Cream Producers
Meet At Kohler

The Haldimand Cream Producers Annual Meeting took place on Tuesday, October 27th at the Rural Youth Centre, Kohler, with a number of interested members present.

The meeting opened with the recitation of the annual meeting and current business, followed by the election of officers for the coming year, with the following results:

Chairman, Robert Creighton; Vice Chairman, Archie Bain; Secretary, Roy Hagan. Other committee members: Fred Willson, James Murray, Maynard Snider, William Forman, Mark Hewitt, Edgar McAlpine and Adam Marshall.

The first of the three outstanding speakers was Mr. Chuck Lockhead, who told of his work during the past year as Provincial Fieldman.

Mr. Trebble, representing the Dairy Farmers of Canada, outlined plans and preparations made for the Butter Blitz on Caledonia.

Mr. Andrew Leishman, President of the Ontario Cream Producers Association, brought best wishes from the Provincial Board and gave a very concise report of the Provincial Board's achievements during the past year as well as his plans for the future.

James Murray, Robert Creighton and Archie Bain were named as special delegates to attend the Ontario Cream Producers Association Annual Meeting, November 17th, 1959 at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto.

Lions Hallowe'en Party
Great Fun For Children

The Jarvis Lions Club Hallowe'en party for the children, which was held in the Jarvis Community Hall last Saturday night, was a most happy event. The hall was filled with costumed youngsters in a gay mood and the treats handed out by the Lions Club made the event everything the kids had hoped for.

The judges had their work cut out for them as they selected the prize-winners in the various categories. The following won prizes: Ages 1-4—Best Dressed—Gordy Thompson, Blaine Jones, Marcella Monaghan.

The manure around. Another good idea is to have the feedlot or barnyard paved. This will save a great deal of money in the long run and will keep the manure from being washed away by rain. It will also keep the manure from being washed away by rain. It will also keep the manure from being washed away by rain.

Memoirs On Paul Peel
 By Canon D. J. Cornish

The Art Gallery at the Toronto Exhibition this year will exhibit two famous paintings by Paul Peel. As they are on loan from private galleries, it is an opportunity not to be missed. One of the paintings is a portrait of a man in a military uniform, the other is a portrait of a man in a civilian suit. The artist was a Mr. Leather, of London, Ontario. He was a friend of the Peel family and secured from their studio a neglected piece that had been done by Paul and had it set in the wall just above the communion table. Such was Mr. Bourne's (the late C. Bourne) story and he had his information directly from the architect. I lost no time in viewing the piece and still take every opportunity of seeing it that occurs. I found a slab of lovely white marble "Cararra" I believe they call it, possibly the elements of charcoal drawing. I did not then know enough about Paul to take advantage of my opportunity to see it. I have since had the pleasure of seeing it and it is a most interesting piece. It is a portrait of a man in a military uniform, the other is a portrait of a man in a civilian suit. I have since had the pleasure of seeing it and it is a most interesting piece. It is a portrait of a man in a military uniform, the other is a portrait of a man in a civilian suit. The artist was a Mr. Leather, of London, Ontario. He was a friend of the Peel family and secured from their studio a neglected piece that had been done by Paul and had it set in the wall just above the communion table. Such was Mr. Bourne's (the late C. Bourne) story and he had his information directly from the architect. I lost no time in viewing the piece and still take every opportunity of seeing it that occurs. I found a slab of lovely white marble "Cararra" I believe they call it, possibly the elements of charcoal drawing. I did not then know enough about Paul to take advantage of my opportunity to see it.
