

We're sure happy to know that the C.N.E. finally hit the 3 million attendance mark. We were feeling just a little bit guilty on Monday, as the turnstiles clicked at the Exhibition, in the fear the attendance target wouldn't be reached. We had visions of the final report saying 2,999,999 people had attended and failure to have reached the goal would have been due to our absence from the Great Fair. This would be a sad thing to have on one's conscience.

We're not poking fun at the Exhibition. In fact it is a Canadian Institution, known around the world, that we can all be proud of and, perhaps, the least we could do would be to attend once in awhile. Mind you it wasn't always this way with us. In our younger days we couldn't miss the Exhibition. The reason we couldn't miss was that they gave out free tickets at school and how could anyone forfeit such a gift as this. Nor could we understand why our father took such a dim view of the magnanimity of the Exhibition authorities in making a free ticket available to us.

Things sure have changed since those days, we recall one trip to the exhibition that included a train ride on old Grandy from Jarvis to Hamilton; then a street car ride from the station to the steamship dock followed by a steamer trip to Toronto. Then another street car ride to the exhibition and we'll tell you that's a far better outing for a youngster than a 2-hour trip over a crowded highway to get to the exhibition these days. In addition to that we had the long street car ride after the fireworks, to the home of relatives at the other end of the city. And in those days, you didn't visit relatives for a couple of hours. You stayed at least three days.

Visiting City relatives, too, was almost as thrilling as the exhibition. We were always obsessed with the sophisticated manners and knowledgeable approach that go on in the city. We recall a little boy, about our own age at the time, who knew his way around. In fact on one trip he sneaked us into the Woodbine Race Track for the running of the Queen's Plate and we viewed the classic in company with Lord Byng, then Governor General of Canada. At the time we didn't know it was the Queen's Plate, nor that we were anywhere near such a famous personage. It's a fact, nevertheless, as a picture on the front page of the Toronto Daily of that day will testify. My guide didn't know it either, but he couldn't think of anything else to say. We had a nice outing with some friends on Saturday night and didn't get into any more trouble than usual. We're happy in the fact we still enjoy listening and dancing to the kind of music Pee Wee Hunt plays.

We welcome our neighbours home this week after a vacation at the Lake, sporting the tanniest tans we have ever seen. Providing circumstances do not interfere we expect to get a look at part of the New Trans Canada highway this week and, if we do, maybe we'll have something else to talk about next week.

It always amazed me, but when overseas our Army men quickly became very familiar with the metric system, and also the monetary system. It doesn't take much of a family crisis to bring a whole family to its knees before God. And all in one language of appeal too.

What then is the hold up? Ah, you know it all the time. Just men. And their narrow opinions. That's all. And that's all there ever has been between us and God. The lack of common language.

Rather terrible isn't it, that one should glory in being more of a Baptist than a Christian?

way this week and, if we do, maybe we'll have something else to talk about next week.

IN THE ORBIT OF OUR EYE!

By C. D. CLARKE

"THERE IS BUT ONE GOD"

The move to get the United States to use the metric system is gaining ground—and in England—the dollar and cents method of money seems to be "getting there".

And all around the world, the churches (those that believe in God) are seeking a "common ground of meeting".

It is a rather poor thought that we the people of the churches will have to await these deliberations before we know what the ultimate will be. Yet in every Christian home the basic tenet of "One God" still prevails. One can only hope that these priestly deliberations can get together before it is too late.

It doesn't take much of a family crisis to bring a whole family to its knees before God. And all in one language of appeal too.

What then is the hold up? Ah, you know it all the time. Just men. And their narrow opinions. That's all. And that's all there ever has been between us and God. The lack of common language.
