The front pages this week have those in service.

On the local scene, 17 telephones the engagement of Princess Margaret to Mr. Jones, the London Photographer. Every day the news hounds ing the total to 605 as of December come up with a new slant on the af-fair and, in our opinion, there are some pretty weird conceptions of what takes place between a maiden 11,384,239 higher than in 1958.

the Princess proposed to Mr. Jones, an improvement in our earnings, which is, supposedly, her prerogative in this year 1960. That, in our opinion, is superfative nonsense. She can do this in a number of ways. She can even put tears in his eyes when he puts the proposition to her. She can even make him believe that suicide would be the only alternative to a refusal. When she gets a man in this state he's really hooked. But that doesn't happen too often. More generally the man makes some vague sort of reference to married life and before he knows it the girl has her arms around his neek and is suggesting. In the last ten years the number
