But that is not to say Sam's political opponents — who know Red Kelly — agree with the viewpoint expressed. It was too bad — Sam's opinion notwithstanding — that Red had to beat a fine Parliamentarian in the process of being elected himself, but that is the way politics work and we're not using

WITH THE SCOUTS

(intended for a previous issue) Monday night saw some of our local troop make it out for the last meeting of the season. We missed all those absent but know they were all home with their noses and minds in their school hooks preparing for in their school books preparing for wish all our Scouts the very best of luck in all their exams and are sure that with a little hard work at the studies, they will all come out wit great success. Good Luck, Boys.

The first part of the meeting was spent on a short lecture about swin spent on a short lecture about swin the success.

Be Prepared. SCOUTS HAVE TWO-DAY CAMP

(intended for a previous issue) There was quite a stir of activity on Friday, the 22nd around 5.30 at the Scout Hall as eleven boys pre-pared for their first summer camp-

the cooperation of all the boys. It was very good. Soon supper time and a clean up, then camp fire time and weiner roast, then to bed and this time it is not long until all are asleep but once again dawn soon breaks, nicely this time but soon comes the rain which freshens everything, even Scouter who is trying to shave. After the short rain storm and then under clear skies the Scouts attend their own service of worship around the flag pole, having their "Scouts Own". Then off to the water, and each time one can see a great impovement in those who did not know a thing about swimming.

The boys were glad to see Scouter
