who must talk with his fingers.

Today, you know Alexander Graham Bell as the inventor of the telephone. But to himself and his family, his profession was that of "Teacher of the Deaf"

In his search for better teaching methods, he probed the mechanics of speech. His investigation of the vibrations of the larynx—the creation and transmission of sound, of words—ied him to invent what we now know as the telephone. It was only incidental to his real life's work.

This work was to help people—particularly the handicapped. And that is a tradition which we at Bell Canada, do our very utmost to keep alive.

You'll find evidence of it in special telephones for the handicapped, in an artificial larynx for people without vocal cords, and in everything we do to help you communicate with one another.
