

The intermediate team took their first game of the Dresden series on Saturday night in another one of those spectacular Johnny Edwards games. The game went eleven runs before the first and winning run was counted. Edwards struck out 29 batters and nary a ball went beyond the Jarvis infield. It was Edwards' fielder's choice, too, that indirectly put the winning run across home plate. Actually the run was scored on an error but it was Edwards' pole to the third baseman that set up the deal. The intermediates play back in Dresden this Saturday night for the second game.

If President Ernie Craddock has anything to do with it everybody in town will be travelling westward Saturday night. He has already set up air tight plans for the evacuation. All cars will leave the Craddock and Phibes Garage shortly after five P.M. and if fan support can't win this one Ernie is not leaving anything to chance.

We hope the chairman of the Board of Works will see fit to get that Walpole street bridge in operation at an early date. We can't be too sure.

"I'll never drive again as long as I live!"

That's the vow Fred Smith took when he learned the youngster he had run over had died as a result of the injuries. Fred's conscience was tortured by the feeling that a child had died as a result of his actions. He tore up his driver's license, and has never been behind the wheel of a car since.

There's only one way to avoid Fred Smith's nightmare situation. That's always to watch for children on the road.
