

and whether all the nice things that letter contained are true or not we shall forever be grateful for the kindness and thoughtfulness of the sender.

The desire of another municipal year, Countywide, will be to be recognized tonight when the Warden, Sidney Crook, will be the host at the traditional Warden's dinner. It will be held at the Jarvis Community Hall and the spacious facilities will, no doubt, be taxed. The guests will include people actively associated with civil affairs and the progress of the past year will like-ly be reviewed with the satisfaction going to those responsible for it as their reward for public service.

We are conscious of the fact that many local people are presently hospitalized. We are thinking how unfortunate it will be for any of those who have to remain in hospital over the Christmas holiday. It recalls to our mind Christmas 1960 when we tried vainly to enjoy our Christmas dinner in hospital. Despite our best effort it just couldn't be done. It's just impossible to have an enjoyable Christmas in hospital because you know your presence there and your need for nursing and medical care is depriving others of the happy life and festive activities at home. Let's hope as many as possible may be able to leave hospital for Christmas.

The business section of Jarvis is hardly keeping pace with the neighbouring communities in creating the spirit of Christmas. The larger centers, of course, have more facilities for doing these things. However, we could be doing a better job than we are—providing we had the desire and ambition to do it. Over the years the odd member of the Board of Trade has tried to spark the enthusiasm in this area of co-operation but had to give up.

There seems to be altogether too many things to do as the Christmas season draws near. If it were not for the aura of goodwill that is everywhere it is doubtful if many of us could withstand the pressures. We can recall, in the past, spending a lot of time putting up Christmas decorations and reveling in the spirit of the season. For some reason or other we seem to be losing our enthusiasm for putting up our side Christmas lights and decorations. The nippy weather does something to our bones if never used to do. We suppose it could be old age.

In the course of events we receive a considerable volume of mail. And, anyone involved in the newspaper business gets a hard time in the letters of criticism directed to them. In fact, most letters an editor receives are usually asking for favors or are blasting his mental deficiencies. Once in a while actually on only rare occasions, the editor gets a letter that lifts him up to the heavens and his faith in the kindness of human beings is completely restored. We received such a letter this week
