We almost ended up right in the dog house last weekend and we've got to assume there was collusion of some sort between our new neighbour, Marie Brohman, and the field general of our own household. We were just getting in the right mood to enjoy the final game for the Stanley Cup last Saturday when we happened to be called out on an emergency. When we went out the back door you can imagine our surprise to find a well made dog house half way up the steps. We've had to sleep alone for a long time but the sight of the dog house at the back door led us to suspect we were going to be put out of the house altogether.

- - - - - -

Suddenly finding a dog house on your back stoop, under these circumstances, can be a shaking experience. It was a great relief, therefore, to learn that the field general was in no way responsible for it being there. After a few telephone calls we discovered the dog house had come from the Brohman household and we can only assume that John was getting tired of sleeping outside and devised this means of getting rid of the hoods. If that was the case his hopes were short lived because he was sent to retrieve the dog house the following morning. Now that we have learned how John lives we suspect our own field general will be turning up the heat in the future.

gue - finalized the season in grand style on Monday night when the American Hotel provided a feast fit for a King. President Norm's genial personality made the after-meal events most pleasant and the various team capt-ins extended themselves in the usual manner in justifying their positions in the league standing at the end of the season. George Anderson, captain of the league champions had no apologies to make for his team's showing after having won the league for the fourth straight year. For the edification and encouragement of the other captains he generously revealed some of his strategic moves during the year to bring his team up to shape for the crucial games. The intense interest in his words of wisdom will, no doubt, be helpful to the other teams when another season rolls around.

It's hardly possible, but two weeks from next Monday the annual Victoria Day Celebration will be staged in Jarvis. We are just thinking of all the work and arranging that must be done before that time. The sports committee will have to round up the ball teams on testing — the Calithumpian committee will have to encourage entries in the parade — the fireworks will have to be ordered — the music for dancing will have to be engaged — etc. — etc. — and finally, in the department that concerns us — entries will have to come in for the Amateur Show. Application forms are on another page this week and we hope all young aspirants, possessed with talent in the field of entertainment, will not hesitate to sign an application and get it in. One other thing: All local residents can enhance the day by decorating their homes with flags and bunting — now that we have a new flag let's see it wave

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Laird:

It's been many years since we last picked up our pen to write anything for the Jarvis Record, but a very interesting incident occurred this past weekend and we yielded to the temptation to inform the public what happened.

At the height of Saturday night's storm a medium sized dog house was seen being delivered to your door and for the benefit of the public we will mention that John Brohman, who ordinarily delivers the freight, was so busy watching the Stanley Cup Finals, that he called on his faithful dog "Sparky" to make the delivery. Despite the fact that it was not a fit night for a dog to be out, Sparky proceeded to deliver the dog house with a reckless abandon that was positively breathtaking.

The speed with which it was delivered, plus the fact that he took the direct route across country instead of going by the road, leaving in his wake several overturned garbage cans along with Lea Hoover's ear leads us to believe that there was a great deal of urgency connected with this matter and we wondered Mr. Editor, if you would care to divulge in your column just what kind of a predicament you got into that you needed a dog house. Also in the best interests of your neighbors you could have ordered one several sizes larger in order to accommodate some of us who are frequently in need of one.

Yours truly,
A NOSY NEIGHBOUR

P.S.—We have just been informed that there is finally a smooth spot across the extreme east end of Peel St

FRIENDS HONOR MILLERS OF PORT DOVER

The announced retirement of Pius and Alice Miller from the operation of Miller's Bakery in Port Dover came almost as a shock to the many friends and customers they have built up over the past twenty-five years. Mr and Mrs. Miller left yesterday on the first leg of a journey that will take them on a two month holiday to Switzerland. They plan to return and make their permanent home in Port Dover.

