

Mass Chest X-Ray

A mass chest X-Ray survey is to be taken during the second week of August in Jarvis, Nanticoke, Hagersville, Selkirk, Fisherville and the surrounding Townships of Haldimand County. JARVIS, AUGUST 10th 2 - 5 P.M. and 7:00 - 9:00 P.M. at the UNITED CHURCH. NANTICOKE TOWN HALL, AUGUST 11th 3:00 - 5:00 P.M. and 7:00 - 9:00 P.M.

This survey is endorsed by the local Medical Officers of Health, financed through the sale of Christmas Seals by Haldimand Christmas Seal Units with equipment supplied by the Niagara Peninsula Sanatorium, St. Catharines, Ontario.

Canvassers will call during the next two weeks at the homes in the Village and surrounding district with proper data.

whole world, a weekly announcement by either the Mayor or editor. We'll bet one thing—the convention of lake files that moved in last week won't be going back to Port Dover on a future excursion unless, of course, they are carried away by Sam's stories about a new skyway bridge over Black Creek, or a new C.N.R. Terminal at the beach. Sam! Why don't you come down some time and smell pure air?

Norm Graham's Banham Baseball team has passed the first round in the League Play-offs by taking two straight games against Ingersoll with a twenty-run margin. Things look bright for a league championship and only slightly dimmer for a Provincial Championship. Norm has welded a strong team in their first year of play under the colours of the local Lions Club and the group of boys are gaining the fundamentals of the game as it should be played. The team deserves strong fan support in the days ahead.

The Jarvis Herford's is likewise standing ahead with a powerful crew and they too can go just about as far as they want to again this year. The crowds are improving slightly but there is still plenty of room at the ball park for folks who want to see the best brand of softball being played in Ontario. The Provincial Play-offs get started on Aug. 15th when Jarvis meets Fort Erie here in the first game.

Things might be a little disorganized around this office this week. You see the staff spent the week end in company with a group of Jarvis Firemen and their wives who annually take off on the Civic Holiday week end for a blow out. We saw the first carload arrive home on Monday night and if the balance of the party is in the same condition it is doubtful whether this paper ever makes the Press. We warned Rusty, however, before he left, that he was to behave himself and get to bed early every night. We're hoping for the best.

Thoughtful and concerned Canadians will endorse the admonition by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to the federal government to cut down on its spending in an effort to stabilize and bolster the national economy. —Trenton (Ont.) Courier-Advocate.

TRANS-CANADA AIR LINES TESTS NEW HIGH-VISIBILITY PAINT

A Trans-Canada Air Lines Viscount has taken to the air in brilliant orange-red fluorescent markings, type testing a new high-visibility paint. It marks the first time a major commercial carrier has carried out a series of tests with the paint.

Designed to render aircraft more easily visible from the air, it has been used extensively for a number of years on military and some private and commercial craft. The single TCA aircraft has had the markings to all extent markings, plus the underlines of the wing fins and elevators. The type trials will evaluate the effectiveness, durability and maintenance requirements of the material. The paint is a little more difficult to apply, weighs 13 pounds more and costs about $750 per Viscount compared to $400, presently required for a new paint job. It is expected to last two years before repainting, about the same as the present product. Manufacturer of the luminous paint is Switzer Bros., of Cleveland, Ohio. The single Viscount will be operated on most routes across Canada into the United States during the season.

of the season to maintain a constant rate of milk and beef production. Moreover, to assist in providing a feed for the winter, it is imperative to include alfalfa in the mixture with all of its attendant risks of bloat and overgrazing, winter killing and costs of land preparation to ensure growth.

Research has shown that in South Western Ontario we obtain from 80 to 90 per cent of the plant's maximum growth by about July 15th. There are a few grasses eg. reed canarygrass and "cane" yields of alfalfa, that will produce a little more uniform growth whereas Canada and Kentucky blue grasses produce up to 95 per cent of the total by that date. Of course, the growth of alfalfa is spread out more uniformly.

Another important factor in this method of feeding is the possible profitable utilization of higher rate of fertilizer, especially that of nitrogen, on fields that contain 25 per cent or less of clovers. All farmers will know there must be adequate moisture present to obtain maximum effect.

In view of the modern trend of economics eg. labour, time and other costs combined with improvements of mechanical labour saving conveniences we can now perform systems of operations that were highly impractical a few years ago, thus bringing about changes of ideas, recommendations and practices.

All good dairymen fully realize the importance of continued favourable environmental conditions in production i.e. easy sources of adequate quality of feed and water together with quietness and shade or shelter. As a result a few of our most advanced dairy (and steer feeding) operators are dry lot feeding the year round and their arguments in favor of such are causing serious thinking among many more leading farmers.

Over the years various techniques for the best management of pastures have been tested and advised. This involves open grazing, fertility practices, rotational grazing, strip grazing and mechanical or daily cutting, form of grazing with progressive returns per acre. In addition hay-pasture systems have been recommended that will provide good aftermath grazing together with a few very early cuttings and late grazing and a field of oats or sudan grass or the excess pasture cut as hay or feed in midsummer. On top of all the above, midsummer applications of fertilizer will be helpful. However, with year round silo feeding it may be necessary to erect an additional tower or silo.

Under South Western Ontario climatic conditions it is well established that a forage crop cut in the hay stage will produce from 40-50 per cent more tonnage of feed than if it has been harvested as pasture. The law of growth is similar to that of corn in that the more the plant is cut, the more growth factors are until nearing maturity. This is the stage of maturity that is most important in rotational, strip or mechanical silage making. The more the plant is cut, the more growth factors are until nearing maturity. This is the stage of maturity that is most important in rotational, strip or mechanical silage making.

In principle South Western Ontario is not a natural pasture country compared with the Maritimes or parts of British Columbia. Our climate is too erratic which is intensified if soil conditions are easy to drought and low fertility. It is the apparent state of confusion in so many alternatives and suggestions in order to save or feed pastures during the latter half of the season.

The number of public telephones has more than doubled since the Second World War in The Bell Telephone Company of Canada's territory in Ontario and Quebec. During the war the public telephone booth was installed experimentally in Toronto, is now planned for other centres in Bell territory. The regular outdoor booth, upper right, in addition to serving the motoring public, is also found at drug stores, bus-stops, and strategic downtown locations. It appears in sharp contrast to the ornate early model at lower left. Lower right: coins shower Eva Erdos and Florence Dixon in the Montreal collection centre.
