U.S. ATTACKS CANADA

Like every holder of a postal box we received a pamphlet directed at the public by the desperate Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union. It would appear that union directors, upon finding their strike ship in imminent danger of sinking, have decided to drag down with them into ruin all those who make an honest living in Canada as deal ers in B-A products.. This, of course, is standard policy of international unions, as has been abundantly proved in the recent past. —Humboldt (Sask.) Journal.

CGIT GROUPS ATTEND SIXTH ANNUAL RALLY

(Intended for a previous issue)

The Jarvis C.G.I.T Groups attended the Sixth Annual Interdenominational Rally at the Caledonia United Church on Saturday, Nov. 6, 1965. Each year the various CGIT groups participate in the day's activities and this year Jarvis conducted the Worship. Other items on the agenda included sing songs, films, recreation and reports from two of the girls on their visits to Camp Council last summer. The speaker was Miss Glenna Stewart of Dundas who gave an interesting account of her experiences in "Crossroads Africa", where she has been helping to build a Community Centre. A day enjoyed by all was then ended with the C.G.I.T. Purpose and Taps.

SUGGESTS NEW CABINET

Only those who are on the government side can be ministers and set forth. We have often felt this system is wrong and that the cabinet should be selected from among all elected members to make it truly a government of the people, by the people and for the people In this way it would not be possible to make a wider selection of the more suitable minister that there would not be so much loss where a man is doing a real (sic) good job.—Huntingdon (Que.) Gleaner.

A chief reason for taking the 10-year census in Canada is to adjust membership in the House of Commons in proportion to population changes in the provinces. —Quick Canadian Facts.

Wise, Unwise and . . . Otherwise — BY — "THE OLD OWL"

THE BARON OF ERIE

Those who travel on No. 3 Highway are probably aware that it is also called The Talbot Road. Most towns on the Highway have a Talbot St. and there are also places named Talbotville and Port Talbot. Have you ever stopped to ask "Who is this man Talbot who left his mark on our district?" He was a very remarkable man and I would like to introduce him to you. Somebody called him the Baron of Erie, but his name is Col Thomas Talbot. Thomas Talbot was born in 1771 at Malahide Castle near Dublin, in Ireland. (Some papers of James Boswell, biographer of the great Dr. Samuel Johnson, who made the first English dictionary, were recent ly found in Malahide Castle, so the family must have been interested in literary affairs— about the time Thomas was born.) When he was 12 years old he entered the army as an Ensign, or Flagbearer. As the flag had to follow the commander and the commander was at the head of his troops, this was a dangerous job for a young boy. However, he returned to school and then rejoined the army as a lieutenant. He was on the staff of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, where he became a close friend of Sir Arthur Wellesley, the Duke of Wellington who won the Battle of Waterloo. Later, he came to Canada on the staff of Governor General Simcoe. During this period he was commended by Lady Simcoe for his social graces. He went home, but returned to Canada in 1800 As a retired officer he was given a grant of 5,000 acres in what are now Elgin, Norfolk and Haldimand Counties.

His method of allotting land to settlers was unique. When a man applied (at Port Talbot) he was given 50 acres free, with two conditions. One was that he clear a reasonable was in three years, the other that he complete a road (Talbot Road for half his frontage. If he did this he was allowed to buy another 150 at $3.00 per acre. But we must remember that all this land was virgin forest at that time. When a man got his first 50 his name was entered on the map in pencil. If he failed, his name was rubbed out. If he succeeded he was given a deed for the 200 acres. Sir Francis Bondhead said "the pencil and rub ber (eraser) Col. Talbot thus governs in solitude There exists in no country on the face of the globe an authority more despotic" For every 50 acres given, Talbot received from the Government another 200. As Kenneth Cathralb, in his recent broadcast, suggests that this was a personal gift, but it was not exactly that.

