in a row, of the Jarvis Lions Club, and this semi-monthly meeting of good fellows, in one of the best communities in the world, is always a restorative to the spirit and takes the place of a tranquilizer tablet. We also had to miss the meeting, addressed by Miss Judy LaMarsh, at Dunnville, last Saturday night. We had the offer of a complimentary ticket and free transportation to this auspicious event, under the Chairmanship of our old friend Bruce Stadder, who is giving inspired leadership toward the revitalization of the Haldimand Liberal Association, but had to decline in order to make use of a rail seat at Maple Leaf Gardens. We are sorry we missed it, but read with avid interest the report of the meeting in the Monday edition of the Globe & Mail.

Significantly enough, we read in the same paper James N. Allan, another well known Haldimand man was one of the leading contenders days, it should be recorded that for the past couple of weeks we have enjoyed some of the finest fall weather in memory. It helps to remind us that emotional disturbances and other things that tend to upset our day to day living are rather insignificant in the overall scheme of things Just as the rising and setting of the sun once in every twenty-four hours. The seasons come and go and man flashes here and there, like the ant in his hill, making little impression, indeed, on the really fundamental things of life.
