

IN THE ORBIT OF OUR EYE!

BRITISH JUSTICE

By C. D. CLARKE

Jerry Pollong is no longer a member of the sports department of the Simcoe Reformer but if he was well...

Since hockey fans have had an opportunity to see four members of the Jarvis Cheviots team...

We had an interview with the Jarvis Cheviots team after the last game and they said they enjoyed the practice they were getting in Simcoe in preparation for the quest of the Jarvis Cheviots for another O.R.I.A. Intermediate Championship.

British Justice says, in effect, "A man is innocent until proved guilty." But, in actual fact, here in Canada, we do not always abide by that axiom.

Our accounts tell us that Ernie Craddock has been denied the title of "father of the fish" and his brother Bob, on defence, added one to good measure.

On Parliament Hill, there was a tempest over monetary policy and unemployment. Elsewhere, farm leaders from across Canada met in Ottawa to peer forward at the future of farming.

The tax-rental system which has governed dominion-provincial tax rentals for the last fifteen years...

There was a mixed bag of reaction from the provincial premiers. Liberal Premier Lesage of Quebec was openly angry at the federal suggestion.

After the furore and non-confidence motions, the government's majority, the Conservatives, were split.

Two cabinet ministers also cast some major planks ahead of the week. Agricultural Minister Iltis disclosed a program of rehabilitation and development...

Minister Comtois said that the federal government's provinces plan to spend $1.5 billion during the next twelve years on magnetic surveys to pinpoint mineral wealth of the shield.

Some postscripters on the west coast Canadians consumed more than they did in 1958. Each Canadian put away 143.2 pounds of fat in 1958, compared with 138 pounds in 1957.

The government's staff at its own solution: "Effective planning and stabilization of prices and control of agricultural production."

But they were paid more earnings totalling $121,118,000, a 20 per cent increase from $101,345,000 a year earlier.
