County of Haldimand

NOTICE is hereby given that I have complied with Section 9 of The Voters' List Act, 1951, and that I have posted up at my office at Nanticoke, on the 3rd day of December, 1958, the list of all persons entitled to vote in the said Municipality at Municipal Elections, and that such list remains there for inspection.

And I hereby call upon all voters to make immediate proceedings to have any errors or omissions corrected according to law, the last day for appeal being the 19th day of December, 1958.

Dated this 3rd day of December, 1958.

CHARLES COX,

Clerk of the Township of Walpole

The next time we take off for a couple of days we're going to turn the key in the lock to this column. The stuff that appeared here last week was nothing but a pack of lies and just goes to show how far some so-called assistant editors will go to discredit the truth.

We went north last week—not to hunt as some people would infer to try and get our perspective back. And, we reiterate what we have said many times before. If you can't sleep at night, if you get up in the morning tasting out of season oysters if your friends (like Doc Austin) are getting on your nerves take off for a couple of days in Utopia, the northland of Ontario.

We'd never been north before except for an odd hunting trip when the snow covered the good earth and the pines were prettily decorated with pure white. We'd never seen the matchless beauty of the changing countryside while travelling along on well-plowed highways. Now we know what real beauty is. (We're referring to nature here, not women). And, the invigorating atmosphere around zero temperature. is something the Northern Chambers of Commerce should exploit. There's nothing quite like it. We're all pepped up for this turkey draw on Saturday night, the usual pre-Christmas parties, municipal elections and anything else that may come up in the immediate future.

We attended the commencement exercises at the West Haldimand High School, Hagersville, on Friday night and shared the satisfaction of the numerous students receiving diplomas, certificates, Scholarships and medals. We enjoyed too the all too brief remarks of Mr. F. J. Clute, Director of Guidance, Department of Education. He told the students they should approach their studies with 'intellectual curiosity' and to have the courage of their own convictions. He was repeating the need expressed by the Minister of Education for students to demonstrate individuality. A need most people recognize. But we were especially proud of the record of Miss Glenda Reicheld, of Jarvis. Her record at the Hagersville High School has been outstanding. She has headed her class in grades 9, 10, 11 and 12 and has had an 88 per cent average over those four terms. This year she won the Bruce Robertson Memorial Scholarship. This is certainly a proud record of achievement and makes some of our other championships in this area poor by comparison. We can only wish Glenda continued success in the future.

Well, we mentioned before something about the Turkey Jamboree this Saturday night. This affair has become something of an institution since inaugurated by the Lions Club a few years back. This seems to be the market for a good deal of the Christmas turkey consumed locally each Christmas and besides there is always that one extremely happy person who goes home the winner of the grand prize. This year somebody will go home with the knowledge they will receive a weekly pay check for a period of one year and will not have to work for it except to pick it up at the post office every Thursday. Since we can't win it we'll just have to share the joy of the lucky winner.

Was a future Prime Minister of Canada born last Monday morning? Well that is the claim of the proud father, namely Daniel Horvatis, General Manager of the famed Erie Senators. The father is training him in the way of politics already freely passing out cigars to all and sundry. Mrs. Horvatis and the potential future P.M. are doing nicely at the Norfolk General Hospital.

A bump heard in the east end one evening last week was not a spudnik landing on the moon, but merely Norm Graham landing on the bottom step of his stairway. Norm was returning downstairs after singing a lullaby to Dennis when he tucked him in his crib. The reverberation was heard all the way over to Grant Kett's in Hagersville and the victim of the fall is still carrying his bruises.

C.A.S. WELCOMES NEW DIRECTOR

Mr. R. Priestman ,new Local Director, was welcomed to the County. In his report to the Board members he stated that, "Statistically, the trend is downwards for the month of October." There were fewer protection cases handled, and fewer children in the care of the society. This is a reversal; the trend has been upwards for the last five or six months. More foster homes are available, but there is still a need for more, especially for foster parents willing to care for adolescents. In presenting the treasurer's report, Mr. Priestman indicated that half of the money spent by the Society in the past month had been paid for in the past month had been paid for

A brief summary of two or three cases handled during the month was also given to the Board. Two members of the staff are taking a training course this winter, and the members expressed approval and appreciation of this extra effort on their part. This course entails study after the day's work is completed.

