installation and grounding comply with provincial regulation.

The royal visit in October means amnestly, in the form of shorter sent-ences, for thousands of inmates of jails.

On a cool fall day why not try real French onion soup. First brown plenty of thinly sliced onions in butter, then add to a well-seasoned soupstock of bouillon and cook until the onions are tender, but not soft.

Serve the soup steaming hot, garnished with croutons and grated cheese or with toasted slices of French bread which have been sprinkled with grated cheese and browned in the broiler.
