
The opportunity to secure a ticket on the Lions Club Draw, which will take place at the Turkey Jamboree in the Community Hall on Saturday night, is fast fading away. We find the demand for tickets has almost exhausted our supply and we would be, indeed, grieved to disappoint anyone. All we can say, therefore, that if anyone wants a ticket they had better get in touch with us pretty quick or opportunity will be lost.

We want to thank Sam Morris for not mentioning that loss the Jarvis Chevies experienced at the hands of the Port Dover team last week. We are slowly recovering from this revolting situation. Notwithstanding the fact the Chevies hadn't lost a league game since 1958, we suppose it is almost too much to expect them to maintain that record forever. It was just unfortunate they had to taste the bitter dregs of defeat at the hands of a team from Port Dover.

We're in favor of anniversaries. We have re-lived some very pleasant ones in the past and hope this may be the case in the future. All of which brings to mind that it was just one year ago today (December 7th, 1960) that a couple of surgeons sharpened up their knives and proceeded to explore the nether regions of our anatomy. We're not sure that the experience was particularly interesting to them, although their explorations went on long enough. We are sure, however, that by opening up this new territory and doing whatever it was they did, we are able, one year later, to reflect upon it with considerable satisfaction. There are some other memories we recall, concerning that general experience, and one in particular, that are most pleasant to reflect upon.

And, this reminds us that last year we missed the usual Christmas and New Years festivities. Barring unforseen developments we hope to participate in them this year with the usual satisfaction. In fact, it should be better than ever inasmuch as we anticipate a complete re-union of the family. We will be welcoming home a wandering off-spring who has been living for many months on the other side of the world. We only hope she hasn't acquired enough Oriental characteristics to require us to sit cross-legged on the floor for the annual Christmas feast.

We mustn't sign off this column without reporting that our Bowling Coach, George Anderson, held us down to two points last Monday night. He decided to cut down on our winnings to allow the other teams in the league an opportunity to catch up. We agree with George that in the interests of keener competition this is the wise course. He took careful note, however, of the scores of Pete and Audrey Vokes on Monday night when they hit an average of almost 300 and has advised his team to tighten up when they next meet Craddock's entry.

Christmas is just over a couple of weeks away and if you are investing in Christmas presents, our advice this week is: "Look over the merchandise in local stores." There is plenty of variety and quality. Take the money you save by buying in Town and put it in the Bank.

with his entry for Alfalfa Hay at the Royal Winter Fair this year. To indicate the quality of Mr. Nixon's Entry, he came second to the Grand Championship entry in his class. This award was won by Rolling Rock Farms of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Nixon has been a consistent winner at local fairs and the Haldimand County Seed Fair with his entries of hay and seed.

This proves that Haldimand County and particularly Walpole Township can produce, with a little extra care, the top quality hay and seed in the world.

Brief Notes for the Busy Farmer

- By Haldimand Harry -

A Grade "A" hog carcass weighing 120 lbs. and selling at $24.00 per cwt. will bring $39.00 including the $3.00 premium. A fact that is too mostly overlooked is that a grade "B" carcass to yield the same gross return will have to weigh 170 lbs. when selling at $23.00 per cwt. To produce this carcass a hog would have to weigh 236 lbs. and dress out at 75 per cent. Similarly a "heavy" grade carcass selling at $20.75 would have to weigh 188 lbs. to produce the same gross return as the grade "A" hog and the live hog would have to weigh almost 251 lbs. and dress at 75 per cent.

It is not too early to be thinking about seed grain for next spring. If you have a bin of good oats, by all means get them cleaned up, tested for germination and graded. They may be worth money next spring. Much of the oat crop this past season was badly discolored and for this reason anyone thinking of using the crop as seed certainly should run a germination test on it. Discolouration may mean that the growing power of the seed has either been destroyed or considerably lowered.

A few weeks ago it was pointed out in this column that some farmers may have been having difficulty in making good hay and that this would have been a good year for someone to have tried out a warm air drier. The attention of the writer has been drawn to the fact...and rightly so...that Haldimand County already has more than one farmer using a highly satisfactory method of saving grass and legumes as feed and at a lower cost than a hay drier would be. What's more, these outfits are even fitted with equipment to pitch it out for you. There are at least five silos in the county capable of doing this and the farmers in all cases seem to be perfectly satisfied with them.

Speaking of silage, there is a new bulletin just issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture that deals with the whole subject. According to this publication, grass and grass and legume silages have many distinct advantages. They will lengthen the haying season and make it possible to continue the harvesting of the crop even when the weather would be far from satisfactory for the making of hay. Furthermore they will preserve the grasses and legumes when they are growing most rapidly and when they will yield the highest amount of feed nutrients per acre. There is no leaf shattering and they provide a roughage that will be high in protein, carotene and minerals.

BELL TELEPHONE WILL INTRODUCE NEW INSTUMENT HERE

(Intended for a previous issue)

The nearest thing yet to pocket phone service will be introduced here at the end of November.

The Bellboy, a pocket-size transistor signal set, is Bell Telephone's new instrument...for people away from their homes or offices who don't want to miss important calls.

"Essentially ,it's an extension of the bell on your telephone," said D. McArthur, Bell manager for this territory. "We also consider it a step toward two-way pocket telephone service.

"If someone calls while you are away from your regular telephone the Bellboy sounds a gentle beeping tone. The beep lets you know you should go to the nearest telephone and call your office or other pre-arranged place.

"Bellboy service will be particularly valuable to such people as doctors, clergymen, sales and service personnel and contractors." Mr. McArthur said.

The new service is effective indoors or out. It keeps the user in touch with clients or customers at all times. For example, if an important call comes in for a doctor while he is making his rounds, the person answering his calls immediately puts the doctor's personal signal on the air. This is picked up by the doctor's Bellboy...and his alone...and he knows that he is to telephone in as soon as possible.

The personal signal receiving set weighs only 7½ ounces and can be carried easily in a pocket or clipped to one's belt. It is powered by three small mercury-cell batteries which have a life of about 750 hours or roughly three months. An on-off switch permits you to turn off the switch controls the power. Another signal after it is received.

SAVE YOURSELF THE INCONVENIENCE OF AN ACCIDENT

Make sure your snow tire treads are good. Carry tire chains in your trunk. Have brakes balanced and make sure the steering system's in shape for winter. Install anti-freeze. Check windshield wipers to make sure you'll see where you're going. Heaters and defrosters should work properly; so should headlights and tail lights. And do you recall any news stories about carbon monoxide poisoning? Check your exhaust system for leaks. Get your car in shape for winter now. You might save yourself the inconvenience of an accident.

TIPS ON HOW TO PUT $80 EXTRA IN YOUR PACKET

It has been calculated that in just one year, a family of rats eats (or ruins) as much feed as a steer—about $80 worth. They also damage buildings, spread disease and cause electrical fires.

Purina Research has developed a new effective rat killer—Purina Rat-Kill. It's a "carry-home" bait. Rats haul it back to the nest and distribute it among the whole family. Painless death from internal bleeding is caused in about a week. Rats never become baitshy of this cereal-base bait, which comes ready to use. In tests conducted by Purina Research, they found that rats and mice actually prefer Purina Rat-Kill to commercial feeds and grains.

Cold weather drives rats indoors where they do most damage. Don't wait until you see rats! Now is the time to set up a series of bait stations. They'll help you kill any rats which you might have and keep new rats from moving in.