Anyway, Talbot's settlement scheme worked By 1822 his settlement contained 12,000 people and was described as the most populous and flourishing settlement in Upper Canada. Galbraith to the contrary notwithstanding. I have seen somewhere that he brought 50,000 settlers to Canada. And No 3 Highway is a memorial to his colonising genius. But he was quite a character. He would allow no women, Scotchmen or teetotallers in his house and he also disliked Americans (they burned his house in 1812) and Canadian Reformers. Nevertheless, William Lyon Mackenzie, the rebel who became M. P. for Haldimand, described him as "The Father of his country".

A broadcast made in 1837 thus describes him: "Domineering, contemptuous, autocratic, intolerant, he could yet be courtly and polite, even tender on occasion. He was the soul of kindliness and hospitality to his friends, and when the cholera came to his settlement in 1832 he was energetic in his efforts to deal with it first hand. His letters betray an understanding of the hardships of pioneer life, and sympathy with those engaged in its heavy tasks, for the simple reason that he himself had engaged in the roughest and most exacting of toil His chief virtues, as a biographer says of him, were those common to all the settlers, unflinching loyalty and the welcome of the open door."

A McGregor says: "As he got older he got more eccentric. So that his hired hands could do more work, he became his own cook and housekeeper, baking bread and so on. He always wore homespun and a sheep-skin hat, with the tail hanging behind (like Davy Crocket) even when visiting the Governor. He was rude, uncouth, intolerant, tyrannical, greedy for land. Yet he was a great colonizer and a great roadbuilder. He has been called the Father of Ontario highways and the Talbot Road still stands as a monument to his great zeal for development."

When he died he was buried in the Anglican Church at Port Peter's Anglican Church at Port Stanley where his monument may be seen. This was the church he attended, though he did this he was related to Sir Thomas (which was named after him).

There is a story that as a youth he fell in love with the Princess Amelia, daughter of King George III and aunt of Queen Victoria. The impossibility of such a marriage may have given the reason for his leaving to Canada, and, perhaps, for his prejudice against women.

I.O.O.F. SHORTHANDED — REYNOLDS STARS

Jarvis IOOF Bantams clicked for two quick first period goals but came out on the short end of a four-goal outburst by Cayuga. Missing from the line-up of the December 1st game were five of the regulars studying for exams, which must come first in this day and age, where education plays such a large part in one's future.

Playing short-handed and doing double duty the boys could not be faulted for the great effort they displayed against the undefeated Cayuga team.

Jim Walker scored from the blue line on a hard drive for an IOOF one goal lead in the opening minutes. Gary Dawson and Jerry Walker assisted on Jimmy Jaques' goal as the IOOF went ahead by two. Before half time Cayuga had scored one goal for a two to one lead for the Jarvis team. As the boys grew weary from double duty and Cayuga, with a man power advantage and a Jarvis penalty, tied the score, and then scored two goals, one off a Jarvis player's skate, and another by a breakaway.

Richard Reynolds, the IOOF regular goaltender, made some great saves and handled himself in fine fashion outpressing the opposition time and again.

Jimmy Walker, Ross Gibbons and Jim Church handled the blue line duties while Jaques, Dawson and Jerry Walker formed one combination on the forward line.

Larry Yokes, who played a strong game both offensively and defensively, along with Ross Gowan and Chas. Montague, formed a second combination. Bryce Hazlett, John Lidster, Chris Montague, Roger Bartlett and Don Anderson rounded out the rest of the forward lines.

The boys turned in a fine persistence ith one hundred per cent effort ad scared the big Cayuga team, who are as yet unbefeated Look for a change in that last word in the future.

CONCENTRATED MILK PRODUCERS TO DISOLVE

The new Milk Act 1965, and how will it affect us? This was the questioning thought that drew an attendance of over three hundred to the last local meeting of the Jarvis Concentrated Milk Producers at the Community Hall, Jarvis, on December 3rd at which Mr. Charles Milton briefly explained the setting up of the county committees consisting of three to fifteen members to represent the producers in the new marketing board.

