The great industrial growth of Ontario, and the progress of all Canada, have both been based on steel made in this province.

"Ontario today produces more than three quarters of all Canadian steel with the results of the recent election. I is significant, however, that two households on Elizabeth Street have since installed their own waterworks systems. It may be they have given up hope of a municipal water and

"Ontario today produces more than three-quarters of all Canadian steel, and most of it is consumed within this province. Hence virtually everything that is produced by Ontario's great and growing industrial complex is affected by the availability, the quality and the price of steel made in this province. And the process of the steel made in this province. And the process of the steel made in this province. And the process of the steel made in the province of the steel made in the province of the steel waterworks and sewage system and thus decided to go ahead on their own. We hear rumors that the elected members of the 1958 Council rate a waterworks and sewage system high on their agreemed of official business this year. Reeve Krouse said he hoped to bring the question to the people by a vote during this term. It may be our north end neighbours should have waited just a little longer.

tario, and in the long run indirectly affects the price of virtually every article produced in this province.

Mr. Armour also said that the three integrated steel mills in Ontario, which together produce more than three-quarters of the country's steel, were located on the Upper Lakees navigation system, at Hamilton and Sault Ste. Marie, because availability of the Upper Lakes Navigation System toll-free ever since 1902.

When the United States agreed to join with Canada in the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway, she did so on the understanding, Mr. Armour said, that tolls should be collected to cover construction, maintenance costs and operation of the St. Lawrence from Iroquois, Ont., to Montreal. There was never in Washington's mind any idea that the Welland Canal, always toll-free, would be included in the Seaway for toll purposes. The Welland Canal, at its present depth, Mr. Armour said, is suitable for the industries now using it, whose ships have been designed for that depth. Deepening, of the Canal for the use of ocean-going traffic would bring no advantage to present users, and it seemed unfair to saddle them with the cost of the deepening.

Another danger to industry that Mr. Armour saw in the proposal to collect Welland Canal tolls lay in the fact that the Ontario Hydro had recently announced the building of two new steam electric plants, which would depend on coal. Thus tolls

Week after next will see some unusual activity in Jarvis. That time is scheduled for the hydro changeover from 25 to 60 cycle elec-tric power. We are, it seems, one of the last areas in Ontario to get this treatment. We are assured the changeover can be accomplished with a minimum of disturbance. It is important however, that householde stay at home at the time the change over is scheduled. Notices have been sent to each householder asking for co-operation will have a bearing on

A further danger lay in the fact that, if Can-ada imposed tolls for the Welland Canal, the United States might con-Canal, the United States might consider putting tolls on the canal at Sault Ste Marie. Thus every industry in the Great Lakes area of Canada and the United States has an interest in the matter.

Mr. Armour closed his address by urging the business men of his audience to study the question and inform and arouse public opinion about what he termed a real peril to the national economy.

the Scout Troop is coming along fairly well for the amount of help we have but should be farther along in their Scout work and could be with more help, so we are asking once again for anyone interested in Scouting, it would be greatly appreciated if they would show up at our meetings and give us a hand if its only for an hour and a half on Monday nights. Let's remember that what Scouting does for a boy and with our help we can assist these boys, our future citizens, off on the right track.

The Troop are planning to take off for Toronto on Sunday to see a couple of hockey games and the Scouts are reminded to be at the Scout Hall no later than 11.30, as the cars will pull out at 11.30 shar

Nurse and father both agree that some things are too important to leave to chance. So, like most Canadians, each uses a chartered bank for planned saving, making regular deposits to accomplish a definite purpose.

Your own savings plan may be a short-term, modest one - maybe a vacation trip, or new drapes for the living room. Or your goal may be long-range, like providing more security, greater comfort and independent for you and your family.

But whatever use you find for the money you save, you'll always be glad you saved it!
