rice conservative Chieftain was at his oratorical best as he flayed the Government for the lack of leadership and statesmanship evidenced at the recent Federal-Provincial conference in Quebec City. He declared that damage to the spirit of confederation had been a serious one by the willingness of the Government to have Provinces operating out of the National Pension scheme.

In his hour-long speech he covered a wide range of subjects and re-iterated his declaration at the 1956 Leadership Convention when he said "I might not always be right but I will never be on the side of wrong". He said he had never deviated from this basic principle and while he had been criticized, he said, right is right.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Conservative party believes in so-