Mrs. G. Field, Nanticoke, presented the secretary's report and Mrs. John Dawson presided at the meeting.

Reports on the progress of the annual drive for funds were presented to the November Board meeting of the Children's Aid Society by Mrs. C. Keenleyside of Dunnville and by Mr. David Banks of Hagersville. It was reported by both that the public response to the appeal had been very kind this year. It was suggested that this was the result of the Public Relations campaign which had been in effect for the past three years. Thanks were expressed to those people who had helped by canvassing for the campaign as well as to the general public who had contributed money and so assisted in the work of helping the neglected children in the county.

On behalf of the Property mittee, it was reported that for the proposed new office being advertised for and were in by December 9th.

The following members were Cayuga:Mrs. Ed Powell, Heinz. Mr. John Randolph, Alice Murphy; Dunnville: Keenleyside, Mrs. J. Dawson; R. Priestman; Hagersville: vid Banks; Nanticoke: Mrs. Kohler: Mrs. P. Bacher.

ON THE FARM FRONT

Brief Notes for the Busy Farmer

By Haldimand Harry

Even though winter is upon us there are still a few farm implements either out in the fields or standing in the barnyard. This is not the place for expensive equipment, that is, if the operator is to get the best use of the machine with the least possible cost for repairs and replacement. It should be pointed out that care taken now in properly housing the machines and seeing that they are properly stored will pay handsome dividends. Prof. Scott of the O.A.C. suggests that in addition to merely storing them, it is good business to thoroughly clean them and then to apply grease or a rust inhibitor to any exposed or wearing surfaces.

-oOo-

Prof. Scott also recommends that canvasses, fabrics and V-belts be removed and stored separately in a cool dry place. All bearings and fittings should be thoroughly lubricated to force out any moisture that might be present. Rubber tired machines should be blocked up to take the weight off the tires. If there is no room to place a piece of equipment inside a building and the machine has to be stored outside, it should be covered with a tarpaulin or plastic cover to keep out any damaging moisture. Furthermore it is good practice to follow the manufacturers instructions regarding the storage of any machine as given in the handbooks that usually accompany the machine.

-oOo-

According to Dr. Burgess of the Animal Husbandry Department at the O.A.C. the feeding of stilbesterol to beef cattle will increase the gain by 20 per cent and save on feed to the extent of about 15 per cent. Speaking last week at the annual meeting of the Haldimand Pure Beef Cattle and Swine Breeder's Association, Dr. Burgess claimed that it mattered little whether the stilbesterol was fed orally in the feed or implanted under the skin. Both methods have been approved for use in Canada now. It depends mostly on the convenience of using and the comparative cost of the form available.

-oOo-

Night schools are now under way and announcements are being made concerning the Winter Short Courses being arranged at the O.A.C. These include Agricultural Mechanics, with three separate sections (Shop, Farm Buildings and Rural Electrification and Tractor and Farm Machinery), Livestock, Quality Milk Production and lastly Soils and Land Use. These are quotas on all courses and it is a case of first come. first served.

When the quota has been filled no more applications will be accepted. Copies of the calendar together with the application form can be obtained either direct from the College or from your Agricultural Representative. In any case the application forms are to be sent to the local agricultural representative. December 15th is the last day for accepting applications. The courses open on December 29th and carry through to January 2nd.

-oOo-

A couple of new circulars have just been issued. The first of these is entitled "Whitewash" and gives some very valuable information of the mixing and preparation of this economical covering for the interior walls and ceilings of milk houses, stables and a wide variety of other buidings around the farm. The second circular deals with the installing of paved areas around the farm. It is entitled "Paving on the Farm" and gives rather full and complete information on the various phases of doing this type of work. It should fill a long felt need for something along this line as many farmers are interested in having their barnyards paved Copies of either one or both of these circulars can be had for the asking at the office of your agricultural representative.

