LETTER FROM THE MINISTER OF EDUCATION —

Recently I have written two letters discussing the speech made by the Hon. William G. Davis, minister of Education in Ontario, in the Legislature. These two articles were sent to the Minister and he has graciously sent me an answer which clears up several points, especially regards the future of Grade 13. Having obtained his permission, I am printing the letter in full in the usual column. The letter follows:

"I should like to thank you for your courtesy in sending me your two articles in the Jarvis Record commenting on issues raised in the Legislature in my speeches introducing the Estimates of my Department. I commend you for your insight and public spirit in conducting such a discussion. My officials and I are always interested in any expression of public opinion.

There are one or two points in your articles about which you seem to be apprehensive. The first, in the issue of August 25, refers to Grade 13. I should like to explain the situation in slightly greater detail.

A certain amount of confusion about Grade 13 has arisen because of the frequent reference to the Grade 13 examination in the same words as the Grade 13 year. What we have decided to do is to discontinue the examination in its present form—not the year.

It has long been observed that the examination was putting an undue strain on the students, and the importance of the test was such that the teachers were devoting a great deal of time to the technique of writing examinations, rather than to the enlargement of the knowledge of the students, and of their ability to think. It is hoped that by changing the form of the examination to one which ascertains scholastic aptitude for university entrance, combine with other set and marked in the schools, the evils which have been developing will be avoided. I should like to say however, that there is no immediate intention of discontinuing the 13th year in the Ontario school program. The five years of secondary education is a deeply rooted feature of our system, and it is used both by universities and employers. If we eventually reduce the whole program to twelve years, which is customary in almost all the other Provinces, this will be done by a reorganization of the whole curriculum, and it will not involve a simple lopping off of one year — least of all the last one.

With respect to your second article, in the issue of October 6. I have noted your doubts about the effectiveness of large area school boards. There may be dangers as you have indicated, but even in large cities, which by their nature are very impersonal, parents may establish a close relationship with their neighborhood school and what goes on in it, if they wish to. There are great educational advantages in large area administration in modern conditions, but if local newspapers carefully report school board news, and if parents maintain an active interest in the policies which affect their children, it ought to be possible to have the advantages without loss of personal contact.

I should also like to relieve your mind concerning the question of history in our schools. There have been no history text books of American origin in our Ontario schools for many years except, possibly, some which dealt with United States history in Grade 12. The problem of history teaching is complex, but I believe that our interest in our past is developing, especially under the impetus of Centennial celebrations, in which the Ontario school system is actively involved.

As I have said, I am grateful for your interest. and I hope you may continue to find that our educational policies are directed to the best interest of the children and adults of this Province.

Yours sincerely,
William G. Davis
Minister of Education

CHURCH NOTES

STEEPLE CROSS FOR ST. PAUL'S DEDICATED

At the morning service in St. Paul's Church last Sunday the new cross for the steeple was brought into the Church for dedication as well as the old cross—worn and corroded by the weather over a period of seventy years. The new cross will be shortly taken aloft and the old one given decent burial.

The new cross, which is the work of a member of the congregation, Mr George Everley, made of copper, painted with weather resistant aluminum paint and has the date on which it was finished stamped on the top and at the ends of the arms October 24, 1966. This will be the record in years to come

Also dedicated at the same service was a pall to be used at funerals in the Church. The work of Miss Rosemary Dell and her mother. it is made of Royal blue velvet with gold ornament Rich and poor are alike beneath the Parish Pall as it covers the body during service in the Church and helps to soften the moment. The custom of its use has the Scriptural significance of Isaiah's declaration—"I will greatly rejoince in the Lord for He hath covered me with the robe of His righteousness."

In his sermon on the meaning of the cross, the Rector said it represents a man with arms outstretched, and very particularly the Man Christ Jesus whose out-stretched arms are eloquent of the love, mercy and acceptance of God for the creature whom He made in His own image. He told how the cross was accepted as the official symbol of Christianity when in the days of the Emperor Constantine, 312 A.D. it became the State religion of the Roman Empire and the civilized world.

"The Cross exhibited was believed to have converting power, and who is to say that the cross on the steeple may not still do just that?"

"In very early days before there were Church buildings, a cross set up outdoors made a place of preaching and worship, where in time the first churches were built."

The Council will hold a special meeting to study the proposal and will then be presented for approval at next month's regular meeting

Reeve Ernest Craddock said water and sewage installations have been completed in the village with the exception of a dozen homes

Streets are now being graded and stoned for the winter months.

November 28th will be nomination night for the village

Council also decided to advertise for a village clerk to replace Howard Krouse, who resigned because of ill health.

Council also gave first and second readings to a bylaw for a loan on the lagoon and trunk sewer in the village's new sewage system. The bylaw now goes to the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and the Ontario Municipal Board for approval

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to thank all those who did my plowing and chores and other acts of kindness, as well as cards and visits while I was in hospital and since returning home.

It is with a full heart that we thank our many friends, relatives and neighbours for the floral tributes, contributions to the charitable organizations, for cards, words and acts of kindness extended to us in the sad and sudden loss of a devoted wife, mother and grandmother.
