

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Editor, From your remarks in the Record I gather that you might be in favour of taking the Jarvis School out of the country, using buses to transport the children. As I was thinking over it I was thinking that the idea could be developed, because if it is good to take the children out, it should be good to take others.

If we are to believe everything we read most of us must have long since arrived at the conclusion that nearly everything we like is had for us. The campaign has been on for nearly ten years now to convince the public that cigarette smokers are likely to end up with lung cancer. Even the Government is spending thousands of dollars to divert us from this habit.

For a number of years, too, the public prints along with the assistance of learned men in the medical profession have been discouraging the consumption of tasty dairy products, such as cream, butter and cheese.

Some years ago we were privileged to see a well-known "modern home". It had everything and was the finest house for miles around. It had a beautiful stone front, hardwood floors, storm windows and doors.

Rare indeed to-day, is the man who pays-as-he-goes on "time payments". The youth of today are conditioned to credit buying and spring forth into matrimony ready and willing to shoulder their share of debt and more, because it is a sign of being modern.

But it's a big but when we are going to direct our thinking to the highest of all things. Everyone is welcome to the game and following the game and the young folks are planning to play a few popular cards, have lunch of ice cream conical, coffee or cold fruit drink, and to round out this closing meeting with a social time.

What will be left to us if science goes on making these "mencholy discoveries"? Are we, the affluent society, to starve and suffer in the midst of our plenty? Cream in the coffee, butter on the bun, ketchup on the cake, a cigarette after breakfast—everyone of them had for us. Of course, with sufficient will power we can go without any of these—but is this living?

But the country seems to be in the hands of the "creditists". And we wonder if it isn't we who have fostered the wrong concepts.

There were 17 members present at the June meeting held in the scout hall. The Mothers' Promotee and the Ladies' Promotee were repeated by all and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was as follows: bank balance $10.73 and collection $2.00.

The nominating committee gave their report on the new executive: President, Mrs. Jim McKennie; Treasurer, Mrs. Andy Doughty; Secretary, Mrs. Murray Boufield.