In recognition of the contribution they have made to the commercial and social life of the community they were the guests at a banquet in the Cove Room of the Erie Beach Hotel on Tuesday night. The event was sponsored by the Port Dover Board of Trade. The Cove Room was packed to capacity for the occasion. Allan Wicker presided as Master of Ceremonies and community representatives paid sincere tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Miller for their exemplification of good citizenship over the years.

HALDIMAND C.A.S. ANNUAL MEETING

At the annual meeting of the Haldimand C.A.S. Mr. Gordon Greenaway of the Human Rights Commission of Ontario as guest speaker outlined the development of Human Rights in Ontario from 1793 when John Graves Simcoe enacted a law dealing with the problem of slaves in Upper Canada whereby no new slaves might be purchased and children of existing slaves must be freed at 25 years of age. In 1824 all slaves in British Dominions were set free. Later any escaping slave to reach Canadian soil was declared legally free. Going on to the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights where by discriminating against race, creed, colour, nationality or racial background were declared illegal he stated that the Federal Government and seven provinces have adopted this creed. In spite of enforcible laws in Ontario over the past 14 years, he cited several flagrant cases of discrimination during the past 2½ years against Orientals, Jews, Negroes and even Germans whereby accommodation and employment were denied. He cited the sign reading "whites only need apply" and the distribution of hate literature.

The Ontario Human Rights code which came into force in 1962 was the result of pressure from the people of Ontario. Its commission operates under three main heads, Conciliation, Education and Research. Quoting the late Elinor Roosevelt he said: "Human rights begin in small places close to home — unless rights begin at home there is no progress in the larger world.

The speaker was introduced by Major the Rev. Granville Taylor-Munro and thanked by Mrs. Edward Stubbs.

The Rev. K. N. Brueton chaired the meeting. The resignation of Richard Priestman local director, was announced to take place July 8th. Garfield Disher, Warden of Haldimand County spoke briefly. Kenneth Parkinson presented the nomination committee report. All directors and officers were re-elected for the coming year with the following executive: Rev. K. N. Brueton, President; Kenneth Parkinson, Past President: Mrs James McCarthy, 1st Vice President; Thomas Jacob, Q.C., 2nd Vice President: Martin De Vos succeeding Maurice Lennox, Treasurer, who resigned owing to ill health; John Mellish, Secretary; John McCombs, Municipal Representative. Members of the Board include: Mrs. George Baldwin, Mr. David Featherstone, Mrs. Ross Gee, Mr. Blake Lloyd, Mrs. Jack Holstein, Mrs. W. Hoskin, Constable Donald Jones, Mr. Maurice Lennox, Mr. Brock Mattice, Mrs. R. A. Miller Major the Rev. Granville Taylor-Munro, Mrs. Thomas Spratt, and Mrs. R. E. Stubbs.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

The Jarvis Local No.5 of the Christian Labour Association of Canada held its annual meeting in March in the basement of the Christian Reformed Church. The Pres., Peter Hogterp, opened the meeting by reading from God's Word, 1 John, chapter 5 verses 1 to 10, after which he led in prayer. He welcomed one and all especially Mr. Gerald Vandezande who is the full time agent of the C.L.A. The first part of the evening was taken up in regular business such as minutes and annual reports. Voting also took place. The new slate of officers are: Pres., Peter Hogterp; Sec. Rudolph Stiegenga; Treas., Bert Pennings; Vice Pres., Dick Nauwerda; Ass. Sec., Harry Fledderus; Ass. Treas., Henry Hoekjin. After a bit of refreshment the Pres. introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Gerald Vandezande. His topic was "Can the C.L.A. Succeed?" The speaker said we should first of all be a Christian Labour organization. We should see our work as a calling. We should all take up the issues in the labouring world and see what is going on in the field of labour. The speaker stressed the fact that we should be more informed about labour relations for which literature can be obtained at 90 Hadrian Dr., Rexdale. A trade union is not an automatic machine when we do a little work and the union will see that we will receive the money to live with. A Christian union keeps everyone in mind, both the employee and the employer
