

DIARY OF A WHAT'S WRONG WITH VAGABOND PRIVATE ENTERPRISE?

LET'S STOP CRYING WOLF... Human nature being what it is, we constantly complain about the inefficiency of our leaders in government and industry...

Among the suggestions have been as to possible future use of the Depot include an automobile assembly plant...

No matter how we look at it we feel that the acquisition of a water and sewage system in Jarvis would ultimately lead to greater stability in our economic life...

We are concerned about the future steps to be taken to overcome the school problem in North Walpole. It would be stimulating to read a report of planning from the School Board...

The raters of Walpole are, we think, quite ready to supply the money needed to develop new and modern facilities for education. We men-

IN ALL the current discussions about proposed pension plans, provincial and federal, a great cry arises from one segment of the populace that the government representatives who would like to see the plans handled by insurance companies are simply playing into the hands of the wealthy businessmen.

Isn't it about time to clarify public thinking? Upon what historical basis or proven facts do these pseudo-specialists base the claim that the state can handle pensions and insurance more efficiently than private companies?

That these companies are both honest and efficient is one of their policies without the approval of the appropriate government bodies.

One of Canada's greatest weaknesses at the present time is its multiplicity of civil servants. Is there any sound reason to add another vast department?
