
Last year when the Ontario Progressive - Conservative Association was casting about for a new leader to take the place of retiring Premier Leslie Frost we were lending a minor figment of support for the Candidate of our choice, the Honorable James N. Allan. It happened that a fellow by the name of the Hon. Fred Cass, then Minister of Highways for the Province of Ontario, shared our view that the member for Haldimand-Norfolk would make an ideal Premier. Consequently we had a few days of reasonably close association with a man for whom we developed a considerable respect and admiration.

- - - - -

Subsequent to this association, the man whom we, and the Hon. Fred Cass supported for the leadership, was not called upon to assume this responsibility and the thought passed our mind that this might have some future influence on the destiny of our new found friend. This did not turn out to be a fact. What happened? The Hon. Mr. Cass upon re-organization of the Ontario Cabinet, was elevated to the position of Attorney-General. Obviously the new Premier recognized his talents.

- - - - -

Our great respect for this new Minister of the Crown was further enhanced this week by a Canadian Press report from Kingston. The Attorney-General was attending the annual dinner meeting of the Ontario Magistrate's Association. As is customary at all such functions there was entertainment. Two young entertainers presented their talent on the platform and the delegate Magistrates failed to give them the attention they deserved. The din of conversation, in fact, made it impossible to hear them.

- - - - -

Mr. Cass, as speaker of the evening, was then introduced. He said: "If you want to listen to me, I'll speak to you. If you do not, then that's the end of the evening, as far as I'm concerned". "Those of you who don't want to listen may leave...or I will". This brought a hush to the audience and the Attorney General continued: "I can imagine your reacton if there was a similar exhibition while you were performing in your courts".

- - - - -

Anyone who has ever appeared before a Magistrate in court will naturally find their sympathies with the Attorney-General. They will think it's about time these boys were told where they stand. The attorney-General continued. "It is my impression that the Courts are there to serve the public. If I find that this is not the view of anyone occupying any court over which I have jurisdiction that person will forthwith be removed".

- - - - -

After reading this report we are more than ever convinced that we were in good company when we found ourself with Mr. Fred Cass, Attorney-General for the Province of Ontario, when we attempted to bring whatever influence we could to seat the Hon. member for Haldimand-Norfolk in the seat of the Premier of the Province of Ontario.

MEMORIES ARE MADE OF THIS

The Daily newspapers, last night, recorded the death of C. H. Hale, 88, Editor of the Orillia Packet and Times for more than sixty years. In 1890, this Orillia native joined the weekly Orillia Packet which was founded by his uncle and father in 1870. In 1900 he became assistant editor and twenty years later he became editor-in-chief. In 1926 the Orillia Packet and Orillia Times were merged. After it was purchased by Newspaper Tycoon Roy Thompson in 1953, became a Daily Newspaper.

From 1900 until 1953 the late Mr. Hale crusaded for improvements in his Native Town. Among these were the privately owned Water, Light and Power Commission, the Champlain Statue, the Stephen Leacock award for humor and the Public Library. In 1946 he represented the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association at the Imperial Press Conference at London.

- - - - -

His friendships with another Orillian, former Ontario Premier Leslie Frost, and the late Arthur Meighan, twice Prime Minister of Canada, in the 1920's, made him influential in Canadian politics.

- - - - -

Needless to say, he was active at the local level, and served on the Town Council; the Water and Light Commission; the Orillia Board of Trade, a member of the latter body for 51 years.

- - - - -

So, all right, what has this to do with us. Well, we'll tell you. Back in 1941, when Great Britain had her back to the wall...when the great Nation to the South was still unconscious of world events...and Great Britain was subjected to nightly bombings...it was announced that Winston Churchill would address the Canadian House of Commons. This was a significant event in Canadian history. The Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association had two seats in the House of Commons to hear this great man as he addressed his words of wisdom for the future of democracy. Who would occupy these seats? Well, it turned out that the late C. H. Hale, Editor of the Orillia Packet and Times, one of the oldest editors in Canada and this scribe, then one of the youngest editors in Canada, would have this honor.

- - - - -

The late C. H. Hale, and the writer, met in Ottawa on that eventful day for the first time, and, after talking to him for a few moments, we have never left so humble a moment. He was a great man. Together we occupied a front seat in the House of Commons to listen to the speech of the Savior of the British Empire, and Democracy, and later had the privilege of shaking hands with this great man.

- - - - -

When we read today of the passing of C. H. Hale our thought was that here was a man that ranked in the same category as Sir Winston Churchill, but, history will not record him as such.

ARE PEOPLE RESTLESS?

One night in April a political meeting was held at the Napanee Armories with more than 1,000 present. There was a hockey game in the arena with a sellout crowd, and a full house at Napanee district secondary school's Variety Night. We leave it to the sociologists urge to get up, get out and do something. Or maybe it is just national weariness with TV.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Re North Walpole School Area
To The Editor,
The Jarvis Record.

Any Board must assess a problem and deal with such problem in a way to eliminate it, and, in this case, to satisfy the needs of the school children equally and as satisfactory to all as possible.

At present we have only one school at Nobor which is really good enough for our children. The solution is to make plans to build a suitable school or schools for all.

It does not matter whether the people or Board are pro or con Central School; the fact remains better schools must be provided in order to bring back unity and goodwill amongst the people of North Walpole.

This move should not be put off by the Board just to show they are in a position of power to do so. The Fire Marshall's requests must be met and also the sanitary facilities must be brought up to date. In my opinion these old schools are not worthy of this expense.

Mr. John Hall, Chairman of the Board, has shown a willingness to look for an answer. He did call a meeting at Sprinvale and presented the facts as he understood them in a fair and honest way. Why cannot all the members of this Board co-operate with their chairman and see that meetings are called throughout the whole area? In this way the whole public would be better informed in a quiet and peaceful way.

Please do not regard the Parent Group as an enemy. Of necessity we are intent upon improving the educational facilities for your children and ours. We would much prefer to be a co-operative group if all would work towards a satisfactory solution.

Sincerely,
Harold Wilson,
RR.5 Hagersville

110 COMPETE IN LIVESTOCK JUDGING

The 1963 livestock judging competition for Junior Farmers 4-H members and high school students of Haldimand County drew 110 competitors this year. It was held in the Kohler district.

In the senior competition, Grant Richardson of Dunnville, placer first; Bill Dobbin, of Caledonia was second, with Douglas Hedley and Graeme Hedley of Canfield, placing third and fourth.

In the juniors, with 36 competitors, Earle Silbertson of Cayuga placed first. Steve Mozas, Cayuga, was a close second.

ON THE FARM FRONT

(Intended for a previous issue)

Approximately six million tree seedlings are in the process of distribution from the Ont. Dept. of Lands & Forests Tree Nursery at St. Williams, near Simcoe. These trees are being planted on private land, Conservation Authorities' properties, county and township forests, Provincial Parks and Crown land.

White, red, Scotch and jack pine; white, Norway and black spruce; white cedar; tamarack, red pean, larch and white pine; hard and silver maple; white elm; poplar and willow; basswood; black locust; white oak, hard and soft maple; white ash comprise the regular stock shipped for forest planting. It's surprising to note that the largest production of trees has been in white pine, usually associate with this part of Ontario. However white pine is once again becoming a major constituent of the forest.

The Haldimand Crop Improvement Association is planning three competitions this summer, relating to crop production. All farm people are invited to participate in these activities and participate from participation. The three competitions are: (1) The Pasture Weed Control in Corn Competition and (3) the 100 Bushel Corn Club Competition. At least ten entries must be made in each competition before a competition will be constituted.
