Statement Regarding O.M.S.I. Plan

doctors to accept O.M.S.I.P. payments (90% of O.M.A. fees) as full payment for services rendered. Whether the doctor accepts less than 100% of his fees is left to the discretion of the individual physician, who should take into consideration the financial circumstances of the patient.

As a means of protecting the public against excessive charges by doctors, the O.M.A. and the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario are considering methods by which doctors can be forbidden to charge fees in excess of the O.M.A. schedule without prior arrangement with the patient.

ON THE FARM FRONT

Recently much publicity has been given to two agricultural chemicals, namely Aldrin and Dieldrin. These pesticides have been recommended in the past to control many soil insects and insects that feed on tobacco.

At present, Aldrin is still one of the recommended treatments for the control of corn rootworm and cutworms in corn.

Residue tolerances for Aldrin and Deildrin in or on food have been revised by the Food and Drug Directorate and as a result changes have been made in the requirements governing the sale of these pesticides to ensure that residues do not turn up in livestock products such as meat and milk.

The new regulations state that Aldrin and Dieldrin may not be sold for use on any crop, including forage, that is likely to be fed to animals. The restriction takes in all root crops, including turnips Soil and seed treatments are permitted where a crop is grown for seed and where no part of the crop will be fed to animals. The use of Aldrin and Dieldrin in fertilizers for farm use is no longer permitted and the Feeds Act prohibits the sale of feed containing these insecticides

Farmers who intend to use Aldrin or Dieldrin on their crops this year should check their container labels carefully.

MORALITY

In our ordinary every day speech the word "Immorality" is often applied only to sexual misbehaviour, even the Oxford Dictionary gives this as a common use, though the Dictionary's definition of "Immoral" is the opposite of moral, not consistent with, or law. The same Dictionary defines "moral" as "of or pertaining to the distinction between right and wrong." In other words, anything that we recognise as wrong is immoral

What led me to this line of thought was the T.V. movie of "Oliver Twist". Here we are shown, as in the book, the way in which poor people were treated in England in Victorian days. Poverty was treated as a crime and the poor were left to the persecution and tyranny of rapacious local officers like Mr. Bumble, who, as only thought was to make as much money as they could out of what they were given to feed and house the poor. Orphans only crime was that he was an orphan, for that he was consigned to the horrors of the Workhouse Today, groups such as the Children's Aid Society spend thousands of dollars to take proper care of such children and to provide them with loving foster parents. We all agree that the Victorian treatment of the poor was wrong, therefore it was immoral. When you look further into that period you find that men, women and children were employed in mines and mills at starvation wages while the owners lived in luxury. This was immoral So that the great Victorian age, so much admired by us in many ways, actually declined in immoral conditions at its very heart.

How about us in Canada today? Is there immorality in our national life? Well, not to the degree in the days of Charles Dickens We have the Welfare State and spend millions every year to relieve the needy. One of the most astonishing things in our modern society is the way in which our attitude to those in need has altered in a hundred years. Today we consider it immoral that anyone in our country should be left to starve to death or to exist on starvation wages.

However, we have some immorality among us yet. Take the recent uproar in the House of Commons in the Munsinger affair. I am not trying to judge the merits of the case, what I contend is that both the Government and the Opposition were acting immorally because they were not doing the job they undertook to do. Instead of discussing measures for the good of the country, instead of carrying on the business of government, they have spent days discussing purely personal matters. In short, they have ben wasting the taxpayer's money.

Consumers groups tell us that some food manufacturers container labels. If this is true, they are acting immorally. No matter how respectable those in charge of such concerns may appear to be, they are immoral people as long as there are those who overcharge on construction work, especially Public Works. Where such is done though the perpetrators may be pillars of society, they are still immoral. How about the employees of such firms, including food manufacturers who act immorally, are not the employees also guilty If they know things are not being done right, should they continue to ab and abet such immorality by continuing to work there? Of course. Like most other questions of ethics, there is a great deal of room for debate about the sweeping statements I have made.

Canada has made great strides In such matters as care for the needy, conditions of labour, food and drug supervision, the condemnation of graft in politics, treatment of prisoners and so on There is always room for improvement, although a lot has been done. But there is still the personal question, that is: What do I do when faced with the question of choosing between that which is expedient but morally wrong and that which is morally right?

