THE IMPORTANCE OF MARRIAGE

The country church was and in the fear of God. Marriage is a commitment, not a contract. It declares that an unconditional relationship has been established, and reminds us further that it is "for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish, till death do us part." A contract often has an escape clause. True it may be in small print, but it provides for any unforeseen circumstances which may arise. The marriage vow provides no such release, indeed the Master declared that it is permanent and indissoluble.

Paul likened the union between husband and wife to that which existed between God and Israel, he represents the deepest spiritual union of the human soul with God. This means that we cannot go into marriage on a trial basis with a "money back" if not satisfied guarantee. Marriage is the highest sense an abandoning of self and the pouring of love upon one chosen partner. It is a relationship in which the interest of the one is for the happiness and fulfillment of the other. Such mutual love and concern when coupled with a deep faith and reverence for God is the foundation of a happy and successful marriage.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE BRIGADE
(Intended for a previous issue)
"Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and everyone that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God." (1 John 4:8).
With this verse as a theme, seven-teen boys were present on Friday, May 26 at 1925 hours for the weekly meeting of the C.S.B. to study the Bible, as well as to have a good time with Christian Fellowship. When the meeting was given the boys stood at attention as Captain Richard and members opened the meeting in prayer.
Following the opening exercises the boys were issued their Bibles and dismissed into small meetings. The boys gave the news of a second over-night camp-out, for fishing and swimming at Crystal Springs, a zealous welcome. However, to go on the campout, scheduled for the second week in June, additional requirements entail the completion of two successive achievement phases for next week. Among many passing achievements tonight were: Daniel's Faith, Aimee's Towers, Bob-ert Welt and Ewan McKee. These boys will be awarded with their badges for next week as they complete their own achievement series.
The whistle was blown at 21:00 summing a second line for squad
