

There has been, perhaps, no other member of the present Government who has acquitted himself with greater distinction than the member for Brant-Haldimand, Larry Pennell, Q.C., M.P. The Brant-Haldimand member has assumed some of the most difficult assignments likely to be directed to any member. Among these is the chairmanship of the Privileges and Elections Committee. In this role he had to deal with the charge that there was bribery or breach of parliamentary privilege involved in a meeting between Gerard Grouard, M.P. and Keith Davey, National organizer of the Liberal Party.

The problem originated when Mr. Grouard, M.P., for the Liberal party, had been offered inducements to join the Liberal party. This, naturally, opened the enticement of political opportunity and a furor followed Mr. Pennell was faced with the responsibility of resolving the problem and he did this in a manner that should evoke the approval of everyone.

In presenting the report of his committee Mr. Pennell urged the House to approve and
