We think Gerda Munsinger has been getting more than her share of newspaper space this past week. Of course it may turn out she is a key figure in espionage work, but there are lots of espionage agents around the world — and we never hear of them. The newspapers may, rightly so, deem her a top item of news in view of the rumors thrown and by the Minister of Justice, but we suspect public interest in Gerda only goes so far as her association with certain public officials in Canada. Not too many, too, will be concerned about her espionage activities—if they did exist—but rather the juicy details of intimate relations with Cabinet Ministers.

- - - - - -

Now that Pierre Sevigny and George Hees have been named the interest grows.

Both of these gentlemen are polished, suave, debonair, courteous, urbane and handsome. These are the qualities the opposite sex look for in every man. Can you blame them—and, particularly Gerda Munsinger. From what we have heard of Gerda she experienced her share of trials and tribulations in early life. She fled from the communist sector of Germany with her mother. For some reason, not explained, her father remained behind. Then she fell in love with a U.S. Serviceman. They were married in 1952. But the U.S. Government barred her entry and the affair ended in an annulment in 1954

Shortly after she came to Canada and, apparently, then she could become a model. In her efforts to establish herself in this profession she made certain contacts that led to one thing or another and the whole thing led up to her return to Germany a few years later. Apparently, too, during her residence in Canada she knew slightly—or more than slightly—certain members of the then Diefenbaker Cabinet. One of the Ministers was Pierre Sevigny and he is quoted as saying "she was a very beautiful girl, a very charming girl, one who was full of fun, who loved life, was liked by everybody and with reason because she was truly a very nice person".

- - - - - -

That seems like a pretty forthright statement. He is further quoted as saying: "It has been my fortune in life to know and admire beautiful women", he said. "I love beautiful things—beautiful women, beautiful paintings, beautiful music". Mr. Sevigny went on to say "What is wrong with admiring beauty and the nice things in life?" We think Pierre has a good point there and it causes us to wonder if thinking generally could be turned in this direction by any means. If, for example, the media of communications failed to play up the lurid details of the so-called frailties of human relations and reflected more profoundly on the things of beauty, if society would not be the better for it.

We are sure of one thing. Matters of this kind should not be the means of toppling a Government.

CAYUGA BAND MAKES CONCERT TOUR

The Cayuga Technical and Commercial High School Band is making a concert tour that includes Woodstock, Baden, Seaforth, Clinton, Centralia, and London. The Band will leave the school Thursday morning, March 24th, and will return Saturday evening, March 26th

Bandmaster George Shippey has arranged five concerts for his 45-member Band, three performances before high school students, and two evening performances open to the public.

The tour will accomplish two basic purposes: it will give the Band invaluable experience playing before strange audiences; and it will spread the name of the school and of West Haldimand County thro' parts of Ontario perhaps unfamiliar with us.

For some of the band members, it will afford the new experience of meeting other students while billeting in their homes at Baden and the Centralia Air Force Base. These people have kindly showed their hospitality to your young musicians, who cer
