

The Canadian people are pretty keen on something they think they are getting for nothing. We are referring to Baby Bonuses, Old Age Pensions and now seem to become effective—the Canada Pension Plan.

If you happen to be a manufacturer in this Canadian Nation you would, perhaps, have different thoughts on the subject. Let us say you are a manufacturer. You will, therefore, likely be contributing to a private pension plan for your employees. If so you will be paying one-half of the cost of this pension. Perhaps more. In addition you will be paying into the Old Age Security Fund a three percent tax on your sales and a three percent corporate sales tax.

You say, So What! Well, we'll say that, inevitably, all of these pension costs add to the cost of production and to prices. You'll simply have to pay for it. You are, in effect, saying to the Government, you are all wise and can better manage my affairs than can myself. Therefore let me pay homage to you by allowing you to increase the cost of my living by whatever amount is needed to provide for me these things that appear so appealing on the surface.

Handouts in whatever form are paid from current production and by current taxpayers—and always will be. It is insensible, in this highly competitive world, to burden the economy with excessive welfare on a higher scale than other countries, including richer ones.

Furthermore it is becoming obvious that when the Canada Pension Plan becomes effective there will be some Canadians who will retire with a higher income than they were able to earn in their working days. Is such a situation socially acceptable or economically sound? It is known that the Federal Government intends to integrate the CPP with the normal earnings acts its start.

We suspect that Judy LaMarsh's determination to get the Canada Pension Plan underway without delay will turn a blind eye to the obvious flaws in the Canada Pension Plan. It is known that the CPP is not of significance above all we are happy in the knowledge that we can disagree, without much fear of landing behind bars. One bar, we don't mind.

Canada at 98 stands in the forefront of the nations of the world demonstrating a pattern of peace and partnership which must, without doubt, be adopted by all if the race is to survive. Canada owes it to the world as well as to its own history and destiny to pursue its paths with certainty and strength in the years to come.

HOSPITAL ACHIEVEMENT

The Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation has awarded the West Haldimand General Hospital provincial accreditation. This is a remarkable achievement for our Hospital.

The West Haldimand General Hospital became operational about eighteen months ago. In that short time it has attained a standard of efficiency attained by less than fifty percent of the Hospitals throughout Canada.

The Hospital in West Haldimand became a reality through the support of a dedicated Board of management supported by the people of the entire community. The hospital has been serving the community well since it opened and we feel sure that all citizens will share the gratification of the Board of Directors, the medical staff, the nursing staff, and other departments of the Hospital in attaining accreditation in this short time.