-oOo-

The exports of livestock and livestock products during the past 11 months has been considerably ahead of the figure for the same period in 1957. For instance the figure for dressed beef was 59 per cent higher than last year; pork 58 per cent high er and lamb and mutton was 132 per cent higher. Slaughter cattle to the U.S. alone numbered 79,553 as compared with 56,968 a year ago. Feed ers were 375,912 or more than three times the number shipped in the same period in 1957. Even dairy cattle and purebreds were up slightly. This must have had a beneficial effect on the Canadian market.

-oOo-

Another list of boars approved under the Boar Premium Policy of the Ontario Department of Agriculture has just been issued. This covers the month of October and lists 69 boars that have passed inspection. These have been entered by 15 breeders across the province. Messrs. Alex Hedley and son of Canfield have two included in this list. Mr. Walker Hedley of the same address had four listed for the previous month.

-oOo-

More interest seems to have been shown in an improvement of the swine breeding stock used in the country and inquiries have been received at the office of the agricultural representative not only as to the possible sources of good breeding stock but also as to the terms of the Boar Premium Policy. This is as it should be as it is certainly necessary to start out with the right kind of breeding and then continue the good work by using the right kind of feed. The one complements the other. As has been pointed out so often, there is plenty of room for improvement as far as Haldimand is concerned.

-oOo-

Cattle and swine populations in Haldimand have not changed a great deal during the year ending June 1st last according to the latest report from the Farm Economics and Statistics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Actually the cattle population was up by less than 500 head. In the case of swine the increase was approximately 2000 head. On the other hand sheep horses and poultry showed decreases in population in the county. Horses are now at the low ebb of 1,000 head and there were about 600 fewer sheep on the farms this June as compared with last. Poultry figures showed the greatest drop from 544,000 to 479,000.

-oOo-

This is the season of the year when it is sometimes difficult to produce high quality milk. At least there seem to be more hazards that have to be overcome. Clean milk is clean in flavour as well as free from sediment. This has been pointed out by the Department of Dairy Science at the O.A.C. Flavour can be so easily and seriously affected if sediment is allowed to gain entrance to the milk during its production and every effort should be made to prevent dust and any other material from getting into milk during the milking process. Filters should certainly be used but they should be regarded only as supplemental or additional safeguards.

-oOo-

The Department of Dairy Science has made three suggestions for the production of high quality milk. The first of these is to wear clean clothing from which no dust and chaff may fall into open pails or cans. Furthermore one should never crecate a dust while the cans are open or when the filter is being moved from one can to another. The second suggestion is to clip any long hair on the flanks and udder and to wipe any dust from the sides and under parts of the cow. The third suggestion is to keep the stable clean and free from dust and cobwebs. Walls and ceilings should be gone over carefully and regularly. Incidently a tight ceiling is always an advantage.

DO WOMEN LIKE OTHER WOMEN ?

"Do women like other women?" Dr. Margaret Mead, the famous anthropologist, asks in an article in August Chatelaine. Dr. Mead acknowledges the wide-spread acceptance of the theory that men are able to work with each other, without back biting or petty jealousy, where as women's groups are beset with small bickerings, cattiness and unwillingness to help each other.

It is important, Dr. Mead feels, at a time when women are playing a more and more organized part in public life, to test this theory.

Looking the world over, the U.S Anthropologist finds enormous varia tions in the way in which women get on together. There are tribes where the women work together all day long with gaiety and song. There are high civilizations-the Moslem world is an example- where there is a great solidarity among the women.

In North America, she finds, the women who enjoy each other most are "the women who feel most secure either because their marriages are so happy that they never have any cause to worry, or because they have given up any hope of marrying, or because they are widowed, or because their absorption in a career is as great as a man's absorption in his."

She concludes that as long as most women's career is homemaking, and homemaking is dependant upon husbands, women will necessarily enjoy other women a little less than men enjoy other men.