HELP CRIPPLED CHILDREN BY BUYING EASTER SEALS

The Easter Seal sponsored district nursing service of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children has no equal in the field of child rehabilitation. The Society nurses are all experienced public health graduates who have had special training in orthopaedics and have had many months training in working with crippled children, before being assigned to one of the eighteen district nursing offices, operated by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children through Easter Seal funds From district offices, they completely cover Ontario, working in close coordination with the district public health offices, doctors, parents and the Easter Seal service clubs In addition to their nursing duties of attending clinics, treatment centres and hospitals, these highly specialized nurses will make more than 20,000 home visits in a year.

These travelling nurses are a great source of comfort for the parents of crippled children as well as the child. They will demonstrate the correct use of crutches and wheel chairs, adjust braces to release or prevent pressure sores; make certain that the child attends a clinic or treatment centre when necessary and that boys and girls who need a summer vacation go to one of the Society's five camps.

There is no other Easter Seal organization in the world that has a nursing programme for crippled children such as in Ontario—and this has become possible through the support of the people of Ontario to the annual Easter Seal campaign. Every year, hundreds of crippled children are being discovered and many as a result of treatment overcome their physical disability The nurses are a true example of an Easter Seal Service

JARVIS I.O.O.F. ENTER CHAMPIONSHIP ROUND

Jarvis IOOF Bantams and Fisherville Bantams completed their two game total goal series on Wed evening, Mar 9, when the IOOF came up with a slim win. The arena competence has been on the hummensince Saturday and as a result the sloppy ice hampered the play of both teams.

Cayuga won their series over Oneida 12 to 2 and Jarvis won over Fisherville by the score of 9 to 5 Therefore Jarvis and Cayuga play off for the championship in a two-game, total goal series.

Rick Miller led off the scoring for the IOOF on Wednesday on a pass from Jim Howden He made no mistake as the Fisherville goal-tender never saw the shot from the left side

Jimmy Jaques scored the second goal for Jarvis on a shot right from the face off that caught the Fisherville goaltender napping. The losers scored once in the first period to narrow the score to 2-1.

The condition of the ice prevented Donaldson, Vokes, and Gowan from scoring on numerous occasions in the second period

Jimmy Howden set up the third Jarvis marker, as he passed to Jaques who made no mistake, in tipping the puck into the net. Gary Dawson scored on a shot from the blue line that trickled through the Fisherville goalie's legs, for a 4-1 lead Fisherville again never let up and stormed right back and scored with a Jarvis forward in the penalty box, as the siren ended the game Donaldson picked up an assist on Dawson's goal, and Jim Duxbury.

Jerry Walker, Donnie Ander son, and Roger Bartlett made up the third line and did a fine job. Bert Ionson and Charles Montague made up the third defense unit. Bryce Hazlett, Jimmy Church and Chris Montague made up the fourth line with Ray Gibbons.

HAGERSVILLE MIDGET LEAGUE

Hagersville and Oneida will meet for the championship of the league by virtue of their total point wins over Cayuga and Jarvis respectively Jarvis and Cayuga will meet in the consolation round.

These games will also be two games, total goals to count The first game this Saturday at 7.15 will be between the two championship seekers, Hagersville and Oneida. Jarvis and Cayuga meet at 8.15

Last Saturday's games saw two hard but clean games play ed. Hagersville won their game 5-4 against Cayuga, while Jarvis and Oneida fought to a 5-5 draw.

The Jarvis-Oneida game was a see-saw battle with the lead changing hands several times. Oneida managed to secure a tie in the final minute on a goal by Stark from Hall and Eubank. The other Oneida goals were by Wray Harrop, with 2 and one each by Glen and Ken Harrop.

Jarvis goals were three for Bill Green, who returned after missing several games, and one each to Pat Zudnick and Barry Miller. Assists were two to Beischlag, one to Rick Miller, Barry Miller, Brian Hayes and Bill Green.

In the other game it looked like a Hagersville landslide in the first period The town boys pumped in five unanswered goals. Whitford scored at 5 minutes from Kett and Eselement. Then Paul Kett scored three in a row. A couple of them on beautiful rushes from his own blue line. Bob Esselement assisted on two of these as did Sayer, Kramer and Whitford. Bruce Whitford ended the period on a nice goal from Sayer and Kett.

Cayuga never gave up however, and did all the second period scoring Smith scored from Broncho Serbian and Chris Arbuckle scored from C. Baird Broncho Serbian made countless great rushes and finally put a drive behind McConachie Baird then scored from Arbuckle to end the scoring although Jim McConachie had to make a couch stop in the last minutes on another drive by Bronchs, to sew up the Hagersville win.
