mourn, suffer and die. Consequently, we are able to provide you with some understanding of those principles and we can point out to you what they are, and leave their application to you.

Your choice of career dictates that you will spend your working days and, if you are successful, a good part of your nights...in an organization which provides goods and services to the public. As you start out in your jobs to-morrow, or in a couple of weeks, you will be doing just one thing. You will be providing something for your employer... be it skill, knowledge or service...for which he is willing to pay. In return he will hand over to you a certain amount of money.

The amount of money that he is willing to pay you, will in the long run be determined by your degree of usefulness to him. Unless he makes a profit he doesn't stay in business and your worth to him is in direct proportion to how you contribute to the fulfilment of his purpose. That is the bare bones of the affair If you are going into business for yourself the same principle holds. Your financial success will be in direct proportion to what your customers consider to be the value to them of what ever you have to sell.

That this world is competitive, that the sine qua non of any business is to make a profit, that the consequence of failure and mistakes are dire and that the price of success is high...all these are inescapable facts of life and in the workaday world they form the frame work within which you must contrive to live. The business of getting one's living is a hard ,tough procedure.

Now wouldn't it be a bleak prospect if that were the whole story. But, life, thank God, has a great deal more to it than the mechanics of earning one's daily bread. Man is something more than an appendage to his hand or his pocket-book. In this vein I would like to quote from an editorial in the Saturday Review some years back: "You are asked to think of a man. Think of someone, living or dead, whose life has enriched your own. Think back for a moment on the name or names that have given history a forward look, a sense of direction, an infusion of important knowledge, an encounter with the beautiful ...names connected to great ideas or causes, to great deeds or works of art. You are asked to do this because an intimate relationship with these geniuses as well as between the life of such a man and your own. The turn of events has now made you the custodian of all his works".

What was it that singled these men out from the crowd. Essentially it was a concern for humanity and a sense of personal involvement; with it. They had a vision of the world as it should be an drefused to settle for the world as it was and like petty men walk under its huge legs and peep about to find dishonourable gra v es. story is abundantly ed by the fact that stitutions are now n other cities across e. HEREFORDS WIN OPENER IN EXTRA INNINGS

What better way to start a new season is there than to make the very first game a thrilling twelve inning encounter? Well it took the Jarvis Herefords exactly twelve innings to pull the first game of the schedule out of the fire on Monday night when they defeated the Villa Nova Co-ops by the score of 6 to 3. If this is any indication it should be a real tight league this year with a lot of excellent ball for the fans.

Jarvis came to bat in the top of the 12th with the score tied at three to three and the top of the batting order to face big Paul Manoian who took over for Martin Myska in the sixth inning. Harry Reekie reached first base when Sam Halyk dropped a ground ball. Charlie Winger sacrificed him to second and Johnny Edwards moved him to third when he beat out a bunt for a base hit. Bill Prince then got his third hit of the night to bring in the game winning run. Both runners advanced a base when Bob Nixon sacrificed and then Bill Nixon hit a fly ball to left field which the fielder misjudged, allowing the other two runs to score to put the game on ice.

Villa Nova took a two to one lead in the fourth inning after Jarvis had opened the scoring in the first. Jarvis took a three to two lead in the top of the fifth, only to have the losers tie the game in the bottom of the same inning. This is the way it stayed until the big 12th inning.

Johnny Edwards went all the way for a very impressive victory, striking out 22 batters, allowing only 2 bases on balls and giving up only six well-scattered hits throughout the lengthy contest. In the five innings he worked, Myska fanned 6 batters, walked only one and gave up a total of eight hits. Manoian came on and limited the Herefords to only 2 hits until the tragic twelfth. He struck out five while passing only one.

Charlie Winger, Bill Prince and Harold Nixon led the Jarvis 12-hit attack with three safeties apiece. Johnny Edwards helped his own cause with a pair while Bob Nixon added the other.

Pete Barber was the only Villa Nova batter to hit safely more than once. He had two while Halyk, George Pond, Reg Plowerday, Gene Magyith and Manoian chipped in with singles.

The Herefords will open their home season on Saturday night May 30th when they will play host to the Dunnville nine. Get out and see your local softball club in action and give them the support they deserve and need. Remember! There will be a FREE DRAW on Saturday night and the lucky admission ticket will win a big basket of groceries.