Mr. Sidney Pearson, a member of the Milk Marketing Board of Ontario outlined the new board policies, namely pooling and equalizing and to form price throughout Southern Ontario for fluid milk for bottling; and a uniform price for industrial milk for processing, as well as establishing fluid and industrial, as a means of determining the individual producers share of the domestic market This is to be done in co-operation with the proposed Canadian Dairy Commission.

Mr. Pearson pointed out that transportation and direction of milk would be designed to give the producer the greatest return at the least cost; also encourage to encourage higher quality milk production, as well as promotion and advertising of milk and milk products to increase consumption.

Tony Baskett, in referring to milk quality, stressed the need would be a determining factor of monthly control, then pointed out that soon to be Grd. Test in milk quality.

Mr. Lisa Marshall remarked that farming has to go ahead, and he hoped Industrial milk price could be increased.

The meeting decided the present board of directors be left in charge until Feb. 1st. 1966, when the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers would be dissolved.

The winners of the Ten, Twenty-five dollar prizes were: Brock Fich, Claude Nye, Jr. Hannahan, Stan Sheppard, Mrs. Van Dalen, Les Wingrove, Geo. Muizelaar, Max Chamberlain, Harry De Vries and Clayton L. Caswell.

AT THE CHURCHES

CHRISTMAS OBSERVANCES IN GARNET AND WESLEY UNITED CHURCHES

The Christmas season is to be observed in Garnet and Wesley United Churches when on Sunday, December 12th the annual White Gift Service will be held in each congregation when white gifts of food will be received to be distributed to the needy of the area in co-operation with the other churches and agencies. In Wesley United Church gifts of money will be received in support of the church's foster child, Miss Chow Yu Yu, of Hong Kong for whose education it has been responsible for the past four years. At 7.30 the Annual CGIT and Explorer Vesper Service will be held

On Christmas Sunday, December 19th, there will be special music in both churches at the morning services, and in the evening at 8 o'clock the two congregations will join together in Wesley Church to repeat again the Service of the Christmas Festival of Lights and Candles. Following the service the ladies of Wesley church will hold a coffee hour and close the day in fellowship together.

SNOW BALL GALA EVENT

The Summer Gardens, Port Dover, was the scene of the West Haldimand General Hospital Ladies Auxiliary "Snow Ball" held on the evening, December 3rd. Snowy pine boughs, royal blue lights, shining snow flakes and a colored Christmas tree bedecked the ballroom while "Frosty and Frosteta", small snow people, graced the tables to form the mood for the evening.

Receiving the 500 guests who were present from all parts of Haldimand County and surrounding district were: Mrs. William Snowden, President of the Ladies Auxiliary Executive and Mr. Snowden; Mrs. John VanLoon, Ball Chairman and Mr. VanLoon; Mr. Arley Martindale, Chairman of the Hospital Board of Directors; Mr. C. C. Taylor, Hospital Administrator and Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Robert McKinnon, Supervisor of Nurses and Mr. McKinnon.

Dress was optional and lovely formal and cocktail length gowns in all shades enhanced the ball room as the guests enjoyed the smooth and dance-able music of Ron Wicken and his orchestra.

Lunch was served at mid night with dancing continuing until 1 A.M., bringing a delightful evening to a close.

ROBERT SIDER GETS DEGREE FROM OXFORD UNIVERSITY

Robert D. Sider, associate professor of classics and chairman at Messiah College, Grantham, Pa., received his Doctor of Philosophy Degree on Saturday, November 13, from the University of Oxford in England. While in England he studied under a Rhodes Scholarship. Though Dr. Sider did not attend formal graduation ceremonies, he visited England in August and successfully defended his thesis, "Structure and Method of Argument in the Writings of Tertullian".

