The Uninvited Guest for Christmas

Our world—the place in which we live—is similarly preoccupied. Year after year men and women have been so preoccupied as to miss the significance of Christmas for their own lives. Will it continue to be so? Certainly we can learn much from the attitude of the shepherds. Evidently they were not preoccupied with their work and with living as if from the outside. They were not too busy to turn aside and listen to, and ponder over, the message which they delivered. Nor did they manifest indifference, or laxness, or opposition to it. In the way they responded, "Let us now go even unto Bethlehem," they cried, "and see this thing which has come to pass." And they came with haste. And they found Jesus!

Surely the moral of all this is clear to us just as much as our own moral and spiritual desire and energy will allow it to mean. To those who are preoccupied in so many ways, the story of Christmas may continue to be merely a commonplace thing while they play with the outward trappings. But surely Christmas, and the days that follow, are meant to be so much more to us than this.

What do such majestic words as these mean to you? "For unto you is born this day in the City of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord." Or these words, so filled with eternal truth, which we sing every Christmas eve.

"Hark the herald angels sing,
 Glory to the newborn King,
 Peace on earth, and merriment
 in heaven,
 God and sinners reconciled!
 Joyful all of us should greet:
 Heaven's incarnate deity,
 Pleas'd as Man with man to dwell,
 Jesus our Emmanuel!"

Hail, the heaven-born Prince of Peace!
 Hail, the Son of Righteousness!
 Light and Life to all He brings,
 Born with healing in His wings,
 Mild He lays His glory by,
 Born to raise the sons of earth,
 Born to give them second birth.

Surely we should bend every effort to find out! Let us turn aside, like the shepherds, and "see" this thing which has come to pass.

JARVIS CUB PACK

With our Christmas Season at hand, I would like to convey my sincerest wishes of a "MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR" to all the boys of the Jarvis Cub Pack and those with whom I have been associated with during the past year.

I would especially like to thank the boys for the way they have accepted me as their leader and for the fine work which they have done.

May God's Blessings be with you all in the coming year.

25 Years Service Recognized By The Marshall Dairy

George Keefe and Earl Fess joined the twenty-five year Service Club of the Marshall Dairy Ltd. last week when they both completed a quarter century of service at the local Plant. They were presented with engraved rings by Lea Marshall, President of the Company, at the annual Staff Christmas Party, held in the Community Hall. Others who were similarly recognized previously are: Arthur Stone, Newton Marshall, G.H. Pattison, J. R. Eadie and A. L. Miller.

The Christmas Party was held last Friday night when nearly eighty were served by the Ladies of the Rebeck Lodge to a choice Turkey Dinner. Mr. Lea Marshall presided and gifts to the wives and children were found under the Christmas tree. Gifts were also presented to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall by the employees.

Life-long residents of Nanticoke, Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Evans will anniversary on Monday, December 28th. The occasion will be marked by a family dinner at their home on Sunday, December 27th.

They were married by the Rev. H. J. Leake in 1909. They have one son, Arnold of Nanticoke and one daughter, Mrs. Vernon Weaver of Walpole and eight grandchildren.

Circumstances exclude Jesus from the hearts of men. There is not a general hostility towards Him, first fact at this season, crowds thronging the Christmas carols who otherwise show little recognition of him. The fact is, our hearts and lives are already filled with other guests.

The world, with its pressing demands, claims much of our time and attention. The new-born interests of each generation vie for our loyalty. Even at this moment, our attention is occupied not with the thought of One who came from above, but with the duties and pleasures of this festive season. Thus the world rejects Him and men and women pass Him by. But if there are some who do not bid Him come in because their lives are soiled by trifling with base desires, these are still hope. The Christ-child came to a stable, not a palace. He was a friend to become the son of God, even to them that believe on Him name.

If you do this then you will be able to enter into the true meaning of Christmas. May this Christmas for you and yours be a truly blessed one.
