Gordon Sinclair, writing in Liberty
He wants the Deity translated to magazine, made much of the fact that him in terms of Gordon Sinclair he had been to church for the last and not in terms of "Hell-fire and time and would never go again. We damnation!" In this respect we are noticed that Mr. Sinclair did not refute the Deity or go so far as to re-fute the Christian path. All he said was that he received nothing from the doctrines (as represented in his church) and would not attend

If we accept the fact that the Church never changes then Mr. Sinclair may have something but churches are always changing!

Mr. Sinclair is like a lot of other people who, when the machine is not running to their liking, will take off and travel their own path. They give no concrete direction to their fellow man and have nothing to contribute to the spiritual stream of life and, in the long run, end up fouling the water rather than in helping to purify it!

You Gordon, are the temple! You are the answer to all the facts of the way to God! Attending church is just the "stamp of approval" of these things! Churches Gordon, are man-made! God made you and me and they and them... He didn't make churches or isms or sects... or circumstance Man made those things Gordon!

The Church is just a track. Going to church... or not going to church... or not going to church... won't change the end result. Being purify it!

Do I care if Gordon Sinclair goes to a church? The answer is Yes!
Now I don't care a good dam if his Church is a building embracing Gothic arches and a Carillon or if it is just the High Heavens and a secret place on the good earth. What does matter is that a man makes a public attestation and a contribution. Better to build! Better to enter a Church of your choice and rectify, rather than condemn. Lift up your hand for the good of those who do to church or not going to church won't change the end result. Being a Catholic or a Witness or a Catholic or a Witness or a Protestant is man-made stuff! Do you think God judges the cloth by the colour? But Gordon we have to church is one way of correcting some of the evil of this world at least we like to think so. and Gordon we'll place a dollar bet secretly in your heart you'd like to think so too!

See you in church soon eh?