Dr. Sider has been on the Messiah College faculty since 1962 and currently serves as chairman of the Division of Language, Literature and Speech Arts. He received the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Arts Honors and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Saskatchewan and the University of Oxford he received a Bachelor of Arts Honours in Theology and a Master of Arts degree. Formal study for the Doctor of Philosophy degree was done at Exeter College, University of Oxford.

During the three years of Dr. Sider's study in England, he received a scholarship set up by John Cecil Rhodes for Rhodes Scholarship, as the of the world's most sought after, is based upon academic recommendation and personal interview of the applicant.

The dissertation, "Structure and Method of Argument in the Writings of Tertullian", required study in the classics and theology for Dr. Sider His study of the influence of classical interest in the work was to rhetoric on Tertullian's work.

Dr. Sider was born in Cheapside, Ontario. He is the son of the Rev and Mrs. Earl Sider, Nanticoke, Ontario. His wife, the former Lorra Mae Meeds, is from Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. They have three children, Cathy Marie, born in Oxford, England, Michael James and Robert Anthony, born at Grantham, Pa.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

OUR CHRISTIAN SCHOOL NOT DUTCH-TYPE SCHOOL

The report that has been given by one of the staffmembers of the Reformer on Tuesday, November 30, 1965 not only fails to present accurately the contents of my speech given at the opening of the new wing of our school in Jarvis, but it also indicates a misunderstanding of the cause of Christian education.

I would certainly deny that the Christian school is a Dutch type school. There is nothing Dutch in the seven-room school and not a word of Dutch is spoken in the classrooms. Its method of teaching and practices are also the same as in any other school that I know of.

Canada's forefathers came to this continent, mostly because their religious or political convictions were suppressed or banned in Europe. Among the early immigrants were Catholics, Anglicans, Lutherans, and Presbyterians. Schools at first followed the patterns of the religions And when after some time it appeared that the churches or private schools could not bear the cost of education, then the government stepped in and took over the responsibility of the parents to educate their children. While Catholics could have their own schools, other religions were grouped together in the public schools as we know them today. The result was that the Catholic schools maintained the character of their schools throughout the years, but the public school has changed rapidly. The early character of these schools is almost entirely lost. Many parents object to sending their many teachers to any religious exercise in our country. The reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer is still used, it is true, but the latter is already declared unconstitutional in the United States.

What could be the reason for this change? During the years our country has been influenced by many different streams of thought: Capitalism, Socialism, humanism, and even communism. Many, sad to say, became lax in their religion. Now it is understandable that education always reflects the spirit of its time, and the Public school has not been an exception.

No, I do not believe in any kind of Dutch-type school, but I believe that it is necessary to return to the early kind of education that our country (Canada) used to have. This was an education which was the responsibility of the parents only, and such education was always more than conveying mere factual knowledge, it is always training of the child in the perspective of the Christian philosophy and outlook of life.

All things came from the personal, sovereign and absolute God, and all interpretation of things is therefore also to be found in Him. In the second place, I believe that man is not the product of nature, but an imagebearer of God, able to understand the meaning of this universe in relation to God This principles form the basic starting point in Christian education. The big question, that all parents of positive Christian conviction face, is this: Is it possible to teach children today with a complete silence toward God and Christ and toward Him, who rules the universe through Jesus Christ? Does God allow us virtually to eliminate Him from our teaching methods, teaching aims and practices? No! The solution is not to have a school where merely the Bible is read and where teachers of Christian convictions stand before the classes, but the solution is to have a school which is modelled after the one and only revelation of God, the Bible, where the Spirit of God is publicly invited to come and influence the very educational processes, and where there is a conscious, willed and obviously concerted effort to proclaim that the mind of Christ is the only true way of life and knowledge, in biology, history, literature and geography. In Jesus Christ are hid all the treasures of wisdom and all knowledge.

Therefore we have Christian education. That's what I wanted to say and have said. I am happy and thankful for the place you have given me in your paper in order to make clear what Christian education stands for.
