

We haven't yet had an opportunity to hear Doc Austin tell about how he bagged his deer at the Premier Hunting Camp this year. When we do we have no doubt he will tell us he got it with one shot while the deer was in full flight at a distance of at least 500 yards. We'll put up his story just so long as he produces a nice ten pound roast.

We've got to give Newt Marshall full marks for honesty. Newt readily admitted that he missed the broadside of a doe at 70 feet. This is an admission that can cause a hunter no end of embarrassment, and we have no doubt Newt's experience in the Camp was slightly uncomfortable after that.

It was a great tribute to the Jarvis Herford Ball Team to see so many loyal fans out to do them honour on Saturday night. It must mean something to the boys participating on the team to witness such support. Sitting in on his seventh Ontario Championship Banquet must, also, have been a rewarding experience to John Edwards who, as everyone knows, has been the beneficiary with the Herfords over the years.

The old town will not be the same much longer. The power scope is coming up the Reynolds lane and will shortly be laying the sewer lines right in the Village. The digging has been tough so far and progress has, we think, been slower than expected. This will be in a mess this winter and on into the spring but when the job is completed and the streets re-surfaced we expect to see an entirely new face on the old town.

HOSPITAL VISITING (continued from page one) ter the rooms and care for the patient According to leading health authorities, a patient benefits most when visited for short periods by not more than two people at any one time. More than two visitors places a strain on the patient, which because of his or her weakened condition retards to some extent his recovery. Would potential visitors consider the following points:
