

A SWEEPING INDICTMENT

By Lewis Milligan
Two hundred years ago Edmund Burke, the great British statesman, said: "I do not know the method of drawing up an indictment against an whole people." It has remained for the editors of two Saskatchewan newspapers to perform that operation, and they have made a thorough job of it. The Regina Leader-Post and the Saskatchewan Star-Phoenix are on the war-path against INFLATION. They have issued two thundering pamphlet broadsides against what they regard as the most potent enemy of our democratic institutions. One blast is entitled, "INFLATION SPELLS RUINATION!" It reminds us that "history is filled with examples of unchecked inflation and its people's savings, disruption of their lives and the wrecking of national economic systems. Empires have fallen because of it."

The other blast booms out: "STOP THEFT!" It declares that "the hard-earned savings of millions of Canadians—savings in the form of bank deposits, insurance policies, pensions, bonds and so on—are being robbed right, left and centre."

"The Shrinking Dollar" is the cause of this alarm. And well it might be, for we are reminded that "Lenin advised his Communist followers that inflation was one of the chief weapons for the world revolution they hoped to bring about. Lenin said the best way to destroy capitalist countries was to demolish the purchasing power of their currencies." And we are told that Canadians themselves are doing the very thing without any prompting from behind the Iron Curtain.

"Let's look at ourselves: collectively we have indulged in unsound, wishful thinking. Most of us have wanted something for nothing from our governments. We farmers have wanted handouts, we business men have wanted easy money, low interest rates. We manufacturers have wanted tariff protection from foreign competitors. We workmen have wanted constant employment with more pay, shorter hours, and expensive security provisions. We have expected our governments to accomplish the impossible. Now the shocking truth has caught up with us. We find that we have paid for these unearned handouts by progressive destruction of the value of our hard-earned money saved for our retirement in pension funds, saved for the protection of our wives and children in insurance benefits, saved for future use for a rainy day in bank accounts, in bonds."

That is indeed a sweeping indictment of the people of Canada as a whole. Not in the indictment confined to the people. Government is named as the "chief offender" and accused of aiding and abetting the "legalized robbery." Evidence for this is cited from a recent address at Montreal by Mr. D. E. Kilgour of Winnipeg, vice-president and general manager of the Great-West Life Assurance Company, as follows:

"It has become a political axiom on this continent that the way to get elected is to promise to spend more money. In their spending, the governments of both Canada and the United States are living beyond their means. They are spending far in excess of their tax revenues. They are unable to make up the difference by lowering the savings of the people largely because the people are losing faith in government bonds as investments in the face of the inflationary threat. Both governments have had to borrow from their central and commercial banks. This, in effect, creates new money as surely as if the dollars had been printed. But Mr. Kilgour is convinced that inflation is not inevitable. He believes governments can help to reverse the trend by changing their approach. He believes "Canadians are strong enough and able enough to face up to this problem that presents a simple choice between right and wrong—Can arise to meet a challenge that is so clear and prove to the world that free people can, and will discipline themselves."

YOU GET MORE OUT OF LIFE WHEN YOU GET THE MOST OUT OF ELECTRICITY

Even though it's washday Mother has plenty of time to spend with the children, because electricity helps with the housework. The washing is done automatically... by electricity. While she's away the clothes will be washed and rinsed thoroughly, simply by setting the dial on the automatic electric washer. When she comes home, the washing needs only to be transferred to the automatic electric clothes dryer. While she's busy preparing dinner (on her automatic electric range), the washing will be dried sunshine-fresh, automatically, whatever the weather. Automatic electric laundry appliances are safe, clean, and modern. They free you from wash-day drudgery forever... yet they cost just a few cents a day to operate.
