We were even taken to task the other day by Lea Marshall who reminded us of the time he shot the head off a partridge at 500 yards with a 303 deer rifle. We recall at the time that he told us this was the only way to shoot a partridge with a high powered rifle. We had figured it might have been a lucky shot but we have his word for it now that he had no intention of spoiling any of the meat on that partridge and had almed for the head. Oh well, we've had many pleasant thoughts over the years in the unfounded belief we had no peers in shooting accuracy. Now we have got to acknowledge the superiority in this department of some of our hunting friends.

Now we have got to achieve the superiority in this department of some of our hunting friends.

We suppose some of our readers will laugh when we remind them that we used to toot a bugle in the old Jarvis Brass Band. Yes, Jarvis had a brass band thirty or forty years ago that did not take second place to any such musical organization for miles around. Such bandsmen as the late Bruce Hair, Patsy Brock, Chas. Yocum, Marshall Roberts and others such as Stacey Burwash, Billy Watson, etc., used to thrill the patrons at garden parties and at the regular Saturday night band concerts at the saturday night ba son, etc., used to thrill the patrons at garden parties and at the regular Saturday night band concerts at the down town square. This may account, in part, for our pleasure and enthusiasm in listening to the Jarvis Christian Brass Band Crescendo when they led the Remembrance Day parade on Sunday. It does something to our pride to once again have a good Brass Band in the Jarvis community. We owe appreciation to the natives of Holland in our community who have developed this fine organization. As we watched Ray Tuinhof the Bandmaster, lead his musicians on Sunday our mind reflected to the Bandmaster, lead his musicians on Sunday our mind reflected to the boys off with a one, a two, a three — play.

ON THE FARM FRONT Brief Notes for the Busy Farmer

It will not be long before silo filling will be the order of the day. Checking the silo before filling is good practice. Check the walls for cracks and be sure the foundation is still in the best of repair. If the silo has a drain, make sure it is open and clean. Always keep a good screen over the outlet to prevent rodents from passing through the drain. Be sure to tighten all ladder steps and loose joints. It is also a good idea to
